DEDICATION

To MR. ELMO D. MACCURDY, whose genial and understanding nature has won for him the friendship of all those who have been privileged to know him during his long years as an instructor, we dedicate this twelfth volume of the Annual.
FOREWORD

We present this twelfth volume of the Annual to the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-eight with the earnest hope that we have caught here, in prosaic black and white, something of the life, spirit, and achievement of those three swiftly-moving years at Watertown High, and that those memories may be recalled more pleasurably in the future.
Congratulations to the Annual Staff and all good wishes to the Class of 1938 as this, our twelfth Year Book, takes its place in our highly cherished archives. As the years roll on, bringing added responsibilities and honors, may the contents of this volume renew pleasant recollections of former years and inspire us all to go forward, live to the truth, and to grow constantly in high ideals and noble character.

Mr. A. ROBERT KELMAN
The monotonous chirping of the crickets and the sighing of the breeze in the birches are lulling to slumber the group gathered around the campfire. One boy sits gazing steadily into the fire as if to pry into infinity, and as a state of semi-sleep begins stealing quietly over him, pictures slowly take shape in the fire.

First appear some children scurrying hither and yon in a most bewildered and frightened manner. When they pass before his eyes again it is with an unassuming and mouse-like manner moving in the shadow of their own insignificance. Yet it is the third passing that shows the most remarkable change for these former children have now become sophisticated and dignified. "Why it's the Class of '38," the gazer murmurs dreamily, while his chain of thought drifts to the history behind this strange change.

Seven blurs soon form seven distinct faces in the campfire. These are the officers who led the hesitant footsteps of the Juniors through a successful year, Cleto Antoni, the President; Edward Farrell, Vice-President; Peggy Lund, Secretary; Nancy Wilson, Treasurer; and Thomas Di Pace, Warren Dwyer, Lefteris Lavrakas, Executive Committee.

The dreamer smiles at the next picture for he had been one of the many bashful ones at that Junior dance. He recalls that at the affair the ice finally broke, however, and all were soon whirling madly around the gym, enjoying themselves to the utmost.

The gay scene dims and is replaced by two kind and sympathetic faces, for the students of the Class of '38 were twice-blessed, blessed by Mr. Whitehill as Principal during their Junior year and blessed by Mr. Archibald as Principal during their Middler and Senior years.

Now a group of boys and girls clearly indicate by their manner that they have reached the stage of "no-account" Middlers. Here eight faces stand out, those of the Middler Class Officers—Guy Le Blanc, Honorary President; Lefteris Lavrakas, President; Theodore DuBois, Vice-President; Peggy Lund, Secretary; Nancy Wilson, Treasurer; and Marjorie Chase, Eleanor Doe, Thomas Di Pace, Executive Committee.

As these faces fade, brightly costumed pirates and swaggering gunmen take their place, startling our dreamer. Oh but 'tis merely the cast of that captivating Middler play, "Captain Applejack," a story of love and intrigue! Robert Johnson, Shirley Reese, Belle Stanley, Jack Walsh, Marjorie Chase, William Rote, and Helen Rosenske made it both a financial and a dramatic success.

What a disorder the next scene represents! Students are rushing about, colliding with each other and blocking the corridors. Magically order soon develops from this chaos as the result of a traffic system installed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. A few of the members of the prominent Class of '38, then Middlers, took part in the organization.

Now a smile plays upon the lips of our gazer as he thinks of that September when the members of the Class of '38 came into their own with the title of "Dignified Seniors." They regarded the underclassmen more condescendingly than any class that had gone before them, and displayed a greater look of boredom and aloofness at every opportunity. Those voted to occupy the thrones that all-important year were Lefteris Lavrakas, President; Theodore DuBois, Vice-President; Peggy Lund, Secretary; Nancy Wilson, Treasurer; and Eleanor Doe, Thomas Di Pace, Executive Committee.

Lastly a courtroom unfolds before his eyes, the setting of "Ladies of the Jury," the Senior drama packed with romance, comedy, and great emotional moments. The stars that made it "one of the best ever" were Helen Rosenske, Jack Walsh, Shirley Reese, Robert Johnson, Robert Paddock.

