High School
DEDICATION

To MR. A. ROBERT KELMAN

whose understanding of the student viewpoint, unfailing good nature, sympathetic attitude, progressive spirit, democratic ideals, and widespread interests have won for him the admiration and respect of the senior class, we dedicate this, the 1940 Annual.
FOREWORD

It is with the sincere hope that its work has been successful, that the Annual Staff submits to the class of 1940 the fourteenth volume of the Senior Class Year Book, expressing, at the same time, its appreciation to all of the faculty and student body who aided in its publication. Now and in the years to come, may the Annual afford you pleasure by bringing to mind memories of school days and school companions.
FAREWELL TO THE CLASS OF 1940

It is with sincere regret that we approach the end of the school year and the close of the activities of the Class of 1940. Three years at Watertown High School have brought to the Class and to the School many enjoyable occasions, much hard work, and steady progress toward that much cherished and ever desirable educational goal. The Class has been a distinct credit to the forward progress of Watertown High School and under the leadership of 1940 the glorious traditions of the past as well as many new accomplishments have been admirably cared for and carried on. In the classroom and in all the fields of extra-curricular work our present Seniors may well be proud of high achievement. Keep up the good work and continue in fields of higher endeavor in years to come. Ever hold in mind that what we do as graduates reflects on our school training. We confidently expect to hear good things about you, and we hope that your recollections of your school experiences at Watertown High School will be most pleasant ones. Farewell but not good-bye.

SILLY SOPHOMORES

In September 1937, a group of bewildered, awed, and thoughtful youngsters tip-toed into the hallowed halls of Watertown Senior High School — The Class of 1940.

The first few weeks were spent in becoming acquainted with the various landmarks of the building. We recognized Discobolus, the athletic gentleman who always threatened to hurl a dinner plate at the unsuspecting bobbing heads of the students clattering up Stairway C; and then there was the figure of Winged Mercury, a warning to all those who dashed thoughtlessly through the corridors.

Evidently we did not find it hard to adjust ourselves to the conditions and laws of the school, for the first few weeks swept along with remarkably little friction. Fewer of us than the usual had been reported lost in the green forest of locker rooms. Very few indeed had to be rescued from the mysterious dimness of the furnace room, and even fewer had shown various symptoms of extreme shyness and painful bashfulness. There was no getting around it — we were a wonderful class!

As a final method of becoming acquainted, we elected our class officers under the guidance of Miss Madeleine O'Brien, our sophomore class advisor. After much campaigning and soap-box orating by the candidates, the final ballots showed Robert Carlstrom, President; George Yankowski, Vice-President; Maryrose Drummey, Secretary; Ralph Andrews, Treasurer; Audrey Ajemian, Alice Sullivan and Eddie Juliano, Executive Committee.

As had been the custom in the previous years we held the traditional Sophomore Party. Providing enjoyable entertainment were such now famous artists as Harry Zaratzian, Carl Bingham, Martha Peyton, Beatrice Caragulian, Dorothy Snow, Aznav Samuelian, and Thurman Woodbury.

In January, Mr. R. Glenn Smith organized a group of forty odd prominent sophomores to supervise in maintaining an atmosphere of peace in the cafeteria.

Even as sophomores, the now famous names of George Yankowski, Mike Calden, and Billy Shannon shone in all branches of sports.

We left in June assured that we had spent an enjoyable and successful year.

JOVIAL JUNIORS

In September 1938, a group of confident, promising and enterprising boys and girls trooped into the familiar halls of Watertown Senior High School. Our first activity of the year was to elect our class officers under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Denning and Mr. Thomas O’Brien, our Junior year advisors. After much re-voting, the class chose George Yankowski, President; David Farrell, Vice-President; Maryrose Drummey, Secretary; Ralph Andrews, Treasurer; Audrey Ajemian, Dotty Benson, and Eddie Juliano, Executive Committee.

The operetta, “Pinafore,” by Gilbert and Sullivan was given for the All-School Night production. Singing in the chorus were noticed Ruth Allen, Helen Field, Grace Scanlon, Fred Christensen, and Harry Keshishian.

To show the school what the Juniors could do in the field of the legitimate stage we gave as our chief activity of the year a comedy in three acts entitled, “The Youngest” coached by Mr. George Slamin. Who can forget the outstanding performances given by Dick Payne, Bob MacKay, Maryrose Drummey, Ralph Andrews, Rosamond Gethro, William Hill, Lucille Donnelly, Connie Courtois, and Dotty Gibson?

