The Yearbook Staff Presents
WATERTOWN HIGH SCHOOL
WATERTOWN, MASSACHUSETTS
From time immemorial men have set in a book that all might read the chronicle of their years, the record of their achievement—a mirror, as it were, held up to all, a volume wherein the passing years might hold forever new.

How rich the memory, how dramatic our performance during our years at Watertown High. We remember struggling through challenging classes, strolling through the labyrinthine corridors, boisterously cheering our teams on to victory, and waiting in breathless anticipation for dazzling Prom nights. Crying through frustrating finals or laughing with friends and classmates, we played each incident as if it were our biggest moment.

Now we have set down in this the thirty-third volume of our Annual, with our own features, our form and pressures, our very images, a record of our strutting and fretting, our triumphs and disasters, in a word, our growth—in these the best years of our lives.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT
To you, Paul Hughes, we, the Class of 1959, proudly dedicate our Annual. Throughout our three years at Watertown High, you have been a guide and an inspiration to us in our study of English and the Theater arts.

To us you were "Mr. Theater of W. H. S."; a title well earned by hours of tireless devotion behind the scenes. Producing, directing, and teaching with equal skill, your record at Watertown lists one success after another.

Because these parting hours make us realize even more how much you have meant to us, we, your protégés, would like to bring you on for another curtain call.
To The Class Of '59

Never in modern history has national and even international interest been so directly focused on the education of our youth and, in particular, on their high school years.

During the past three years the high school curriculum has been intensified, accelerated, and in every way possible brought into line with the recent scientific advances that have astounded the world.

By adjusting to these changes so successfully, you have dispelled all doubt that American youth were equal to the challenge. You have given to the citizen of your town, your state and your nation the comforting assurance that our youth are equal to any other in the world, if not indeed superior.

May your unstinting efforts in the future make us as proud of you then as we are now.

Juniors, Sandra Romano and Judy Gattenby are pleased as they review their promising records with the help of Mrs. Thulin.

The Junior year is a year to remember. Behind is the confusing bustle of Sophomore Orientation, and ahead, the ever busy Senior year. We members of the class of '60 are forever on the go—we enjoy just being in the middle of things.

On December 18 of our Sophomore year, after a vigorous campaign, we went to the polls to elect class officers. Richard Ames was elected president; James Scalese, vice-president; Barbara Trombino, secretary; Donald Weeden, treasurer and Evelyn McNeil, Barbara DeFilippis, John Vartanian, Norman Hoffman and Arlene Antonellis, executive committee.

When we entered Watertown High in September of 1958, we were the Juniors. Ahead of us was a year with elections, class rings, and the "Prom." We renewed our acquaintances and rushed headlong into our second year.

First on the agenda were elections. The pre-election fever was raging. The corridors were covered with colorful campaign posters. Richard Ames was still the presidential favorite. James Scalese was elected vice-president; Barbara Trombino, secretary; Donald Weeden, treasurer; and Barbara DeFilippis, Shirley Paton, Evelyn McNeil, Paul Mercer and Arlene Antonellis; executive committee.
Juniors, Arlene Antonellis and Evelyn McNeil make final program adjustments with Miss Jacobs.

Every high school student zealously awaits that special event — the purchase of class rings. The ring committee, under the supervision of Mr. McNealy, met and chose "The Ring," oval in shape. Dan Igoe was chairman of the group. The display case in the library was surrounded by eager and enthusiastic Juniors.

As the months passed, we found our classmates standing before the footlights in the Christmas assembly and in the Junior-Senior play, "The Match Maker."

There is always one date that Juniors circle on the calendar—April 10, the Junior Prom, which brings to an end a highly successful Junior year.

Once again East met West when potential actors arrived on the scene and emerged as a sophomore class. At first we felt strange as we wandered through those seemingly endless corridors looking for our geometry class and finding ourselves in a typing room. But soon we, the sophomores, began to understand our new roles—we were the brunt of traditional jokes (like the elevator story); we were the last to leave the auditorium, and the last to be dismissed at 2 p.m.

On March 6, we, the sophomores, flocked to the polls to exercise our right and responsibility to vote. After a short but colorful campaign we elected as the leaders of our class: President, Al Verrochi; Vice-President, Robert Cappadona; Secretary, Stacia Conaxis; Treasurer, June Valenti; Executive Committee, Anthony Fantasia, Dorothy Leone, Beverly Malatesta, Michael Arnold, Peter McCarthy.

We were an ambitious class from the beginning. We joined the band and orchestra; we sang at the Christmas assembly and worked hard in The Matchmaker; we joined school teams, wrote for the Bulletin, and participated in the Student Council. We were everywhere making ourselves known — behind the scenes, and, oft times, in the limelight. At the Junior Prom we became the ushers. We finally combined our efforts to present a successful Memorial Day assembly. At last we showed ourselves as a unified class, and East and West had met. Together we were ready to rise to our new status: as Juniors.

Democracy in Action...

- Preparing school assemblies, conducting the United Charity Drive, sponsoring the "Kouncil Kickoff", and presenting a faculty tea were among the many projects of the Student Council.

Headed by advisor Miss Eleanor McCaffery and officers Donald Quinn, President; Richard Guzzetti, Vice-President; Richard Greene, Treasurer; Joyce Wyshak, Recording Secretary; Gloria Setti, Corresponding Secretary; the Council is composed of a representative from each homeroom and the class officers.

Representatives also participated in a student government exchange program with Roxbury Memorial High School, a forum at Brookline High School, and they attended the Eastern Mass. Convention at Dracut and Walpole, and the state convention.

Robert Sliney was chosen as representative for the Junior Brotherhood Program. Donald Quinn was delegate for Student Government Day at the State House.

Operating the mechanism of the WHS democratic voting system is the task of the Election Commissioners. The group, sponsored by Mr. Peter Burke, is made up of one commissioner plus one alternate from each home-room. The duty of the Commission is to set up voting booths and checkers tables and to prepare tally sheets. Three copies of the results are published—one for the headmaster, one for the advisor of the group sponsoring the election, and one for the bulletin board outside the main office.