This vision vanishes and soon are only glowing embers where the fire has been. The dreamer thinks of the student Council begun in his Senior year, of the hilarious "Freak Day," and of the many "intellectual lights" elected to the Cum Laude Society, and of the color and gaiety of the Senior Prom.

Last in his memories, he drifts from thoughts of the Class of '38 to vague castles in the air—plans for his career and thoughts of reunions. The last bright spark fades in the fire and all is dark. Now nothing but grim realities face him.

Peggy Lund,
Secretary of the Class of 1938.
CLASS POEM

We must leave thee, Alma Mater,
Curfew tolls the parting knell.
Yet fond memories long will linger,
Memories time can ne'er dispel.
In our hearts we'll treasure always
   Visions of these scenes so dear,
Recollections of our schooldays,
   Brightening with each passing year.

Stand we now like ancient Janus,
   Facing vistas, old and new—
Eager for the life before us,
   Sad at bidding thee adieu.
To our teachers for their patience
   And their zeal for our success,
Give we now in deepest reverence
   All our thanks and gratefulness.

May the blue and gold we've chosen
   As the colors of our class
Oft recall these hours golden,
   Which no more shall come to pass.
May the virtues they embody
   Endless inspiration be;
Gold for lasting faith and beauty,
   Blue for truth and loyalty.

May the ivy which we plant here
   Grow in beauty, strength and grace,
As a symbol of our future,
   And a guide we'll ne'er disgrace.
Fare thee well, dear Alma Mater!
   As our paths now separate
May God bless and guide forever
   This—our Class of Thirty-eight.

CLASS PLAY

The Senior Class play, "Ladies of the Jury," a three-act comic drama by Fred Ballard, was presented on Friday evening, December 11, 1937. A good-sized audience received the rollicking farce with abundant applause and proclaimed the play a success in every way. The presentation represented many weeks of intensive work by the cast under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Hawthorne. It involved plots and counter-plots, a smattering of dramatic situations, and a good measure of comedy—all carried with exceptional finish by the large group of players.

The leading roles were taken by Helen Rosenske as Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane, a fluttery but thoroughly sensible New Jersey society woman; and Jack Walsh as Jay J. Pressley, foreman of the jury of which Mrs. Crane was also a member. Supporting them were Shirley Reese as a charming defendant with a French accent, Robert Johnson as an extremely convincing attorney for the prosecution, and the following cast:

FEATURES
It must have been at least ten o'clock this morning when I managed to unlimber a sticky eyelid and gaze disapprovingly at a rambunctious ray of sunlight which was stabbing me in the face. I had a hazy recollection of having been somewhere the night before and a firmer conviction that I shouldn't have stayed so late. But all that was gone in a flash as I suddenly snapped upright! "Today, June 9th, 1950, is the opening of the great half-century celebration." Irate at having overslept, I bellowed for my valet and hopped out of bed.

Fifteen minutes later I tore down the front walk and hopped behind the wheel of my new twelve-cylinder Mortensen speedster. As I roared down Kelman Boulevard, I somewhat recovered my thoroughly dampened spirits while listening to the peppy cadences of Hartford and Johnston's latest arrangement of "Swangeroo" coming over the radio. I might add here that these ultra-rhythm geniuses are on a national hook-up sponsored by the Kelley Bean Company, Warren T. Kelley, President. Turning down Archibald Avenue, I decided to drop in on my good friend Stonoga of Whitcomb, Howard, Stonoga and Smith, Inc., brewers of fine ales. I pulled up in front of the Chisholm Building and hurried into the lobby. Imagine my embarrassment when I nearly knocked over Miss Shirley Reese, the glamorous star of the current Broadway hit "Fitful Fillies". I floundered out some apologies and Miss Reese smiled graciously at my stupidity. The elevator proved a relief from my predicament and soon zipped me up to the sixty-second floor, leaving my stomach to follow at leisure. Entering the elevator, as I staggered out, was Thomas J. DiPace, President of the DiPace, D'Alanno and Green Collection and Advertising Agency. I seemed to be running into no end of celebrities, all apparently on their way to the fair grounds.