We proved our scholastic, as well as our dramatic ability, when twenty members of the class were elected to the National Honor Society.

The annual event of Sports Night, in the form of an amateur show, brought forth many talented Juniors. Dancing and singing were Martha Peyton, Anna Ambrose, Phil Riehl, Lois McMahon, and Audrey Ajemian.

Our athletic record was one to be proud of with such stars as George Yankowski, Billy Shannon, Bob Kellett, Mike Calden, Paul Zappula, and Ernie Mannino in the limelight.

Again we left, to return in the fall.

AND NOW WE ARE SENIORS

In September 1939, a group of dignified, poised, and capable young men and women sauntered into Watertown Senior High School. It was great to be seniors and we surely took advantage of the fact.

After all the vacation memories had been discussed, we settled down to the more serious business of selecting our Senior year class officers. After days of voting and re-voting on the results, we found we had selected George Yankowski, President; Ernie Mannino, Vice-President; Selma Strandberg, Secretary; Ralph Andrews, Treasurer; Audrey Ajemian, Dotty Benson and Eddie Juliano, Executive Committee.

We were very much disappointed to say good bye to Mr. Thomas O’Brien, who had been our class advisor; but were equally pleased to accept as our counselors for our third and most important year, Mr. T. Donald Robinson, Miss Sara D. Abbott, and Miss Rose Smith.

For the All-School-Night production, Victor Herbert’s “Red Mill” was given to three nights of appreciative audiences. We applauded the performances of our talented class members among whom were Fred Christensen, Carl Bigham, Theodore Magoun, Ellen Lynch, and Lillian Krikorian.

The Senior Play was next to be put forth by our illustrious upper-classmen. With the coaching of Mrs. Ruth Hawthorne, "Bachelor Born" was presented and enjoyed. We will always remember the performances given by Fred Christensen, Helen Wood, Ruth Norcross, Bill Lalley, Connie Courtois, Phyl Baker, John Flynn, Joe Dec, Francis Pratt, Walter Coyle, Ed Geary, GordonSellon, Kay Duff, and Edith Farwell.

As the year progressed, so did our sport's record; on the football field we came through with flying colors overcoming our old rival, Belmont, by a score of 25 to 7. Making this wonderful feat possible were such capable senior athletes as "Chick" Sperandio, Bob Kellett, Arthur Nelson, Bill Kearns, George Ruggerio, and Ernie Mannino.

As spring neared, the time came for the selecting of Senior Committees. The capable Bob Hatch was chosen editor of the Annual with genial Ralph Andrews as assisting editor. Helen Field was elected by popular vote the school's best citizen. In April Rosamond Gethro and Helen Field were appointed to share honors as our Valedictorian and Salutatorian and Helen Tripp as our Class Poet.

Another of the school's traditions, "Freak Day," was heartily enjoyed by all and an antidote for anyone's blues. Among the freaks in gala array were Bill Shannon, Ernie Mannino, Bill Kearns, Norman Sjostedt, Emmett Ryan and Bob Verdi as "girls," Ruthie Farrenkopf as Pocahontas, "Wink" Gregware as a dashing figure in a uniform, Gordon Sellon as "The Ghost of Smoky Joe," Alice Stone as a woman of the gay nineties, Johnnie Richardson and Bob MacKay as the nightgown-clad men looking for the honest man, Marjorie Barker as a school boy, Ray Fletcher as a Hobo, Ellen Lynch as a shiek, Benedetto Fabrizi, Harry Zaratzian and John Markarian as Italian Street Singers, Franklin Jones as "Frankenstein," Vincent Cahill as "the Spirit of 1940," Bob Hatch as an Indian, and Nancy Jordan and Isabel Howe as two colored mammys taking in washing.

Despite all these gay times throughout the year we often observed a wistful expression on a usually sophisticated senior countenance as graduation approached and the time drew near when we should part. Our days at Watertown High School have been ones that we can look back upon with pleasant and fond memories.

Respectfully submitted,

SELMA STRANDBERG, Secretary
CLASS POEM

We, the class of nineteen forty,
Coming soon to parting ways,
Salute thee now, dear Alma Mater,
Gratefully with song and praise.

Twelve long years we've struggled onward;
Now this time seems all too brief.
Memories linger with us always
Of our happiness and grief.

