THE ANNUAL 1937

Volume XI

WATERTOWN
SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Watertown, Massachusetts
DEDICATION

To MISS ALICE M. HODGE

who has won our deep admiration with her friendship for all of us; who has faithfully served the school and its students for thirty-two years; who, with her smiles and understanding, has encouraged us to greater endeavors; and who has worked with us in friendly cooperation, we, the Class of 1937, respectfully dedicate this, our Annual.
FOREWORD

There is something about our own, be it good or bad, that is always dear to us. So it is with our relations with others. We are all members of the Class of 1937, and because of that we shall always reserve one place in our hearts for whatever is associated with these three years that we have enjoyed together. The diploma which we receive on graduation night is but a symbol of the life that we have shared. This Annual is also a symbol; it is our own, and into it we have put most of what we wish to remember. To others it is of lesser importance, but for us it will serve as the chief reminder of our High School life.
We regret that we are the last class to have the benefit of the guidance and friendship of Miss Carrie Tozier. Her absence will leave a deeply felt vacancy in this school of which she has been a loyal and enthusiastic faculty member for seventeen years.
To MR. HERBERT H. ARCHIBALD

we extend both our heartfelt thanks for making our Senior year one which we shall always remember, and the hope that he will have many years of supervision over future students of Watertown High School.

Tonight is the night of the class of 1937. We are all having a joyous time, and yet there is sadness mingled with the laughter. As I look around me and see all the familiar faces of my classmates I think of the grand times we have had during the last three years, and I wonder what the next few years will bring.

Three years ago we were all juniors. Some of us attended classes in the morning, some in the afternoon. We elected our officers and the outcome was George Sexton, President; Mildred Farwell, Vice-President; Aileen Harlow, Secretary; Jean Taylor, Treasurer; Grayce Fitzgerald, Marion Carroll, and Dale Reitz, Executive Committee. We were a very enterprising class and did what hadn't been done for years—we presented a play for assembly. The stars of the "Pampered Darling" were Doris Johnson, Marion Carroll, Robert Ryan, George Sexton, and Maurice Healy. We spent the remainder of our Junior year uneventfully, except for our able scholars. The capable members of this class were apparently saving energy and brains to develop later into a class that would ever be famed in the annals of the Watertown High School.

Two years ago we were all Middlers. This year we were just beginning to assume that 'superior' attitude. Once again old faces gained prominence as well as new ones. We elected George Sexton, President, for the second time; Dale Reitz, Vice-President; Aileen Harlow, Secretary; Marion Carroll, Treasurer; and Doris Johnson, Bradford Sherlock, and Thomas Carney, members of the Executive Committee. Outstarring anything that had ever been produced, the play that year, "Growing Pains", was a success beyond all expectations. The principal roles were taken by Mildred Farwell, Doris Johnson, Malcolm MacDonald, and Thomas Torri. It was at the end of this year that Mr. Whitehill retired. We were all exceedingly sorry to have him leave.

This year, under the guidance of Mr. Archibald, our new head-master, has been a year filled to overflowing with exciting events and happy remembrances. For the first time in history, the class was led by a boy who for three years won the honor of President—George Sexton. Gannon MacDougall was chosen as Vice-President; Mildred Farwell as Secretary; Marion Carroll as Treasurer; and Barbara Ham, Richard Brooks, and Bradford Sherlock were chosen as our Executive Committee. The Junior Chamber of Commerce undertook and successfully organized a traffic system this year. We decided to change our ring to one with a gold background and the Watertown seal set in black onyx. Because the Class of 1937 had always been a prominent class, we presented a stirring drama entitled "Barbara Frietchie" in which Doris Johnson, Mildred Farwell, Stanley Hopkinson, and Richard Brooks led the players. The Senior Prom followed as the next affair. This was a delightful occasion for all enhanced by the soft music and dimly-lighted gym, decorated in purple and gold.

In the annals of our class, I come to the event we are now celebrating. The Ivy Planting is over and the poem written by Anna Gegerias has been read. The "Annual", of which Elizabeth O'Brien is Editor-in-Chief, we unanimously agreed to dedicate to Miss Alice Hodge and Miss Carrie Tozier, who, after more than thirty-two years and seventeen years respectively, are retiring from teaching. We will hear the Prophecy, written by Eleanor Jones and Richard Arnold; the Thumb Nail Sketches written by Jane Clark and William Fallon; and the Hall of Fame.

I know we all will look back in the years to come and realize what a truly fine three years we have spent together. Leaving the Watertown High School is like parting from an old friend.