Since Mr. Stonoga's secretary, Dorothy Ames, informed me that he had already left, I speedily set out again. John M. Day, Jr., Managing Editor of the New York Times, hailed me as I hopped into the car, so I invited him to accompany me. Mr. Day informed me that United States Senator Anna Walter from Massachusetts was scheduled to deliver the opening address. Also by way of news, I learned that manager Bill Monahan of the Boston Red Sox had contracted to play a double-header with the New York Yankees the next day. With Fran Nagle on the mound for Boston, this ought to prove interesting. As Mr. Day had an appointment with Mayor William Eckert of Boston, I let him out at City Hall. As I was about to leave, I saw entering the building State Representatives Richard Looney and Vincent Swift, all dressed up for the occasion in silk toppers and tails. Judge Raymond LeShane of the Supreme Court welcomed them in.

A little later I was gawking out the car window at an enormous billboard, advertising Bing Miller's new monster musical comedy "Fifty Zippy Nifties", featuring the glamorous Jean Osborn, Warner Brothers' star. This colorful distraction resulted in a violent collision between my car and a shiny limousine ahead.
I was horrified to see the rear door open and J. Gordon Cate, the Free Air Party’s candidate for President, barge out. He was followed by Professor Thomas Quirk of Harvard University, whose latest work has just been awarded the Pulitzer Prize. In true Citation diction, I was told a few very emphatic rules of the road, and “Prof. Quirk” interpolated the fine points. Fortunately little damage was done, and after Mr. Cate had promised to send his lawyer, the Honorable Leigh Sawyer, around in the morning, I was able to escape the titters of a large crowd that had gathered.

My good friend of the Homicide Squad, Lieutenant Edward Farrell, who had just arrived, informed me that I still had an hour to kill before I could enter the Exposition Grounds. Therefore I drove to the new Follansbee Hotel and hurried into the lobby to calm my shaken nerves. As I sank into an overstuffed chair, my spirits were somewhat raised by the sight of stylish Mademoiselle Rosamond Spidell of the Spidell Salon de Culture, checking in with her two Russian wolfhounds. Manager Donald Berry nearly tipped the ink bottle down his vest trying to get the register over to her. The lobby was crammed with interesting people. Over near the elevator, stood Admiral Ernest B. Ford, U.S.N., talking to “Miss America” of 1950—Miss Eleanor Doe. They were joined shortly by Doctor Charles Janjikian, conductor of the Philadelphia Symphonic Orchestra, and Col. James Mannix of the First Squadron Aviation Corps. My gaze wandered to the revolving doors at the entrance, where the Boston Globe’s ace sports writer, Ed Ford, was trying to get himself, three trunks, and a typewriter through the door at once. He was further hampered by the efforts of the “Bull of Wall Street”, Robert McGivern, who was trying to get out the other side. The passage was finally made however with the assistance of the gold-bedecked doorman, Jim Vahey, and Ed rushed up to the desk, grabbed a phone, and gasped out the latest in the field of sports to his home office. I overheard him say that Judith Chick’s famed international tennis team had swept the Wimbledon Court series in England, and that the National Open Golf Tournament had been won by none other than “Zave” Astor of Watertown, Massachusetts. My attention was distracted a minute later, however, when Miss Peggy Lund, U.S. Minister to Norway, entered, followed by District Attorney Robert Doe. They were met at the desk by Dean John Haertlein of the Harvard Law School. The hotel was fairly a-buzz with excitement now, so I concluded I better leave before I was lost among all these celebrities. As I was leaving, I saw Massachusetts’ No. 1 politician, D. Richard Thissen, Jr., check in with a bag of wind.