Enthusiastic members of the newly formed Gridiron Club sponsored by Coach Sollitto, assembled each Thursday afternoon to profit from the showing of movies of Red Raider games and of professional contests. The group made enough money from their football dance and turkey raffle to finance a father and son banquet for members of the football team at which Coach Zabilski of B.U. was guest speaker and at which sweaters were awarded to Dave Brown, Louis DeLuca, Jim Scalese, Donald Quinn, Pete Mancini, Jude Farese, Joe McDonald, Donnie Higgins, Dave O’Brien.
Ole! Steeped in south-of-the-border atmosphere, members of La Tertula de Espana, the Spanish Club, investigated the fascinating culture of the Spanish and Latin American countries with Senora De Avilla, their sponsor. Their activities took on a gay note when they listened to gay Spanish music and danced to the beat of the mambo and the cha-cha. They climaxed their year's activities by partaking of tamales and other such delectables at a Spanish restaurant.

The officers were: Marilyn Mercer, President; Charlotte Dyer, Vice-President; Marjorie Wolejko, Secretary; and Patricia Shea, Treasurer.

Parlez-vous francais? Some of those who do were members of Le Cercle Francais, a club which strives to promote an understanding of France and its people. Under the supervision of Mrs. Stella Boy, the members of "Le Cercle" had the opportunity to enjoy and appreciate the customs and traditions of France. Throughout the year there were parties, songs, games, and projects, all related to France.

Officers elected were Lucy Samuelian, President; Marie Alberico, Vice-President; Emily Mansfield, Treasurer; Anne Gerondeau, Secretary; and Carol Burokas, Marilyn Dugan, and Joan Leslie, Executive Committee.
Calculation... Cooperation

By delving into the complex worlds of Descartes, Pythagoras and Einstein, the members of the Math Club, under the inspiring guidance of its advisor, Mr. Alfred Adams, prepared themselves to meet the challenge of the Sputniks. Preoccupied principally with answering the eternal "Why", in both great and small ways, the club concerned itself with intriguing mathematical puzzles and the complicated calculations concerning the motions of celestial bodies. The healthy interest which the club's members showed in matters mathematical is a good omen in this world of scientific challenge.

Math to these students is not a task or problem but a hobby—a pastime—a source of pleasure and delight.

Ever searching for new and better ways to serve their community, the Volunteer Workers, under the expert guidance of Miss Patricia Fallon, have demonstrated their versatility by making toys and Christmas corsages for children of the Walter Fernald School. The girls transferred the sewing room into a Valentine wonderland for the annual faculty tea.

During the Easter season they again showed their varied talents. Easter baskets and bunnies were sent to less fortunate children throughout the area. Working diligently with Miss Fallon in organizing projects were officers: President, Mary Ann Corr; Vice President, Leonora Maloof; Treasurer; Susan Bullock; Secretary, Diane Viera.

Would an oil painting interest you? A water color? Maybe you’d enjoy working in casein or pastels; perhaps you’d rather make a copper tooled wall-plaque. But then, you might like to make a gift — a tile hot plate, a Chenile animal or a copper enameled pin.

All of these opportunities are open to members of the Art Club, which is under the supervision of Mr. Harold Moody. Every Thursday afternoon the industrious denizens of Room 202 begin the period with a business meeting conducted by its president, Bob Skolnick, and Officers: Marion Travallini, Vice President; Carolyn Stanton, secretary; and Charlotte Pass, treasurer.

These capable artists not only work on their individual projects, but also make necessary preparations weeks in advance for the dances on the school social calendar. On the day of the dance, there they are in the gym loaded down with crepe paper, scissors and scotch tape busily transforming the basketball court into an enchanted ballroom resplendent with harvest moonlight or a terrace garden fresh with Jonquil, Forsythia and spring green.

The work of their talented hands is displayed throughout the school year on bulletin boards, lobby displays, and office walls promoting every drive or project that the school undertakes. Some of the club members have been employed after school hours by commercial artists, and may go into profitable employment in the art world immediately after graduation; still others go on to an advanced school of arts.
The Bulletin editors, who constituted the membership of the Press Club, banded together for the purpose of furthering student interest in and knowledge of the science of journalism and keeping abreast of newest journalistic techniques.

Through an extensive high school journal exchange program, which brings to W.H.S. each month school papers from many sections of the country, the editors made critical appraisal of the best that was being done by their contemporaries.

Feature stories, interviews with outstanding personalities in education, business, the theatre, and state and local government, and participation in community drives such as public health and community fund took the editors far-a-field and provided opportunity for them to prove that their pens could stimulate thought and inspire action.

Officers of the Press Club were: Lucille Donnelly, president; Christy Watson, vice-president; Wendy McDonald, recording secretary; Patrick Fairbairn, corresponding secretary; Shirley Jordan, treasurer.

The officers and members of the C. B. S. Club, under the supervision of their sponsor, Miss Elizabeth Desmond, were students from the Commercial, Business, and Stenographic courses. The C. B. S. Club prepared its members to be more efficient stenographers, typists, receptionists and office clerks in the business world by having highly experienced businessmen and women from local commercial firms lecture during club periods on current problems and practices in office routine and management. The members found that trips to industrial firms and large insurance offices in the greater Boston area clarified their work in the classrooms of our commercial department.

The officers of the C. B. S. Club this year were: Betty Muccio, President; Joanne Minnerella, Vice-President; Phyllis Parella, Treasurer; and Marion Haboian, Secretary.

Under the capable sponsorship of Miss Helen Thayer, the Camera Club, WHS’s oldest club, “shot” their way through another photographically successful year. During meetings members discussed candid shots, use of the press camera, and most important, how to develop and print pictures.

The club held two contests; submitted a project to the Science Fair, and exhibited its fine work in the library. A highlight of the year’s activities was the taking of the Prom pictures; and, naturally, WHS photographers were always ready to take pictures for the Annual and the Bulletin.

This year’s officers were: President, Dominic Furia; Vice-President, Jack DeVletian; Secretary, Jane Kevorkian; Treasurer, William Haroutounian.

Center of activity for amateur radio operators in Watertown High was the Radio Club, sponsored by Mr. Mitchell. Each week its members met in solemn conclave to discuss trade secrets and “talk shop”. Licensed hams and novices alike found relaxation and enjoyment in sharing their common interest. They exchanged experiences with one another, talked over the advantages and disadvantages of the latest equipment, and readily imparted advice to the uninitiated. The more zealous radio bugs became adept at Morse code.