Thanks are due to all the teachers;
Grateful are we for their aid
Given freely, and we pray now
That their pains will be repaid.

Lasting friendships have we made here;
Happy hours have flown too fast.
Now we tarry on the threshold
Of the future and the past.

Pledge we now to uphold ever
Codes of honor taught us here;
Keep thy banners flying proudly
With a loyalty sincere.

Like this ivy we now plant
Let us also climb on high,
Let us through our earnest efforts
Do our best in all we try.

Onward, upward, forward, ever;
Worthy of thy name we'll be;
At our parting this, our promise,
Alma Mater dear, to thee.

CLASS PROPHECY

Our scene, gentle readers, is laid in the house half-way up the next block, or, to you less learned people, the maison de Maryrose Drummey; whereas, to wit, and wherein we find namely: Miles Duff, Sullivan, and Drummey strumming on the counter and drinking some delicious Tenderleaf Tea (plug).

This is the tenth anniversary of the "Get Together Gossip Club" which, as you will all remember, was formed the year that the illustrious members of the class of 1940 were graduated from the hallowed halls of Watertown High School. (rah! rah! rah!) After the usual desultory gossip has been exhausted, the group turns their attention to the fact that just ten years previous the members had turned the tassels on their mortar boards.

A retrospective silence settled down on this little group. Memories of school life, labors, and loves rose up vividly before them.

"Say girls," interrupted Kay, "wouldn't it be smooth if we could take a look into the lives of all the old gang?"

"That really would be grand," chorused Alice and Maryrose enthusiastically, "but how to do it in one short afternoon?"

Pause! Thought! Brainstorm!

"I've got it," screamed Drummey—tossing her flowered apron into the air. "Alice, you run down to John Flynn's laboratory and see if we can borrow his television set."

With a splattering of lipstick and a slick of a comb Alice started out to bring back the set. In the hall she neatly side-stepped Nancy Jordan with a 1-2-3-4 play inherited from her illustrious father, and the door handle left Sally Strandberg with an eye ripe for a beef steak—needless to say, long-suffering readers, this pair were continuing their "Whinchelling Around" for "The East Overshoe Gazette" edited by that famous journalist and critic, Thelma Thompson, and that widely-known adventurer and author of "Around the World On A Raft," Bob Morgan.

The door opened! Who was it? Could it be the shadow? "Welcome Johnny Cram, come in and join the girls and help Alice in with that television," called Kay. Johnny slid through the door, dropped the set — on a table, and crept into a chair.

With much roaring and flashing, the televisor finally "swung" into action. It stopped! A picture flashed on the screen! Eager eyes turned toward it! A fashion show was in progress!

Piroueting gracefully across the raised platform were four of New York's most photographed models. Representing Saks Fifth Avenue — Miss Edith Farwell, modeling the latest in women's lingerie; from Best's — Miss Claire Riccio known as New York's "petite modele divine;" Bonwit-Teller's offering Miss Virginia Olsen in their latest cellophane evening gowns; and Miss Lucille Donnelly giving her best for Peck & Peck's newest Paris models.
These visions dimmed, and disappeared into oblivion to be replaced by a more rugged and noisesome scene. 'Twas the opening game of the Aquaville Association's Football Team. Through the public address system the announcer was giving the line-ups for the day. As the girls listened, they heard some familiar names.

Through the loud speaker the sounds of male conviviality assailed the listening ears, and before the girls rose a picture of a chrome and black bachelors' apartment, where they found Ernie "Jap" Mannino butlering for the owners, the Messrs. Dick Payne and Myles Lamson, who were at the moment, entertaining, in their inimitable manner Chief George Hoyt of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who was industriously searching through the record files for his ever-favorite tune, "Until the 'Riehl' Thing Comes Along." Lounging in a corner was New York's one and only Glamour Boy (who couldn't quite make good) — Mrs. Kearns' big boy "Wee Willie," sipping a long cool drink from an amber-colored glass and looking at a new album of gorgeous sketches — creations of Franklin Jones, latest successor to George Petty."