Later, while passing by the factories of Hugh J. O’Brien Fisheries, Inc., I was attracted by the beauty of the new Theodore DuBois suspension bridge, named in honor of the ex-Mayor of East Jallope. A passer-by informed me that it had been designed and constructed by the firm of Joseph R. McHugh & Company. As I crossed this massive span I noticed “The Lobo”, a steamer of the Kurkjian Fruit Company, passing underneath. Glancing at the clock atop the Norma Nelson Cosmetic building, I noticed that it was nearly time for the exposition to open. Consequently I turned down Appel Avenue and roared along the MacCurdy turnpike, stopping once for fuel at the Secord Motor Mart, before entering the Exposition Grounds. As I passed under the arch of progress, erected by the Salvatore-Simone School of Art, a group of old friends hailed me from the portico of one of the buildings. They were Mr. Cleto Antoni, Acting Secretary of War; Mr. John Callinan, of Callinan Enterprises, Inc.; and Miss Isabel Tufts, N. B. C.'s Dream-Hour Girl. These kind people invited me to join them in their box in the Auditorium with Mr. Francis M. Kirwan, U. S. Commissioner of Public Safety. Below me in one of the boxes I noticed Helen Campbell, Vice-Chairman of the 1932 Olympics, and actress Helen Rosenske, winner of this year's Academy Award. At the moment they were gazing in admiration at the stalwart figures of Captain Ed Gibbons of the U. S. Coast Guard and 'Bull's-eye' Furfey, of the U. S. Secret Service.

The first selection for entertainment was a soprano solo from Carmen by the Metropolitan opera star, Agnes Fisk. She was accompanied by the New York Symphonic Orchestra under the personal direction of William King. There followed a well-rounded out program, which included addresses by City Councilman Jack Walsh, and Commodore James Johnson of the Atlantic Fleet. Fred Astaire's successor in Hollywood, Bob Johnson, shimmied a specialty dance which astonished even Jack Andrew, Bob Bangs, Frank Marvin and the rest of the bald-heads in the front row. The crowd very nearly went wild when lithe Helen Taubensee ('Toby' to you) put on her variety act with Fred White of the 'Red, White and Blue Scandals'. I know Mae Briggs, head of the local Y.W.C.A., was terribly shocked but I noticed she was yielding a little toward the finish. Dave Rubinoff's latest protege, Harold Stiefel, had us all on the edge of our seats when he sawed through Francis Ladner's latest arrangement of 'Torrid Tilly'. Ringling Bros.' strong man Jim Braffitt closed the performance by the colossal feat of lifting three men over his head by one fingernail. He had a little trouble getting them down again but he finally managed to do so without damaging his cuticle to any great extent. By the way, I understand Ruth Bond, fashion editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, is credited with saying that this act has stepped up the male beauty parlor business all over the country. However, John Mattison, cartoonist for Esquire, denies the rumor.

After leaving my friends, I walked into one of the fair buildings, where the new crack super-liner of the Little Railroad Lines was on exhibition. Inside, President Chester Little and Chief Engineer Roy Wheeler were proudly going over their latest creation. Imagine my embarrassment when I slipped on a little grease on the floor, knocked down the three people next to me, and sat up facing America's No. 1 personality, Nancy Wilson, who is co-editor of Vogue, with Miss Betty Leeper. I hastily mumbled apologies (I seemed to need them today), helped Miss Wilson to her feet, and was mooning about confusedly when I felt a hearty slap on the back which shook me to my bunions' foundations. I turned, looked up a couple of feet, and saw the good-natured face of my old friend John Juskalian. Gus, by the way, is now heavyweight wrestling champ of the world. Feeling quite secure with this mountain of protection beside me, I stuttered out to see some more sights. As we walked into the huge amphitheater, the crack division of the 101st Coast Artillery was just entering. At its head, resplendent in gold braid, buttons, and things, rode Major-General Lefteris Lavarakas, U. S. A. After marshalling his men through the most difficult manoeuvres, Major Lefty (as he is popularly called) left for the army quarters amid wild plaudits. The Robert O'Brien Aircraft Corporation next put on a safety demonstration.