The members that headed the ’59 Radio Club exhibit in the Science Fair were President Fred Griffin, Vice-President Richard Boltrus, and Secretary John Lambert.
There was never a dull moment in the Woodwork Shop — at least not on Thursdays, seventh period. Mr. Donald, sponsor of the Woodworking Club, kept the membership of “master builders” well-occupied in the production of some “chef-d’œuvres” of carpentry.

Bookcases, picture frames, tables, magazine racks, and shelves were examples of useful items on which the boys worked.

Officers of the ’59 Woodworking Club were: Joe DiAngelis, President; John Valentino, Vice-President; Vincent Testa, Treasurer; and Gerard Kelly, Secretary.

The Science Seminar Society keeps pace with a changing world by discussing scientific problems and achievements. The club members under the direction of Mr. Winand, pioneer in such phases of science as biology, botany, anthropology, astronomy, and physics. In addition they pursue special interests by creating and displaying projects in the annual Science Fair. To these serious minded students the Seminar is not only a fascinating hobby, but also a stepping stone to a career in science.

Officers of the club were: President, Terry Bryan; Vice-President, Martin Reid; Secretary and Publicity Advisor, Haig Mugar; Board of Advisors, Charles Helms, George Johnson, Phil Stanton, George Mooza.

“Street beat! Mark time! March!” commanded drum major Jack Williams as the WHS Band began a new season under the direction of John Hahn, former director of music at the East Junior High School. Mr. Hahn, an accomplished musician on both the piano and vibes, created several new maneuvers which the band successfully performed throughout the football season.

The band marched in several parades including the Santa Claus parade in Waltham, the B.U. - B.C. rally, and the traditional Memorial Day Parade in Watertown. The band also was invited to play at the B.U. - Syracuse football game on November 7th. During the half, several select bands from the Boston area participated in a mass concert.

After Thanksgiving the band concentrated on preparing a concert repertoire for performances including the Junior-Senior play on February 18th, and the annual band concert in March. Some of the compositions the band perfected were “Ballet Parisienne,” “If Thou Be Near,” “Six Little Songs,” and the score from Gigi.

The student officers this year were: Philip Stanton, President; Roger Austin, Vice-President; Connie Lussier, Secretary; Ronald Sahatjian, Treasurer; and Marion Travallini, Historian. The managers were Fred Dorey and Monty Tucker. The librarians were Gloria Paul and Leon Gregorian.
Harmony....

So enthusiastic was the response to the call for orchestra members this year that initially the group was composed of sixty members.

However, since so many musicians wished to play in the orchestra, Mr. Hagopian re-auditioned the members and cut the number to forty-five. Admission on this selective basis is to be adopted as a regular policy of the department.

The orchestra’s 1958-59 program was an extensive one. The group was one of the feature attractions at the Christmas assembly playing White Christmas, Three Songs For Christmas, excerpts from Leroy Anderson’s Christmas Medley, and a very impressive solo of Silent Night, played by William Haroutounian.

At the end of January the orchestra appeared in a P.T.A. show which featured Herb Phillbrick. In February the orchestra played a joint concert with the Deering High School orchestra of Portland, Maine. On March 20th, Deering H. S. Orchestra came to Watertown to repeat the concert. Included on the program were excerpts from Rachmaninoff’s Piano Concerto, My Fair Lady Selections (an original score) and Puccini’s One Fine Day.

On the first Saturday in May, the orchestra participated in the Northeastern Music Festival in Belmont. In April, five students went to Hyannis to play in the All State Orchestra. The season was climaxed by the orchestra’s appearance at Baccalaureate and Graduation Exercises.

Voices Lifted in Song...

Enhancing their own musical appreciation while providing entertainment for others, the WHS Choraleers, under the excellent guidance of Mr. Richard Hagopian, sang at several school functions. The group practiced faithfully on modern and classical works of musical value which included compositions by Randall Thompson, Bach, and Rogers and Hammerstein. They climaxed the season with a successful appearance at the Northeastern Music Festival in Belmont.

Formed from a select group of talented singers, the Madrigal Singers strove for perfection in their vocal efforts. This group sang a cappella. They made their debut before the Elks and the Eastern Stars at separate concerts. The Christmas season included an appearance on the Ray Dorey Show where they sang a wide variety of Christmas Carols. The Sunday before Christmas the Madrigals performed on the Boston Common at the Christmas Festival and finished the season by singing at our Christmas assembly.

The Girls' Sophomore Chorus was also reorganized this year under the same selective process as each of the other music groups. Mr. Hagopian auditioned each prospective member and obtained a final group of 60. The chorus, whose vocal quality is excellent in comparison with sophomore choruses of previous years, sang on numerous occasions; among them the Christmas Pageant, the Christmas Assembly, and the Northeastern Music Festival were successful appearance.

Always ready to lend a helping hand and give cheerful service, Quid Nunc girls this year helped out in many school projects besides completing some projects of their own. Members filled Red Cross boxes and took part in the Morgan Memorial clothing drive.

They further demonstrated their good will by employing their handicraft talent in making small, washable, stuffed animals for a children's hospital and tray favors for other hospitals.

These generous students also brought happiness to less fortunate youngsters by giving a Valentine Party for the retarded children at the Walter E. Fernald School.

Other parts of the club's busy program included listening to guest speakers, sending representatives to the Junior Red Cross meetings at the Chapter House in Boston each month, and baking cakes and goodies for hospitals and local cake sales. The club's activities were climaxed by a banquet and the annual faculty tea. The girls expertly prepared all the food served at the tea.

Working with the club's able sponsor, Miss Mary Boyle, the officers were: Betsy O'Connell, President; Joan Leslie, Vice-President, Merry Buchanan, Recording Secretary; Norma Maria, Corresponding Secretary, Marie Alberico, Treasurer.
Looking for something? Aardvarks? Zlotys? You're sure to find it if you ask Mrs. Alice Deery or her trusty crew of Library Aides. The information-bearing members of this service organization are responsible for cataloguing, filing, and mending books, managing attendance records, setting up displays, and generally keeping the library in the neat condition in which it always appears before the frontal assaults made upon it by information-seeking pupils each study period.