Mildred Farwell,
Secretary of Class of 1937
CLASS POEM

Fare thee well, dear Alma Mater,
Parting hours are drawing nigh;
Memories dear abide within us,
As we bid our last good-bye.

May the ivy here embedded,
Climbing toward a golden peak,
E’er bring memories of our classmates,
Striving nobler fives to seek.

Youthful years have fled and left us!
Fruitful were they, blithely sped,
Let those memories spur us onward
Toward the gleaming goal ahead.

Many friends whom we have made here,
Happy hours of work and play,
Cherished scenes and honors gained,
Dominate our minds for aye.

Paths for us will be divided
Each to roads of pain or flowers;
Love and peace will e’er be with us,
If aright we spend our hours.

Teachers, we a debt do owe thee;
Recompense is in our power:
Loyal service to our country
Pledge we now this parting hour.

Let this ivy be our emblem,
Climbing onward toward the sky;
Take our humble gratitude,
Alma Mater, dear; good-bye.

CLASS PLAY

"Barbara Frietchie," by Clyde Fitch was chosen by the officers of the Class of 1937 as the senior play. Although this was more difficult to portray than the usual comedies staged by schools, it was felt that the rare talent possessed by this class should not be wasted on an easily presented play. This confidence was not misplaced because the production, difficult as it was, had a very successful presentation.

The title role was played by Doris Johnson, well-known and excellent actress of many high school productions, who ably portrayed a beautiful Southern belle involved in tragedy. The male lead, Captain Trumbull, was taken by Stanley Hopkinson, newcomer to the school, who proved in this, his first dramatic appearance, that he has great ability. Mildred Farwell took the part of Sue Royce, in love with Barbara's brother Arthur, John McGrane. Other characters were:

CUM LAUDE

The Cum Laude Society, founded at the Tome School, Maryland, in 1906, has for its object the encouragement and reward of high scholastic attainment in secondary schools and corresponds in aim and methods with the Phi Beta Kappa in colleges. The motto of the society consists of the three Greek words ἀρετή, δίκη and τιμή signifying virtue, justice and honor.

Watertown High School is one of the few schools to hold membership in this society and was granted its charter in 1921.

The organization was first called the Alpha Delta Tau Fraternity, but to avoid confusion with the Greek-letter fraternities of a different character, this name was changed in 1916 and it became the Cum Laude Society. In the same year the constitution was amended in order that girls, who had formerly been excluded from the society, might be allowed membership. The society is incorporated under the laws of Maryland.

The underclassmen of Watertown High School have already made a name for themselves, and bid fair to be credits as seniors to the school which has had so many outstanding senior classes.

The class of 1938, at present middlers, contains many eminent young people. There are exceptional scholars, among whom are included Anna Walter, Leteris Lavrakas and William Rote, all of whom have been on the super-honor roll. Thespian are not lacking to this class. Their class play brought forth the talent of Shirley Reese, the newcomer to the class from the South, Robert Johnson, Belle Stanley, William Rote, Helen Rosenske, Jack Walsh, Marjorie Chase and Gordon Cate. In the All School Night some of these already proven actors in addition to heretofore untested ones made a fine showing: Agnes Fiske, William Rote, Leigh Sawyer, Belle Stanley in the operetta; Robert Johnson and Hugh O'Brien in the play; and Louise North, Shirley Reese, Norma Nelson, Nancy Wilson and Margaret Grogan in the dancing. The athletes of this class are numerous: in football, William Monahan and Tom DiPace, next year's co-captains, also Leteris Lavrakas and Thomas Carney; in basketball, Allan Green, Benjamin Stonoga, Warren Kelly; in track, Salvatore Simone and James Mannix; and in baseball, Leteris Lavrakas and Ernest Ford. There are also some very capable girl athletes: in field hockey, Mary Yuchnevicz, Helen Campbell, Marjorie Chase and Vivian Seiple; in basketball, Helen Rosenske, Ethel Cooper and Vivian Seiple; and in tennis, Judith Chick, Marjorie Bruckner, Marjorie Chase and Nancy Wilson.