A four hour parade followed. Some of the dignitaries, who were either present or represented, were: handsome Edward Larkin, Governor of Massachusetts; Anna Pugliese, Secretary of the Commonwealth; Elizabeth Earle, whose last work, ‘I Suppose That It’s Prose’, won the Nobel prize for literature; Captain Richard Hatch, Director of the United States Marine Band; and Miss Patricia Hughes, world-famous fashion expert. The Boston Fire Department under Chief Bill Faulkner had a big contingent, and Sergeant Gil Bartone, whose daring was instrumental in saving multi-millionaire Farod Megrian from kidnappers, was at the head of Boston’s super police squad. Police Commissioner Richard Capen followed in a sedan, with Secretary of Labor, Belle Stanley and Supreme Court Justice, Arthur Cole of Washington. A cheer went up as Betty Cronin, ace woman driver and winner of the Women’s Grand National Auto Races, sped by, followed by an American Red Cross ambulance driven by nurses Virginia Totten and Betty Mahan. The great brain-specialist, Doctor Warren Waite, accompanied them on the running-board. The Gebhardt Gas Company’s float was followed by Marjie Chase’s girl band, mounted on a shiny new Leary truck. As they passed, I saw the Record’s ace photographer, Bob Paddock, slip between the legs of the crowd and snap their pictures. The last unit which passed was a group of dignitaries which included Public Works Commissioner Dominic Arone and U. S. Foreign Secretary Virginia Widener. The Kasper Nurseries, incidentally, supplied the flowers.

Tired after this long and glorious day, I spent only a few hours at Esther Smith’s new night spot, “The Smithereens”, and then came home. As I eased my torrid torso between the cool sheets this evening I found difficulty in believing that I had actually seen so much of the pride and joy of America in one day. If you require any additional information after reading this yellow manuscript, consult my butler, Mr. Hawes. He may be able to rouse me by the day after tomorrow.

The class of 1938 has demonstrated its intellectual superiority in the unusual number of students elected this year to Cum Laude. The actual number, twenty-two, exceeds all previous records and only two other classes in the entire history of the Watertown High Chapter even approach 1938's high percentage of outstanding scholars.

The Cum Laude Society, founded in 1906, has for its object the encouragement and reward of scholastic achievement in secondary schools, as does Phi Beta Kappa in the colleges. The Watertown High School was granted its charter in 1921—one of the few public schools considered worthy of this honor. Only pupils in the college preparatory course are eligible to membership.

The society was originally named the Alpha Delta Tau Fraternity from the initials of the three Greek words, αδττ, διτη, τυη, signifying virtue, justice, honor, which compose its motto. At first only boys were eligible. In 1916 the present name, Cum Laude, was adopted and the constitution changed to admit girls also. This year Cum Laude honors here have been divided very equally between girls and boys.
The National Honor Society, founded by the National Society of Secondary School Principals in 1921, has for its purpose the fostering of high ideals as well as the encouragement of scholastic attainment. More than 2000 leading schools of the nation are represented in this society. Watertown High was granted its charter as the Salstonstall Chapter No. 1930 on May 20, 1937.

Membership in this society is granted to students who show outstanding qualities in character, service, leadership, and scholarship—the four cardinal principles to which the organization is dedicated. However, membership is limited to 15% of the senior class and 5% of the middler class.

On April 14, 1938 the seventy-five students of Watertown High, granted membership in the society thus far, were formally inducted by the Newton Chapter.

THE UNDERGRADUATES

Although the undergraduates of Watertown High School have had little opportunity to be outstanding, many of them have already shown their ability in the fine record they have achieved so far—in scholarship, in athletics, and in dramatics.