The girls helped Mrs. Deery run the phonograph and language records which were added to the language department this school year.

The Library Aides also met during club periods to design decorations to enhance the book displays. The group held a Christmas party and its annual spring outing.

They kept out of the way, and were generally overlooked. Though extremely useful, they were not appreciated; and though seldom seen, they were everywhere.

Projection Club members were behind-the-scenes workers who played an important part in school and town activities, whether it was a Victory Field football game, a school assembly, or a Town Meeting. Whenever an event of importance required expert amplification, Mr. Bannon's boys were on hand to tackle the problems involved. None of the difficulties encountered in installing mikes or splicing extension cords were too tough for Watertown High's technicians.

The club met regularly during seventh period on Tuesdays. The President was Paul Camposano; Vice-president was Bill Foster, with Phil DiAngelo, Treasurer and John Messina, Secretary.

Superman, watch out! This year a group of brawny, steel muscled males were trained to become supermen themselves. Members of the Weight-Lifting Club, coached by Mr. James Sheehan, met in the gymnasium to condition their muscles and compete with one another in setting new Watertown High School weightlifting records. This comparatively new club, whose motto in "body-building and co-ordination", provided an excellent opportunity for football and baseball players to keep in top physical shape during their off seasons.

The officers were Jude Farese, President; James Scalese, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Chess Club, meeting place of keen minds and sharp wits, was in full swing once again this year under the expert guidance of Mr. Edward Craig. Students who displayed interest in the fascinating game of chess met regularly to match wits.

The adept club members did not confine their talents to Watertown High alone; they carried on a regular schedule of matches with teams from neighboring high schools. Though frequently unheralded and without the fanfare that accompanies school athletes, these boys and girls through their victories spread the fame of W.H.S.

Officers of the club were: President, Edward Haggerty; Vice President, Harvey Bazarian; Treasurer, Ralph Day; Secretary, Marianne Pannisi.
Brawn and Bacteria...

Under the able guidance of Faculty advisor, Mr. Jackson, the Biology Club met every Thursday to work on many interesting projects, such as microscope culture, wild life and marine life displays, local and unusual plant life exhibits, and problems and recent findings in the fields of medicine and nutrition.

The club officers were Philip Stanton, President; George Johnson, Vice-President; John Schmitt, Treasurer; and Nancy Goldberg, Secretary.

In addition to activities during club period, the Biology Club also took field trips to the Science Museum, Hayden Planetarium, M.I. T. Nuclear Reactor, I.B.M. Building, and to Plum Island Wild Life Refuge.

They finally relaxed with a fun-filled excursion to Nantasket.
Ready, aim, fire! The Watertown High Rifle Club once again spent a successful year on the shooting range. This year the club was sponsored by Miss Ruth McCarthy and was supervised and directed by Al St. Onge. During the club meetings members viewed movies on the handling and care of firearms and rifle practice was held every Saturday at the arsenal.

The focal point of the rifle club is its active participation in rifle matches. Two rifle teams were chosen, and the first team competed in the Minute Man Scholastic league against such towns as Waltham, Winchester, Concord, Marlboro, Malden, Melrose, and Acton.

Highlights of the clubs additional activities included a turkey shoot in the early fall, a splash party at the Waltham Boy's Club, and a banquet at the end of the year with a group of other Rifle Clubs from nearby schools. Club members also went ice skating at Beaver Brook in Waverly, and horseback riding in Milton.

The Rifle Club officers were: Jerry Doyle, President; Greg Condon, Vice-President; Pat Dulligan, Secretary; Wilma Pentz, Treasurer; Eleanor Ford, Executive Officer.
Following along with established custom, a group of civic-minded girls at Watertown High, known as Tri-Hi again contributed to the general welfare of the community. Under the able sponsorship of Miss Virginia Murphy, Tri-Hi held numerous fund raising projects in order to present a scholarship to some worthy senior. One of these projects, the annual Winter Carnival, was particularly enjoyable and profitable.

Other Tri-Hi activities included spending one afternoon each week with the aged people at the Sacred Heart Nursing Home, and the annual cake sale for the faculty.

Tri-Hi officers were: Cary Dillon, president; Priscilla Chapin, vice-president; Linda Dale, treasurer; Louisa Madden, secretary; Pat Harris, chaplain.

Striving for improvement of the body, mind, and soul, a group of active young men joined together in Watertown High School’s Hi-Y.

Working toward a scholarship for a worthy senior, the club sponsored numerous projects offering service to the school and community. This year at their annual fund raising Victory Dance a junior girl was chosen as football queen. Each month during club meeting the members were entertained by movies dealing with the problems of youth and the building of successful men of tomorrow.

Hi-Y officers were: Francis Manzelli, President; Thomas Manzelli, Vice-President; Robert Skolnick, Secretary; Robert Sliney, Treasurer; Sal Ciccarelli, Chaplain.
"Extra! Extra! Read all about it. Class of '59 is 104th to graduate from Watertown High School. With this final headline, the hard-working news hounds on The Bulletin staff finally put their baby to bed after another busy year.

With Mr. Thomas A. Roach, faculty advisor for the paper, the editors—Betsy O'Connell, News; Shirley Jordan, Editorials; Lucille Donnelly and Wendy McDonald, Features; Patrick Fairbairn, Sports; Christy Watson, Arts; Sara Conant, Business; and Dominic Furia, Photographer — gather and process the raw material.

The Bulletin ended its 42nd year of publication, in its aim of keeping the school informed of various activities; citing notable accomplishments of fellow students; guiding student thinking with vital editorials and the provocative Issue of the Issue; publishing original writings, and humorous, unusual, and interesting features; and presenting sports in a unique and refreshing style.

Staff members of The Bulletin also find time to sponsor the popular "Holly Hop," meet such celebrities as composers Rogers and Hammerstein, skater Maribel Vincent Owen, Bruins' captain Fernie Flamin, and sports columnist Red Smith; and attend various press conferences sponsored for High School Editors.

The Bulletin staff is one of the most active organizations at Watertown High. The combined efforts of the hard-working editors and reporters have resulted in a rewarding newspaper highly commended by the faculty and student body alike.
Culture and Creative Art...