The class of 1939, which is our present junior class, has not had as much opportunity to show its merit, but even so it has shown great promise. The intelligentsia of the class includes Aurora Pane, Betty Tevlin and Margaret Kurkjian. The juniors this year did not present a play of their own, but many of them took part in the All School Night program. Among these the most outstanding is Philip Hart who appeared as nine year old Bobby Stubbins in the play. He will probably assume leading roles in his middler and senior plays. Also in the All School Night entertainment were Thomas Boylan, Ann Guidrey, John Kirker and Marion MacDonald. The outstanding athlete of the junior class is Oscar Khederian who stars in both football and baseball. Another baseball star is Frank McHugh who next year will become regular pitcher of the team, and who this year won every game he pitched. Ray Whelan was a bulwark of defense on the football team. Stuart Newell is interested in both football and baseball, while John Kirker is outstanding in track. A credit to any class is Margaret Kurkjian who, in addition to being an honor student, plays the piano with the touch of a genius.

Paced by their leading scorer and captain, George Sexton, the soccer team fought their way to the league championship for the second successive year. The deciding game was played at Watertown against Medford. Our booters edged Medford out of the championship by a score of 1 to 0. The team again met New Bedford for the mythical state championship but were beaten by an exceptionally strong opponent.

The team, at a party sponsored by Mr. Craig, elected Allen Green and Dominic D'Alano as co-captains for the following year.

Games played, 9; Won, 3; Lost, 5; Tied, 1.
Outstanding games, Framingham, Dedham.
Outstanding players, James Duff, George Corazzini.

The team began the season by dedicating the new Framingham High athletic field with an impressive seven to nothing win over their opponents. The season, as a whole, was only mediocre. However, it had its high spots. With revenge in their minds, after the Arlington game, the team battled a strong Dedham eleven to a scoreless deadlock and the following week eked out a victory over Woburn High by the margin of a safety. The annual Turkey Day tilt saw Belmont slip and slide to a muddy fifteen to nothing victory.

At a meeting held after the close of the season Bill Monahan and Tom DiPace were elected co-captains for the following year.

FIELD HOCKEY

Games played, 8; won, 4; lost, 2; tied, 2.
Outstanding games, Winchester, Newton.
Outstanding players, Mary Donnelly, Helen Ronk, Mary Eberly, Aileen Harlow.

This year the field hockey team had a fairly successful season. In all of the games the defense showed both speed and endeavor. The forwards, although they lacked cooperation during the first part of the season, improved decidedly and played nicely, preventing opposing teams from scoring.

The Winchester game was a trying one, as the ball was sent back and forth on the field without score. Watertown scored two goals which were not counted because of fouls, and Winchester finally tallied two points to win the game.

During the Newton game, which was very fast and exciting, both teams were prevented from scoring and the game ended 0-0.

After the season was over, a banquet was held at which Mary Yuchenevicz, fast center defence player, was chosen captain for the coming year, while Helen Campbell, who played right inner on the varsity, was elected manager.

Games played, 9; Won, 4; Lost, 4; Tied, 1.
Outstanding games, Walpole, Wellesley.
Outstanding players, "Art" Reid, Roger Beers.

Entering into league competition with only a few days practice on ice, the 1937 edition of the hockey team fared remarkably well. The puck-chasers checked Walpole's plans for the league championship by beating them one to nothing. On the other hand, Wellesley, runners-up to the champions, ended our hopes for the championship in the last league game by a score of one to nothing. "Art" Reid was chosen to guard the nets for the All Bay State team for the second successive year. Roger Beers and "Charlie" Chapman were selected for the second team.

At the close of the season Tom Meehan, stellar defenseman, was chosen to captain next year's team.

Games played, 14; Won, 6; Lost, 8.
Outstanding players, George Hoben, John Linehan, Tony D’Antonio.

After a poor start, the team finished their last six games with but two losses. George Hoben led the scorers with fifty-five points and was followed by “Ed” Carney with forty-eight and John Linehan with forty-three. In the second Winthrop game the score seesawed back and forth up to the last minute of play. Winthrop then sank a foul shot to win. After coming from behind in the last half of the second Newton game, the team was barely edged out in the longest game ever played on the Watertown floor (three overtime periods), by a score of seventeen to sixteen.

Allen Green, who is co-captain of the soccer team, was chosen to lead the basketeers next year.

Outstanding runners, John Watson, Lincoln Bagshaw.

After securing a coach late in the season, the team showed some spirit. Due to a technical error the team lost the "Class B" relay carnival. At the state meet the team surprised all spectators by taking third place, principally because of the running of John Watson and Lincoln Bagshaw who placed one-two in the 60 yard run. These two also took first and second places in all the races they ran. At Arlington the team was barely edged by a score of thirty-nine to thirty-eight because of a weakness in the field events.

Games played, 4; Won, 4.
Outstanding game, Winchester.
Outstanding players, Marion Bryant, Helen Ronk.

This season the varsity basketball squad was undefeated. Their schedule was short, but the competition was with undefeated teams.