The class of '39 has many leaders now who promise to be a credit to the school as seniors next year. Among the middlers there are excellent scholars, such as Margaret Kurkjian and Doris Hill, both of whom deserve credit for their position on the super-honor roll. Then, in the field of dramatics, the middler class has had but one chance to show its talent; but in the middler play, "Nothing But the Truth," many thespians came forth—Betty Davis and Philip Hart having the leading roles, supported by an able cast of Loretta Sullivan, Ray Whelan, Cynthia Blazo, Constance Adams, Ann Guidrey, Robert Healy, George Duncan, Ralph Di Cori, and Helen Gegerias. These actors and actresses made the middler play a huge success, and we feel sure that next year the senior play will be equally successful. From the records of their athletes so far, the class of '39 gives promise of splendid teams in 1939. The boys have been very successful: in football, "Skee" Khederian (next year's captain), Gordon Sullivan, and Ray Whelan; in hockey, Thomas Meehan; in soccer, "Mat" Keefe; in basketball, Gordon Sullivan and "Mat" Keefe; in track, Vahan Khorigian; in baseball, Oscar Khederian and Fred Antinerelli; and in golf, "Red" Leary. The girls, too, have had some fine athletes. Outstanding in field hockey were Betty Tevlin and Bette Davis; and in basketball, Isabel Crawford and Helen Wilson, next year's captain and manager respectively. The middlers must also be congratulated for their splendid pianist, Margaret Kurkjian.

The members of the Class of 1940 have had even less opportunity than the class of 1939 to display their abilities; but many of them have been successful so far in their high school careers. The outstanding scholars for the Junior class include Helen Field, Rosamond Gethro, Phyllis Riehl, and Elizabeth Tucker—all of whom have been on the super-honor roll. The Juniors have not had a chance to make a name for themselves in athletics. However, these boys seem promising: Billy Quinn, George Yankowski, Ernest Mannino, and William Shannon; and among the girls Helen Saunders and Virginia Olson are outstanding. The Juniors have not participated as yet in any school dramatics, but we feel sure that next year they will have many actors and actresses to make their class play a success. Under the guidance of Mr. Smith the Juniors have undertaken a special project for the benefit of the school-supervision of the lunch room, and they seem to be carrying this out successfully. Altogether, they promise to be successful in their middler and senior years.

September 25—In the football opener at Victory Field, Swampscott took advantage of Watertown's lapses in the first half to score a 19-7 victory. Charles Janjikian, Sonny Callinan, and Ray Whelan were standouts for the locals.

September 29—The soccer team opened its season at Belmont and met defeat on a muddy field by the count of 1-0. Dom D'Allano and Gogo Vosgerchian were in rare form.

October 1—The soccer boys were nosed out again 2-1 by Medford at Victory Field. Vinnie Swift and Russ Parker led the Watertown attack.

October 2—Watertown's aerial attack clicked well in garnering a 7-6 win over Framingham at Victory Field. Ted DuBois and Gil Bartone were top performers for Watertown.

October 6—Lexington proved the victim as the soccer team captured its first triumph of the season, 2-0, at Victory Fields. Roy DeAndre and Cleto Antoni starred for Watertown.

October 9—In their first league tilt, at Winthrop, Watertown's football forces battled the opponents to a scoreless tie in a dull game. Warren Kelley and Ernie Ford were outstanding for the invaders.

October 14—The girls' field hockey team opened its season by defeating Concord 1-0. Left inner Helen Rosenske scored.

October 16—A band of opportunists from Wakefield subdued the local eleven, 13-6, in a thrill-packed, bitterly fought fray. Gordon Sullivan and Tilly Capporiccio stood out for Watertown.

October 18—The Watertown booters outplayed the Harvard Frosh outfit, but could gain only a 1-1 tie. Joe Zappulla played a fine game.

October 20—The Belmont soccer senators, in a return match, won their second 1-0 game of the season from Watertown. Matty Keefe was the star for Watertown.

October 21—The girls' field hockey team was defeated at Winchester to a 2-0 score. Both teams played an unusually fast yet steady game, Watertown being unable to score against Winchester's strong defense line.

October 25—The football team was again on the short end of a close score, as it lost at Weymouth 12-6. Watertown's touchdown was scored via a running play, the only one during the entire season. Lefty Lavrakas and Ed Ford were standouts for the locals.

October 30—Dedham High pushed over two touchdowns in the last period to turn a tight battle into a rout, winning 26-9. Bill Monahan and Tom DiPace played a fine game for Watertown.