The Armenian Cultural Club, sponsored by Dr. Elisha Chrakian, was newly introduced to WHS this year. The main purpose of this society is to introduce its members to the culture of Armenia, and to help them express themselves efficiently in Armenian. A part of each meeting is carried on in Armenian.

The club plans to establish a fund for scholarship aid. With other funds, Armenian books will be bought and put in the school library. This year’s members were known as Charter Members and worked hard to form a basis of activities. Officers were: President, Maral Kazazian; Vice-President, Yervant Chekyian; Recording Secretary, Armenne Kechichian; Corresponding Secretary, Jean Mouessian; Treasurers, Jeffrey Gosdanian and Ashod Antreasian; Publicity Chairman, Lucy Samuelian.

In Watertown High’s Theater Workshop, there’s an opportunity for students to lose their inhibitions or to display some hidden talent. The members of this group benefit from all types of stage experience including painting sets, selling tickets, directing, and acting. At many of the club meetings, the members pantomime original skits.

Throughout the year the Junior-Senior play and various assemblies are prepared and presented by the members of this club. Club members wish to express their sincere appreciation to their energetic club sponsor, Mr. Paul Hughes. Without his time and effort, the Theater Workshop would not be the successful club that it is.

This year’s officers were: Martha Bortone, President; William Rouvalis, Vice-President; Edie Scott, Secretary.
Once upon a time, a merchant of Yonkers, having accumulated a considerable amount of money over the years by selling tomatoes and other such necessities of life, decided it was time to take another wife. To carry out this worthy aspiration, Horace Vandergelder employed Mrs. Levi, a matchmaker, whose business it was to gather up victims for Mr. Vandergelder's consideration.

Dolly Levi, however, tired of being a widow, came to the conclusion that Horace Vandergelder and his large, idle money piles were just what she needed to insure her perfect happiness. So naturally, when Mr. Vandergelder had decided to marry Irene Molloy, a "respectable" hat-shop owner, Mrs. Levi had no alternative but to take actions to prevent this match, (and, at the same time, to encourage one between Irene and Cornelius, Vandergelder's chief clerk.)

Therein lies the tale that set the audience into gales of laughter and marked the Junior-Senior Classes' production of Thorton Wilder's The Matchmaker as one of the most successful dramatic offerings in many years.

Curtain Call—Climax to a successful performance.
Virtue's reward? All problems solved, Dolly Levi and Horace Vandergelder are happily united.

Choreographer Barbara DeFilippis and dancers take a bow after their "Loveliest Night of the Year" number.

The Matchmaker...

Directed by Mr. Paul Hughes, with student directors Shirley Jordan and Leslie Hansel, the large cast was headed by Martha Bortone as the "matchmaker." Supporting roles were portrayed by Patrick Fairbairn, Edythe Scott, Connie Cragin, Robert Karr and Richard Ames.

Character parts were taken by William Poole, Susan Smullin, Ralph Atenasio, Rosalind Gordon, William Rouvalis, Veronica Mardirosian, John DeLuca, Dale Samson, Louis Santoro, William Haroutounian, and Shirley Jordan. Choreography was by Barbara DeFilippis, with dancers Elaine Coyne, Leslie Hansel, June Valenti, Sheila Kelly, Joyce Wyshak, Margaret White, Barbara Young and Tanya Agopian.

Irene Molloy, milliner extraordinaire, assisted by Minnie Fay, tries on one of her prize creations for Mrs. Levi.

"Cornelius Hackl, your discharged!" bellows Horace Vandergelder.
Senior year — grand finale... our years in retrospect... triumph of achievement... looking ahead to broad horizons... nostalgia for the passing years... burning the bridges we built so fondly...
The lights dim. The curtain rises. The drum rolls. A frightened group of sophomores stand trembling in the spotlight. A girl speaks, “Well, I guess this is it.” “Yes,” replies one of her fellow students. “We’ve finally arrived.”

Thus we made our debut. The scene was strange, bewildering at times, among the labyrinthine corridors, the unbudgeable lockers, and the unfamiliar faces. But in a few weeks we were “old pros,” playing together, studying together, succeeding together.

The climax of Scene I came when we elected our sophomore officers. With the longest ballot in WHS political history we finally choose as our class officers: Bob Smith, president; Sal Ciccarelli, vice-president; Martha Bortone, secretary; Mary Grandinetti, treasurer; Marjorie Manning, Louisa Madden, Norma Maria, Joe Sacco, Bob Skolnick; executive committee.

A highlight of Act I was the sophomore participation in the plays within a play, Deadwood Dick and Wonderful Town. By the time the Memorial Day assembly rolled around we were experienced hands at this acting business. On Class Day, along with the juniors, we had our revenge for all the scorn of the seniors when we emerged as victors. So we took our summer intermission happy with our new friends, our newly found skills and our new knowledge.

At the beginning of our junior year, Act II, we made a more confident entrance. We lorded over the sophs and cautiously avoided those still almighty seniors. Under our new director Mr. Kelley we began an active year. Once more we went to the polls and elected as our officers Sal Ciccarelli, president; Joe McDonald, vice-president; Martha Bortone, secretary; Mary Grandinetti, treasurer; Norma Maria, Shelia Kelly, Paul Farmer, Pete Mancini, Steve Assarian, executive committee.

“Are you getting small or medium? or “I’m buying blue, not red,” were oft heard phrases
when we ordered our class rings. When they finally arrived, there was, for some strange reason, an unusual amount of handraising in the junior classes.

Our inspirational Christmas Assembly sent the school home for Christmas vacation humming carols and filled with the Christmas spirit. Once more we were given our chance to "show our stuff" in the Junior-Senior Play. This year three one act plays were presented, Antic Spring, The Old Lady Shows Her Medals, and Enter The Hero.

The highlight of our junior year was our prom. Braving an April snowstorm, we danced in a Shangrala setting. We bowed out of Act II, to prepare for our most challenging roles as seniors.

When we made our third act entrance as those "sophisticated" seniors we discovered there had been some changes made. Being in the right place at the right time, was once more a problem for us with the new schedule. This year we chose as our leaders Sal Ciccarelli, president; Pete Mancini, vice-president; Martha Bortone, secretary; Mary Grandinetti, treasurer; Paul Farmer, Sheila Kelly, Norma Maria, Steve Assarian, Pat Harris, executive committee.