Quite suddenly this group of superb males decided they would seek excitement elsewhere. As they crowded into the elevator, they rubbed elbows with the gentleman who had been chosen one of the years best dressed men — none other than Joseph Dee, who seemed to be talking garrulously about the new fall styles with the olive-drab, uniformed elevator boy, Fred Arenstrup. Crossing the lobby, they spotted in a corner Helen Saunders and Livingstone Munroe, internationally known mixed-doubles tennis partners who were giving their initial exhibition match under the personal management of that enterprising executive, Edward Juliano. The doorman, obsequious Edward Mullin, smilingly opened the door and ushered them to the street where he whistled shrilly for a passing cab. With a scream of brakes jovial Francis Fantasia ground his Independent Cab to the curb and greeted his not-too-old classmates with a "Where to my lad?" "The Platinum Roof, and don't conserve on carbon," came the answer.

The cab shot from the curb and out of the range of the televi or, leaving the girls madly adjusting the dials to establish contact with the errant playboys. By the time they had located the party it was nonchalantly following head waiter Vincent Surabian to a secluded table. With a moan from J. C. Takviron's super-hot trombone, and some choice chords from the piano, Monte Morroco and his Milk-Bottle-Five swung into action. The floor show had started. After the usual opening patter by Fred Devenny, the genial master of ceremonies, the feature attractions of the evening started and in the spotlight they saw Vaughn Jensen and John Richardson, popular instructors at Arthur Murray's, doing an exhibition dance — slow, graceful, and breathtaking. After an enthusiastic round of applause the spotlight found and held none other than Edgar Bergen. But who's that on his knee? Why that's not Charlie McCarthy — it's none other than diminutive Bill Lalley! Vociferous laughter marked the end of the well-known ventriloquists routine, and the band speeded up the tempo as Mary Degnan and Carl Bigham tapped onto the polished floor in a novel and sparkling dance. From the side-lines photographer Walter Coyle was industriously snapping flashlight pictures of his famous wife and her partner for "Photog" the weekly picture magazine edited by Fred Bird. A tumultuous ovation greeted the finale of the floor show — the spotlight dimmed in favor of the soft, indirect lighting system recently perfected by Augustine Neshe head technician at the "Let There Be Light and There Was Co." After a lengthy hush the sound of "Cigars, cigarettes and gardenias" cut through the blue haze of the room and Lucy Romard, the Platinum Roof's indispensable cigarette girl approached a table of four. Smilingly she greeted William.
Shannon, ace hockey player for the Bruins, and his charming wife, the former Betty Kinder, accompanied by Jean Dexter who had just recently become a nonentity among the Smiths in the telephone book. Upon request Lucy pointed out to the Shannon-Smith party various celebrities among the evenings guests. She noted for their benefit, a group of well-known career women that was congregated at an adjoining table. (From Pacific came Miss Constance Courtois, successful buyer for Schiaparelli's, and at her right sat Miss Phyllis Riehl, celebrated artist and sculptress who was studying under Gutzon Borglum, and directly opposite they saw Miss Mary K. Brown, who was enjoying a respite from her exclusive ski-training school high in the snowy Alps and who was holding a heated discussion on "What To Do" and "How To Do It" with Miss Ellen Lynch who was completing her Latest Book on etiquette.) Their attention was diverted by the entrance of handsome Malcolm Cate who, still ignoring offers from Hollywood, was in the big city investigating a new type of reaper for his Kanbraska farm and was week-ending at the home of Normie Rice and the former Mary Malloy who were escorting him on his night club escapade. On the way to their table they greeted Ruth Norcross who was accompanying her husband on his presidential good-will tour. A call for the cigarette girl interrupted her celebrity-spotting and as she wended her way among the closely-grouped tables the heavy smoke dimmed her retreating figure until it and the "Platinum Roof's" décor disappeared entirely from sight.