November 2—The soccer lads booted home a 1-0 victory over Lexington on the latter's field, repeating an early season win. Dick Kehyian shone in the triumph.

November 2—The girls' field hockey team defeated their arch opponents, Belmont, by a 1-0 score. Center Helen Campbell scored the lone goal.

November 4—The girls played a fine hockey game against the Needham team and were victorious 3-0. Helen Campbell, center, scored the three Watertown goals.

November 5—The New Bedford Vocational soccer outfit proved too much for Watertown, winning 3-0. Dom D'Allano played a good game for the home team.

November 6—The football team came from behind in the fourth period, to tie Woburn 7-7, at Woburn. Oscar Khederian and Bob Kellet starred for Watertown.

November 10—Playing a strong defensive game, the girls' hockey team defeated Wal-
November 12—The soccer boys were outclassed by the Dartmouth Frosh at Hanover, New Hampshire, losing 3–0. Paul Glidden and Arthur Doggett were Watertown's standouts.

November 17—The soccer boys went on a scoring spree, routing Perley High 6–0 at Georgetown. Matty Keefe was in top form for Watertown.

November 17—In closing the season, the girls' field hockey team played a very exciting game at Newton. Watertown was forced to play its best but was overpowered by the opponents with a score of 2–1. Helen Campbell, center, hammered in the lone Watertown goal.

November 25—The football team completed its season by dropping a hard-fought game to Belmont, 19–7, in the annual Thanksgiving game classic. Tony Raczkowski and Jim Vahey turned in fine performances for Watertown.

November 26—The soccer lads completed their schedule with a 4–1 triumph over St. Mark's at Southboro. Allan Green played well in the Watertown goal.

December 18—The hockey team opened its season at the Arena, dropping a 5–0 decision to a speedy Wellesley sextet. Tom Meehan was a Watertown bright light.

December 22—The Alumni faced off with the High School, in the basketball opener, and proved the victim of a 63–26 rout. Lefty Lavrakas led the High School's attack with a 21–point barrage.

December 28—The hockeyists were shut out 3–0 for the second straight week, with Framingham in the roll of the villain. Leighton Watts was the top performer for Watertown.

January 1—With Shaughnessy scoring all the goals for the opponents, Waltham's Sextet proved too much for Watertown, winning 5–2 at the Arena. Kenny Bell and Red White shone for the locals.

January 7—The Newton Hoosiers proved too smart for Watertown, winning 34–14 at the local gym. Matty Keefe played a fine game both on offense and defense.

January 7—Needham handed the hockey team a 4–1 defeat in a listless game at the Arena. Ed Farrell and Paul Barnes played well for Watertown.

January 10—The basketball team crashed back into the win column by virtue of a 22–10 triumph over Woburn, at Woburn. Gordon Sullivan was a main cog in the victory.

January 14—A far superior Walpole sextet rode roughshod over the hockey lads to the tune of 9–0, in a game during which Watertown used four goalies.

January 14—In a night game at Reading, the basketeers rode to an easy 30–13 victory. Lefty Lavrakas was outstanding for the locals.

January 17—The indoor track team opened its season at Huntington, coming out on the short end of a 37–31 score.

January 21—The basketball team couldn't get used to the atmosphere of the famed Winthrop "Bandbox" and tasted defeat by the count of 16–7.

January 21—North Quincy showed the way in a 29–20 game played at the local gym. Ben Stonoga played well for Watertown.

January 22—The hockey team failed to take advantage of supposedly weaker opposition, suffering a 5–0 defeat from Quincy.

January 25—In the most thrilling basketball game of the season, Watertown edged rival Belmont 31–30 in the last thirty seconds by virtue of a Lavrakas foul shot.

January 26—The girls opened their basketball season with a 53–12 victory over Concord. Mary Yuchnevicz and Ethel Cooper were the high scorers of the game.
January 28 — The hockeyists were turned back by Boston College High 4-0 at the Arena. Paul Dee played a fine game for Watertown.