Those seniors that were seen wandering idly in the halls were probably "working" on the Annual. Key positions for the year book staff were held by Paul George, editor and chief, Roger Austin and Anne Gerondeau, assistant editors, our Annual sported a new look — we were in color for the first time in WHS history.

Later in the year Martha Bortone starred in the hilarious Junior-Senior production

The Matchmaker. In the sport department we established a new record for consecutive wins in track in capturing 24 straight meets. In other sports — well we'd rather not talk about it. Passing the half way mark, we found ourselves in financial difficulty to say the least. So we all climbed on the bandwagon to raise money for our class treasury.

Our class leaders received recognition at the impressive National Honor Society and Cum Laude induction ceremonies.

The end of our high school days near, we waltzed into Senior Prom, competed in Class Day, reminisced at the Class Banquet and marched to Baccalaureate.

All that was left was the grand finale — graduation. We each stepped forward to take our bows and our diplomas — our reward for twelve years in working and striving together. There we stood the class of "59" in The Spotlight.

We, the cast members in WHS’ Drama of “59”, having just concluded three years of rehearsal-dodging, tantrum-throwing, and footlight-smashing (plus performances) feel inclined to be generous on the eve of our departure from this narrow stage. It is in token of our astounding magnanimity, therefore, that we hereby bequeath to certain of the needy backstage hands these priceless props:

1. To future classes we proudly leave a bit of that rare commodity known as victory.

3. Miss Margaret McCarthy, we bequeath to you a year’s lease on the House of Seven Gables and a pet goldfish named Moby Dick.

9. To Mr. Kelman, we bequeath an enlarged gold-framed portrait of Sgt. Harry Truman.

10. Miss Appel, we leave you a conveyor belt to carry all those nasty little ditto-sheets up from the back of the room.

11. To next year’s cheerleaders we leave the challenge of surpassing Camille Poillucci’s “Yea Watertown!”

12. As a parting measure of pure devotion, we leave to all future band members a two-weeks vacation at Fort Dix to learn how to march.

We the representatives of the class of “59”, having disposed of the above items in a fit of unprecedented benevolence, do hereby validate this will on the 13th of March, 1959, by hastily appending our names before we change our minds.

Triumph and tragedy on the playing fields . . . straining sinews . . . rivalry, excitement, and suspense . . . the crowd roars . . . sportsmanship and stamina . . . happily we won . . . graciously we lost . . . always fierce competitors.
WHS gridders started off on the right foot by holding powerhouse Medford to a 6-6 tie. The burly Palladinomen then continued their success with a 14-12 victory over Matignon. In view of the fine start they made, the tail-end of the season proved somewhat disappointing, with a six game losing streak being climaxd by an unexpected defeat at the hands of Belmont.

Mountainous lineman Jude Farese, stalwart tackle Dave O'Brien, speedy Joe MacDonald, quick-handed Don Higgin, tough Louis DeLuca, wiry Don Quinn, glue-fingered Dave Brown, aggressive Sal Ciccarelli, and team commander Pete Mancini were the prominent seniors on the squad. They worked as a well-oiled machine, passing, blocking, tackling, always putting up a great fight. In their valiant efforts they were ably supported by the brilliant offensive play of junior Dick Green, and sophomore stars Migliaccio and Smith.

As Thousands Cheer
The Harriers showed an expected departure from their usual top form during the fall of '58. Three crack long-distance men of the previous season had graduated, and team captain Vin Riccio was virtually disabled by a foot injury which prevented his ever performing at peak capability. As a result, coach Gleason's boys relinquished their grip on the Class B title which they had held for five consecutive years. Each team member gave his all throughout the season.

Future Harrier prospects are bright. The young 'uns, juniors Bob Walker, Fred Camell, Dan Igoe, Frank Pugliese, Jerry Doyle, George Calnan, Jack Watson and Ralph Borghetti, and sophomores Ed Sullivan and Dick Howley are calculated adequately to fill the shoes of departing seniors Riccio and Steve Mayo.

Fourteenth in League meet.
Eighth in State Meet.

The Malleymen had their ups and downs in the fall of '58. They got off to a fast start, cooled off for a while, then finished strong. The problems of the team were mainly defensive — Watertown frequently missed that long, quick boat to clear the ball away from the home goal.

Top score, with six goals, was flamboyant Dave Morrison, a centre forward with a knack for tipping the ball past the frantic fingertips of opponent goalkeepers. Art Hughes, the wily inside right, collected three for the season. The chief playmakers were the two wings — Patrick Fairbairn on outside left, Pete Airasian, a junior, on outside right. Their centering passes, often resulted in scores by the other goal-hungry forwards. Two star underclassmen were Ed Chekijian and Grigor Kaynakian, both with two goals.
Dick Aulenbach, the only senior halfback, proved that he could score as well as play defensively, and frequently tested the goalkeepers with his long 40 and 50-yard drives. Aulenbach worked tirelessly along with juniors Charlie Helms and Winston Yelland, two dogged halfbacks who never say die.

Between the posts was senior John Carver. Though he did not play every game, Carver turned in several fine performances, notably the first Medford game, in which he allowed but one goal to the hottest club around. Also playing goal for Watertown were sophomores Jim McLaughlin, Don Fox, and Bob Van Dine.

On defense were senior fullbacks Paul Camposano and Bob Sliney and underclassmen Mike Arnold and Ralph Cadwallader. These burly backs were responsible for keeping Watertown in a game up to the very last minute of play. Always in the thick of the fray, they bolstered the entire team with their hustle and determination.

Rebound, Down the Court,

The hapless hoopsters wound up the season with a 1-16 record and the nucleus for a powerful new squad. The "cream of the team" performed admirably, the only real trouble being lack of depth on the bench.

"Big man" on the squad, both in stature and ability, was senior Al White. A tower of strength, White scored well up in double figures in most contests and proved equally capable as a rebounder. He placed fifth in Suburban league scoring with 205 points, and at times led his team singlehanded against superior opponents.

Other seniors who helped the team along, by their spirit as well as talent, were Bill Verdi, John Carver, Bill Russell, Steve Eberley, Paul Camposano, and Dave Brown. Spurred on by the fine play of underclassmen Norm Hoffman, Al Verrochi and Tom Stanley, coach Don Costello's boys fought gamely to the end.