Silently and pensively Johnny and the girls waited for the televiser to seek new vistas. While they were thus wool-gathering, the strains of a symphony permeated and complemented their mood. The diamond bedecked tiers of the Metropolitan Opera House sparkled upon the screen and the televiser gave a panorama of the celebrity-filled auditorium. Seated at the twin grand pianos, their fingers racing madly across the gleaming ivory keys in crescendo upon crescendo, were those masters of the music world, Louise Vosgerchian and John Markarian, uniting their innate abilities to bring to their eager public the measured cadences of the "New Symphonie Americaine" composed by that virtuoso of the violin, Mr. Harry Zaratzian. After the orchestra and the soloists had received the heart-felt tribute of the audience, the crowd thronged into the lobby. There the girls picked out many familiar faces above spotless linen or ravishing gown. Setting off to perfection her glamorous beauty with a shining silver tiara, was Miss Rosamond Gethro, popular Editor of Harpers Bazaar, accompanied by the recent Nobel Prize Winner, Miss Helen Field who had gained this distinction by virtue of her meritorious work in the field of English Literature. Escorting them were the Messrs. Fred Christensen and Ray Fletcher, the former the noted lyric tenor of radio, stage, and screen; the latter a socially prominent Wall Street broker. Near by, nonchalantly brushing a bit of non-existent dust from the shoulder of his impeccable tailored dinner jacket was Professor Robert L. Hatch, Ph.D., L.L.D., L.H.D. and W.P.A. At his heels taking copious notes for the professor's new book "Psychological Reactions to Music" trotted Mary Hovnanian his incomparable private secretary. Standing in one corner of the crowded lobby hastily putting on their respective coats stood noted Free Thinker, Bob Carlstrom, and the multi-millionaire milk magnate, Ralph Andrews. Through the modern glass doors the televiser picked up the images of the Reverend Charles Abram Kellog Griffith, nationally-known itinerant minister-lecturer, who was solicitously maneuvering his wife, the former Ruby Lush, into a waiting taxi. The revolving door vomited the throng onto the sidewalk and with a whirl of the doors these select individuals became nonentities in the cluttered street. The lights in the building flickered, dimmed and went out leaving only a shadowed bulk on the silver television screen.

The watching group relaxed as Johnny spun the bakelite dials in search of new scenes and personalities. A glittering theater sign flashed before their eager eyes. Large neon lights featured:
Inside, the crowd of saurine First-Nighters filled the air with their before-curtain-time chatter. Among the shining dilettantes were Senator George Yankowski and his lovely wife, the former Gerry Molito, discussing the play’s possibilities with stage architect Shahan Balian and Mary McHugh who had gained national prominence by becoming “The Toothpaste Girl” for Durpos (not a cavity in a carload) Dentifrice. In another little clique were famed dietician, Miss Isabelle Howe, the Misses Anna and Emily Raczkowski, co-directors of their own Scientific “Slimming Salon” patronized by such people as Miss Hope Wheeler, wife of a prominent local laundryman; Miss Helen Tripp, noted women’s sport scribe for the Evening Blah; Miss Audrey Ajemian prominent states woman recently elected to the President’s Cabinet in the capacity of Secretary of Labor; Miss Dorothy Gibson, personal camp directress of her own private camp “situated far from the madding crowd in the invigorating surroundings of the Berkshire Mountains;” Miss Marjorie Barker, sweet and demure “Cover Girl” for “Mother’s Little Helper” Magazine; Miss Ruth Farrenkopf, medical secretary to Dr. Emmett Ryan, noted physician of the socialites; and Miss Jennie Argento, who, following in Clara Barton’s footsteps, was doing a yeoman’s job in aiding the sick and under-privileged overseas.

Debonair David Farrell was noted squiring his beautiful blondfrau, the former Dorothy Benson, to a first row Orchestra seat. Dave had made quite a name for himself as a roving reporter on one of the largest international daily newspapers while his charming wife rotated between housewifely duties and Jackson Alumnae Socials. As the call, “Curtain Going Up” rang from the lips of usher Ed Geary, a familiar figure catapulted down the aisle and planted itself firmly in a convenient seat. The girls looked closer and sure enough it was Psychologist Theodore Magoun stealing a moment away from his rigorous research into the fastnesses of the human mind to enjoy himself for a change.

The dimming of the house lights left no further possibilities for the searching gaze of the televisor and the girls moved to disconnect the instrument. But wait! A flickering on the screen gave evidence that here was to be a grand finale to the girl’s afternoon travels. What ho! A street scene! Under the baleful glow of a street light Patrolman “Truck” Pratt was trying desperately to quiet The Menton Twins, James and Thomas, who, gesticulating aggressively, were noisily disputing each other’s claims to a mysterious and desirable tract of well-trodden land somewhere in the vicinity of the great Watch City still known to a few but remembered by many as The Race Track. Fade-out!

The Cum Laude chapter of Watertown Senior High School received its charter in 1921. This highest of honor societies has been very active in promoting higher scholarship in the school. Every year the members are selected from among the highest ranking Seniors of the College Course. The greatest honor that can be earned while in High School is the privilege of becoming members of Cum Laude.

High scholastic rating in the classes is encouraged by the competition among the classes each term for the honor of winning the Cum Laude trophy. The trophy donated a year ago is engraved with the winning class name on the respective column.