January 29 — None of the track entries in the Northeastern Meet, held at the Boston Garden, were able to place in any of their events.

February 1 — The basketball team repeated an early season win by again outpointing Woburn 34-24 at the home gym. Johnny Kirker turned in a fine game for Watertown.

February 4 — The basketball team gained sweet revenge over Winthrop, easing through to a 20-12 triumph at the Watertown gym. Tony Raczkowski was outstanding for the locals.

February 4 — In their first consolation game, the hockey sextet was nosed out by Quincy 3-2. Dick Thissen proved to be in good form for Watertown.

February 9 — The basketball girls journeyed to Winchester and won by a 20-19 score. This game was fast and well earned by the girls.

February 11 — Try as they would, a Watertown basketball team was again unable to muster a victory over Newton, losing 27-15. The valiant effort was marked by the sterling play of forward Farod Megrian.

February 11 — After playing their best game of the season, the hockey team lost its last game to Boston College High 4-2. Paul McCue and Paul Leary were standouts.

February 12 — In the Eastern Seaboard Relay Carnival at the Boston Garden, the two-lap relay team was victorious in its race with three other schools. However, the one-lap quartet lost due to unfavorable conditions.

February 15 — Watertown played its last game of the season on the home floor, bumping Norwood 21-18. Bob O'Brien led the way for the locals.

February 15 — In closing the basketball season, the girls journeyed to Newton to play interclass games. The Juniors defeated their opponents by a 28-10 score. The Seniors were defeated by a 23-18 score, while the Middlers were defeated by a score of 16-19.

February 18 — The basketball team rang down the curtain on its season at North Quincy and was presented with a 20-9 loss.

February 26 — At the State Meet in the Boston Garden, the track team failed to score in its class B competition. Al Murphy showed up well, winning his heat in the 300.

April 14 — The baseball team opened its season at Victory Field, trouncing Reading 11-1. Fran Nagle started on the mound and pitched fine ball, while Lefty Lavrakas provided the offensive punch.

April 18 — The golf team opened its schedule at Oakley, by whipping Brighton, 7-2. The teams of Zaven Astor, Dick Capen, Red White, and Joe Leary were credited with three points each.

April 20 — The track team dropped its first contest of the outdoor season, to Huntington, 44-38 at Victory Field. Vahan Khorigian won the 100 and 220, to turn in ten points for the locals.

April 20 — The big bat of “Skee” Khederian and the air-tight relief pitching of Frank McHugh were main factors in Watertown’s 5-4 triumph over B. C. High at Victory Field.

April 22 — The golfers received a 6-3 setback at the hands of Arlington at Oakley.

April 29 — The baseball team rode to victory on the wings of a two-run triple by Jeff Kurkjian, to whitewash Reading, 3-0.

May 2 — The Watertown golfers nosed out the Waltham outfit, 5-4, on the latter’s course.
May 3 — The tracksters were on the short end of a 51–31 score at Norwood. Ed Larkin and Gus Juskalian, captured first in the broad jump and shot put, respectively.

May 3 — The tennis team trounced Lexington, 44, in the season’s opener at Victory Field.

May 5 — The Melrose tennis exponents pinned a 3–2 defeat on Watertown at Melrose.

May 6 — The golf team played Newton to a 4½–4½ tie at Oakley. The twosome of Paul Leary and Zaven Astor contributed two points for the local cause.

May 6 — In the first contest of its kind in this vicinity, the track team soundly trounced Auburn, N. Y. 46–16. Intersquad meets were held in each locality and the times forwarded by telegram.

EXPERIENCE
BEST TEACHER

Ask any successful business man and he will tell you that he has learned by experience that the only sure way to have money is to save it. And the way to save it is to have a plan and follow it systematically. This bank offers a plan which has stood the test for fifty years. There is none better. Save from $1 to $40 per month and in a few years you will have money to avail yourself of opportunities. You will be surprised to see how fast your savings grow by the addition of quarterly dividends.

- Begin with a few Monthly Saving Shares and add to them as fast as you are able.