Indoor track was the success story of '59 for Watertown High. The records of other winter sports faded into insignificance beside the glorious achievements of coach Robert Gleason's cinderfeet. It was a year that saw Watertown finish its winning streak in duel meet competition at 24, a mark which topped Rindge Tech's old 21-game record.

Senior stars Vin Riccio and Jack Devletian were the team pacesetters. Riccio was always first in his specialty, the 1000-yard dash, and also placed consistently in high jump. Devletian swept aside all opposition in the shotput event. Both boys went on to take firsts in the State Meet on February 7. Other seniors, standbys all season long, were milers Steve "stamina" Donald, and sprinters Dave Ward and Roy Johnson. The supporting strength of the sophomores and juniors, however, made possible Watertown's fine showing. Without Bob Walker's great long-distance running and Danny Igoe's ability in the 600; without the hurdling of Jerry Doyle and the sprinting of Fred Camell and Dick Howley; without the services of Kip Kennett, John Bianchi, John Messina, and Ralph Borghetti, a successful season would not have been possible. Everyone pulled together, and by a concerted effort thus successfully concluded another chapter in Watertown's colorful track history.
After an unsuccessful beginning, the Watertown hockey team displayed steady improvement in the latter half of the season, closing with one win, three ties, and ten losses. Having lost eight seniors from the '58 squad, the team had only eight lettermen returning, and less experienced pucksters had to be used to fill in the gaps. Injuries to Dom Santoro and Junior Jerry Vahey seriously handicapped the rink warriors, and Watertown coach Robert Dupuis had to experiment with a variety of new goalies before finding in sophomore Ed McCarthy a satisfactory puckstopper.

Despite the fact that the first six starts were losses, the team was never "bombed" by anyone. The boys fought with spirit and determination right up until the final buzzer sounded. The worst defeat of the season was an 8-1 loss to a very potent Needham club.
With the mid-season return of veteran defenseman Dom Santoro the team began to show new life, tying Waltham 3-3. Sophomore Jack Callahan scored twice in this game and Junior Don Weeden added the equalizer. This tie was followed by another against B. C. High with a score of two-all. Sophs Jack Callahan and Joe Murray received the tally credits. The third consecutive tie against Walpole was a very exciting match which kept the crowd on its feet throughout the game. The Red Men were leading 3-1 when Walpole came back with two spoilers in the third stanza.

After setbacks at the hands of the powerhouse Needham and Norwood outfits, Watertown finally broke into the win column against Waltham 3-1 in the season finale. Weeden scored twice, Green once.

The seniors were an inspiration to their teammates. Hard-hitting Dom Santoro was continually sparking his team to greater efforts by his own aggressiveness and determination. Brawny defensemen Dave O'Brien and Bob Skolnick, by gallantly staving off the attacks of onrushing opponents, imported new confidence to their goalie and line. Indispensable linemen were Martin "Woody" Reid, a top-notch position player, and battling John Karchenes, who didn't know the meaning of the word "quit". Other teams could outskate the men of the Red and White, but nobody could outhustle them.

Pretty and talented are the girls who compose the majorettes here at Watertown High. These versatile beauties can be found leading the WHS band down the center of the football field in the fall, or parading down Main Street as the band honors the heroic dead on Memorial Day.

This year's majorette squad included: Marie Gobbi, captain; Jocelyn Pelletier, co-captain; Kathy Phillips, Lillian Danielson, Donna Cristello, Shelia Kelly, Gail Furdon, Pat Gilreath, Carol Kelly, and Patty Gobbi, the squad's four-year-old mascot. New England's baton twirling champion, Patty Ann Vahey, also participated this year.

The "Peppettes" of 1959, dressed in their bright red and white costumes added zest, color and action to the hockey games this year. The girls displayed a great deal of initiative in creating new cheers, and vigorously performing them at the arena. The pep and vitality of these cheerleaders, as they went through their maneuvers, incited the fighting spirit of the WHS ice hockey team of 1959.

Under the capable leadership of Betsy O'Connell, the "Peppettes" included Joan Leslie, Zenda Monseratte, Maura Flaherty, Mary Vahey, Marjorie Manning, Wendy MacDonald, Stella Tsolas and Marie Alberico.

Signals! WHS! Watertown's Top Ten Yellers prepared for another of their lively cheers. They were on stage at the Pep Rally before the annual Turkey Game. Their spirited cheering aroused the audience and resulted in the most successful rally Watertown High has seen for many seasons!

This year the cheerleaders sported new bright red uniforms.

Captain Camille Poillucci and Co-captain Cary Dillon did a wonderful job of leading their peppy group which included:

Seniors: Marion Haboian, Tanya Agopian, Louisa Madden; Juniors: Maria Yerardi, Judy Hagopian, Judy Venezia, Julie McEvoy, Pat Dulligan, and Joyce Wyshak.

Red Raiderettes

"Ground-sticks, ground-sticks, ground-sticks" is the familiar chant starting a lively girls' hockey game. Under the excellent coaching of Miss Biggane, the team learned many new aspects of hockey. This year's team was led by co-captains Stella Tsolas and Marilyn Dugan.

Varsity members included Stella Tsolas, center; Marilyn Dugan and Margaret Kadehjian, wings; Phyllis Parella and Linda Murphy, inners; Brenda Short, Mary McBride, Emily Mansfield, Pat Dulligan and Mary Maurer, on defense; Marjorie Wolejko, goalie.

Despite several losses this season, the Raiderettes are looking forward to a more successful year in the fall. The Sophomore girls, under the excellent coaching of Miss Ruth McCarthy, have been learning the fundamentals of hockey. They'll certainly be an asset to next year's team.

Seldom has more spirit been shown than by the 1959 Girls Basketball Team coached by Miss Ruth McCarthy. Spirits rose even higher when both the Varsity and Junior Varsity won their first games against Needham. The second game was against Winchester’s super-skilled team; but Watertown, though it held up quite well, was unable to keep the Winchester shots out of the basket. Although the Watertown gals had more than sufficient fight, they had a rush of bad luck, losing three consecutive games by one and two points.