The Winchester game was one of the best and most exciting of all the contests. Each team had to play very hard to gain the advantage. However, Watertown came home with the honors.

Captain Marion Bryant and Helen Ronk, the two varsity guards, played exceptionally well this season and may well be called outstanding players.

At the close of the season, interclass games were played with Newton. The Juniors and Middlers were successful, but the Seniors were overtopped 18–8.

Vivian Seiple, an excellent forward, had previously been chosen manager of hockey, but gave this up to become captain of the basketball squad for next year. Helen Rosenske, a jump center, was chosen manager.

After two championship years and with another one looming, the team was dismayed to learn that the Mystic Valley League had "struck out." However, new teams were scheduled to take the place of those dropping out.

Captain George Sexton and Frank McHugh, who comprised the hurling corps, proved that they were capable of winning games by the results shown in the first four games of the season. Sexton won three, McHugh won one.

Early in the season the batting strength of the team was tested and was not found lacking.

The team, consisting mostly of Middlers and Juniors, had played four matches by May 6. Of these, it had won only one. The team was a member of the Greater Boston Interscholastic Golf League along with Arlington, Newton, Brookline, Waltham and Lexington. Though the team has lost some of its matches this year, by the time the golfers become seniors they should be winning consistently. Captain Richard Capen was the best golfer but was closely followed by Joseph Leary and Frederick White.
BOYS' TENNIS

Coach, John McNealy; Captain, Bradford Sherlock; Manager, Maurice Rehm.
For the first time in many years the Watertown team pinned a defeat on Newton. The score was four to three.
Ben Stonoga was the ranking player. Following Ben came Bud Rehm and Clayton Gray. The doubles team did not have the strength of the singles, but a winning combination was hoped for in the early part of May. This year the team was defending champion of the Suburban Tennis League.

OUTDOOR TRACK

Coach, John Craig; Captain, Percy Van Dyke; Manager, Richard Tombrink.

Though the team was rather weak in the field events, it was strong enough in the running events to pull through with a win in its first scheduled meet with Norwood High by a score of forty-four to forty-two. Under the leadership of Percy Van Dyke, Lincoln Bagshaw, and John Watson, all of whom had done well in past seasons, the team expected to win most of their dual meets, and place high in the other interscholastic meets.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Coach, Sally T. Biggane; Captain, Judith Chick; Manager, Marjorie Bruckner.
Outstanding players, Judith Chick, Marjorie Bruckner.

By May 5 the following games had been scheduled for the tennis season, which was an extremely successful one for this year’s team. The three most outstanding games were those with Newton, Belmont and Winchester. Each of these teams has, in past years, had a great deal more practice and many more excellent players than Watertown.

FEATURES
Well do I remember that eventful day. It was the last Friday in June in the year 1957. After a vain attempt to conceal itself behind lowering clouds, the sun had burst forth in all its dazzling glory to welcome my coming guests. In fact, every living thing seemed to know what was going to happen, for the flowers were beaming their brightest and the poplars along the drive were rustling and whispering among themselves in anticipation.

Like a thunderbolt had come the idea to have a houseparty for my former high school friends and classmates, and like lightning I had set about to bring into effect my only half-formed plans.

Now, while sitting in my drawing-room awaiting the first arrivals, I picked up the "Evening News", this being my first opportunity to read, even so much as a newspaper, for days. "Maurice F. Healy, Jr."—My, that name sounds familiar.—Then it came to me. I suppose it was the natural course of events that the editor of the "Bulletin" should go on in newspaper work, but to become the editor and publisher of the "Evening News" takes great ability!

Thinking of this, I glanced idly over the front page when another familiar name caught my eye. Dr. George J. Tsolias had performed a brilliant and difficult operation, one which had heretofore been unsuccessful—and his assisting nurse was Miss Theresa Argiro.

Then, hoping to find more familiar names, I looked through the rest of the paper. My curiosity was soon rewarded, because from Page Two I gained the information that Jean Frances Taylor had just been appointed as principal of one of our suburban high schools.

Speaking of newspapers reminds me that Marion Bryant made all the front pages when her basketball team won in the 1956 Olympics.

As I was reading, the maid brought in the afternoon mail which contained several notes with apologies for not being able to attend my houseparty, and as she went out she turned on the radio. In the mail in my hand I found notes from Morley Lush, Francis McDermott, Marjorie Sheils, Alice Mardirosian and Rose Mary Iannazzi who regretted to refuse my invitation because they had to play in the Boston Symphony Orchestra concert that evening. And another ...