The first team was made up of forwards Phyllis Parella (captain), Margaret Kadejian, Linda Murphy, Marjorie Wolejko, and Wilma Pentz, and guards Stella Tsolas, Elizabeth DiPace, Armenne Kechichian, and Brenda Short.

WHS baseball fortunes in 1959 wavered between fair and poor on the spring sports barometer. A season that started with a sore-armed, diminutive pitching staff continued with under-par defense and erratic batting. However, despite such handicaps, Coach Yankowski’s boys displayed nothing but the highest grade of courage and sportsmanship all season long. “Never say die” was their motto, as many late-inning rallies can testify.

Particularly fine pitching performances were turned in by seniors Paul Camposano and Roy Johnson. Whenever these fellows were on the mound, the opposition knew there was rough sailing ahead. The inspired efforts of the moundsmen coupled with the team’s fiercely competitive spirit quelled even the top league teams, and enabled Watertown to finish 4-9 on the season.

Seniors formed the backbone of the team. Al White, Dave Brown, Don Quinn, Dick Aulenbach, Dick Guzzetti and Dave O’Brien played useful roles in diamond play. One could divide the glory pretty evenly among them all.

Al White
Coach Carl Clem, physical education instructor for boys at the East Junior High, assumed the role of tennis coach at WHS for the '59 spring season. Since Mr. Clem had to fill the shoes of Mr. Koumjian, last year's coach, he had quite a job on his hands. But he proved to be a well-qualified instructor; his boys responded to his tips and advice and fought to a creditable 3-4 season.

Senior Bob Karr performed admirably in his capacity of first singles player. There are promising underclassmen in the offering, but Bob's talent will certainly be missed.
As in years past, the '59 version of the battling Lassies showed great spirit and fight. Guided by their experienced coach, Miss Sally Biggane, they stroked as hard against their peers as if they had never heard of defeat. The result of a thrilling six-game season was a satisfying 2-4 record.

Team captain Margaret Kadehjian did much to ensure her team's success with her fine court technique. Other seniors who made valuable contributions to the effort were Phyllis Parella and Elizabeth DiPace.

The Malleymen swung the club of victory in the 1959 golf season, winning five and losing three. The talented combos of Captain Ed O'Brien and John Carver, Jack "Stretch" Kennedy and Dave Wright, and Jack Ehler and Dick French were chiefly responsible for the team's high standing—no. three in a tough league of eight.

In the playoffs Brookline downed Watertown 6½-2½, but Watertown bounced back against Newton with a 4½-4½ tie. The Malleymen lost the final contest against Brockton 7-2. Throughout the season they exhibited good team spirit and sportsmanship.
Lacking the brilliance and depth of last year’s superb outdoor track squad, the WHS trackmen quite naturally suffered a letdown from the success of a year ago. Aside from certain events, such as the middle distance races (dominated by the spirit expert Vin Riccio) and shotput (controlled by the strong arms of Dave O’Brien and Jack Devletian) there were few standout performers. However, the esprit de corps remained high throughout the rigors of a heavy schedule, and defeat for the Gleasonites came only after hearty resistance.

Seniors performing well in various categories were Joe McDonald, a strong-legged hurdler; Steve Mayo and Dick Aulenbach, master milers; javelinists Al Taylor and Martin Reid, and sprinter Fred Camell. Especially to be missed next year will be Vin Riccio, the most versatile and most talented of Coach Robert Gleason’s many departing seniors. Credit should go to the entire team, however, for a well-played and spirited season, in which personal achievement, though important, was viewed more in terms of its value to the overall point contribution.

Beloved maestro Mr. Hagopian directs W.H.S. orchestra.

This year's Talent Showcase, an innovation in W.H.S.'s entertainment calendar, met with such overwhelming success that it will be an annual event in the future. This show represents another outstanding achievement for the class of '59.

The W.H.S. talented orchestra captivates a packed house.
Academic Excellence

On April 29th Cum Laude Society elected nine college course seniors to its ranks. Membership in the society, which is modeled after Phi Beta Kappa, is awarded to those students who have been most outstanding in academic achievement.

This year Cum Laude welcomed Miss Ruth Appel as its new secretary. With her, three members attended the regional conference at Dana Hall in Wellesley.

Scholarship, character, leadership, and service were the qualities displayed by the outstanding students honored by induction into the National Honor Society at a May assembly.

In addition to their annual project of selling WHS plastic book covers, members ushered at parents night and ran a movie "The Benny Goodman Story."

Officers were Patrick Fairbairn, president; Robert Sliney, vice-president; Elizabeth O'Connell, secretary; and Edythe Scott, treasurer.

"IT'S SMART to line up job interviews well in advance of graduation. And one of the best places I know to contact is the Telephone Company. Several of us from my graduating class are working here — and every one of us loves it."

Telephone jobs are important ones. We have our own training program which you can enter without any previous job experience. The pay is good, and you'll get regular raises.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate. Ask the Guidance Counselor at your school to tell you when and where to apply.

THE YEARBOOK STAFF takes this opportunity to thank everyone who assisted in any way with the publication of the 1959 ANNUAL. We especially acknowledge the aid given by:

Our Advisors,

Mr. Thomas Roach, our faculty advisor, who guided us on the road to our goal, your ANNUAL.

Mr. Harold Moody, our most competent and experienced art advisor, who devoted long hours to making lay-outs, supervising art work, and helping us with our problems.

Mr. Nicholas Papas, our business advisor, who directed the procurement of all our advertisements.

Mr. Daniel Sullivan, our photographic advisor, who guided our staff photographers along the way.

Mr. William Kelleher, our literary advisor, for the senior biographies.

Our Headmaster,

Dr. John J. Kelley, who most kindly gave both his assistance and encouragement in arrangements for ANNUAL projects and a great deal of his office space for use by the ANNUAL staff.

Our Faculty, who were unfailingly patient despite the many interruptions and inconveniences inevitable with yearbook production.

Our Professional Friends,

Purdy Studios, and its staff members: Mr. Castro, Mr. Murphy and especially Mr. Corregan and Mr. James T. Bleiler, who gave indispensable advice in every phase of our yearbook preparation.

Delmar Printing Company, and especially Mr. Douglas Dunn, who waited patiently on each “Deadline Day” while we scurried about, locating the last bits of material.

All’s Well that Ends Well