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience! This is Dick Arnold, your radio commentator, bringing you the latest news flashes compiled by the trans-radio news service.

"Washington, D. C.—Ex-mayor Robert Ryan of Boston, Massachusetts, tonight announced his intention of running for president on the Capitalist ticket.

"Montreal—The Boston Bruins defeated the Montreal Maroons to clinch the final game of the play-off series. The real credit for the victory should go to Art Reid whose superb net-minding proved to be the important factor of the game. Roger Beers, who has led the league in scoring throughout the season, was another standout in the game, tallying twice and getting three assists. Charlie Chapman played a fine game on defense, breaking up every possible chance that Montreal had to score.

"St. Louis, Missouri—The Boston Red Sox today held at a tie the St. Louis Cardinals. The star players for the Sox were George Sexton, manager, Roggie Watts and Bill Romano.

"Denver, Colorado—It was disclosed today in . . . ."
"I certainly did. My name is Eleanor Mann," she replied.

After a few minutes of reminiscing we said good-by, both of us regretting that she could not come to my party, and at least one of us feeling that the fates had a hand in these unusual occurrences.

And then, . . . I found myself in the midst of a walking Tower of Babel, for on answering the insistent ringing of the doorbell I found that the bus, bringing about half of my guests, had arrived from the 5:39 train. As I hurried about, seeing that they were all served tea before going upstairs to rest and change for dinner, I realized how inevitably people with the same interests group together. For there was Ruth Gibson telling a number of doting parents about her camp for older boys and girls, a place where they could have a holiday and yet work at the same time. In the next group James Pelrine, the famous golf pro, was telling George McWhirter, Frank Mercurio, Richard Moseley, Arthur Sadler and Charles Anderson, all successful business men, the merits of playing golf every week-end. In a corner I saw Doris Belanger, Ruth Kavanaugh, Violet Perry, Angelina Romano, Irene Sattanino, Dorothy Kelly and Theresa Carney, all of whom are now married, of course, discussing laughingly the old days as secretaries and boasting proudly of their families.

Next to them, ardently discussing medicine and dentistry were Margery Myra, Doris Kirker, Hazel Mugrdichian, Frances Fligler and Jeanne Cram. Then came the lawyers: Grace Lambert, Marjorie Shaw and John Kasper arguing about the most important legal question of the day. Here in this next group I caught a wisp of conversation, "—and Arlene Keljik was chosen Miss America." That's not surprising, I thought, if she's still as good-looking as she was in High School. Yes, and here were the artists, John Mattison, James Cavalaro, Doris Hauck, George Kalafatis, Edith Kenny and Percy Van Dyke trying to convince Arpena Aleman that interior decoration isn't art; but it was all in fun and they argued only because it is expected of artists and decorators to question each other's ability. I happily noted the adventurers swapping yarns; among them were Navigator Hopkinson, Marine McGrane and Aviator Hastings.

Around the piano a crowd was listening to Dorothy Edwardson's glorious voice. I stood there a moment, thinking of the success Dorothy was experiencing on her new radio program, and then moved on to be sure that all my guests were enjoying themselves. As I passed by some movie enthusiasts I heard them talking of Eleanor Powell's popular successor, Martha Natoli. I smiled when I saw Hollywood's favorite, Tom Torri, surrounded by a cluster of worshiping ladies demanding his autograph.

In the ballroom I found Emerson Hawes, Douglas Oliver, Barbara Richardson, Helen Scott, Earl Lavejoy and Gordon Labonté setting up their music stands in preparation for carrying out their kind offer to entertain us that evening.

After my guests had gone upstairs to dress for dinner I was helping the maid clear away the plates when . . . .

"Boston, Massachusetts—The first showing of 'We Who Love' proved to be very popular with the theatre-goers. The excellent acting of Mildred Farwell and Doris Johnson is beyond description. Both of these fine actresses should be close runners-up for the Academy Award. Many celebrities were present at this opening, among whom were especially noted: Bill Fallon, well-known Broadway theatre critic; Marion Carroll, recent winner of the women's national golf championship at Miami, Florida; Elizabeth O'Brien and Jane Clark, successful business women of Boston.

"Paris, France—Mr. Bradford Sherlock, recently appointed United States ambassador to France, arrived here today and was greeted at the boat by Gannon MacDougall, extensive European traveler, and 'Clayte Gray and All the Lads,' famous New York dance orchestra which is now touring Europe."

—But before I had time to marvel at this final and greatest coincidence, I heard my guests descending. My party had begun.