Headed by faculty officers, this organization for the past few years has been sponsoring an annual bridge party in order to raise a scholarship fund. The induction of new members into Cum Laude is always a great day. Congratulations to active seniors whose scholastic records have made them deserving of this recognition.

The National Honor Society, founded by the National Society of Secondary Principals in 1921, has for its purpose the fostering of high ideals as well as the encouragement of scholastic attainment. More than two thousand leading schools of the nation are represented in this society. Watertown High was granted its charter as the Saltonstall Chapter, No. 1930 on May 20, 1937.

Membership in this society is granted to students who show outstanding qualities in character, service, leadership, and scholarship — the four cardinal principles to which the organization is dedicated. However, membership is limited to fifteen per cent of the senior class and five per cent of the junior class.

This year was the first year that the society, still being comparatively new, felt able to undertake any project for the benefit of the school. This was in the form of a handbook containing information concerning all phases of school life. The publication of such a book involved a great deal of work on the part of Society members but it was finally put on sale in May.

The formal induction for the sixty-three newly-elected members took place on April 2, 1940.

The class of 1941 has had many opportunities to demonstrate its ability in various school activities.

This year our boys have had a very successful season in sports. Rating highest in football were "Lucky" Zissus, Victor Palladino, and William Boyce. In baseball Jack McKeever and Robert Johnson were the outstanding players. Altogether the Juniors were well represented in all fields of sport.

The outstanding scholars of the Juniors are Mimi Chamian, Shirley Porteus, and Florette Sanders.

In "The Red Mill," one of the finest stage performances of the year, three Juniors, Eileen Boone, Beatrice Altema, and Ray Ballantine shared honors. In dramatics, the Juniors had a chance to show their talent in the production "The Goose Hangs High." The leads were well played by Ronald Davis, Ruth Fifield, and Charles Ellis, assisted by a capable cast of ten others.

With such talented members, the class of 1941 looks forward to a successful senior year.
Annual 1940

Sophomores
The class of 1942, although it has not had much opportunity to display its abilities, looks forward to a promising future.

In the field of athletics Rudy Iodice has been outstanding, earning commendation in football, basketball, and baseball. Jack Sheehan and Larry Chick were prominent members of the track team. On the tennis courts Rudy Antonio, Robert Rich, and Betty Cate led their class.

The class has had only one social event, the class banquet, a new venture for the sophomores. There were short speeches by Mr. Archibald, George Yankowski, president of the senior class, and Miss O’Brien and Mr. Kenney. Entertainment was supplied by many talented tenth graders. A good time was enjoyed by all who attended.

The class scholars are Barbara Clarke, Alice Sampson, both of whom made the super-honor roll, Margaret Ross, and Victoria Sarkisian.

Among the musicians we notice particularly Creighton Hoyt’s fine piano playing and Dick Helms’ singing.

The class promises to have very successful junior and senior years.
The Aero Club has been organized under the sponsorship of Mr. Hugh Eisenhower for many years. The purpose of the club is to obtain further knowledge in the field of aviation. Seriously air-minded pupils meet during the club period and discuss the various problems that may occur during the week.

The principal club activities are to visit different airports, construct model planes, sponsor model meets for members, and, whenever possible, to visit and inspect the leading factories manufacturing aeroplanes.

During the year the club made an interesting trip to the airport in East Boston. Other visits included, first, the New England Aircraft School and later the National Guard Building where army bombers, radio rooms, photographic research, and other interesting subjects were shown.

The rules and regulations of the club are as follows:

1. Members must have a serious interest in aviation.
2. Members are to do their best in making model planes.
3. Members must attend a majority of the club meets.

The limited enrollment of the club was twenty members; however, when the school included more boys and girls interested in aviation, the enrollment became twenty-five.
The Watertown High Band, one of the most active organizations in the school, is composed of about sixty members under the direction of Mr. Arnold L. Chick. Most of the credit for this comparatively small band's success goes to Mr. Chick, for it is through his excellent leadership that the band has come to be numbered among the finest in the state.

This organization began its services to the school early in the fall by furnishing music during the football contests, and continued these services by playing its skilled renditions of semi-classical and modern compositions at many school assemblies. On January fifth the combined American Legion and High School Bands presented their annual concert. Swing was introduced to this concert for the first time with special renditions of such songs as "Sugar Blues," "Hot Lips," and "Nola." A collection of Victor Herbert songs from "Red Mill" was also played. The Watertown Junior High School Band, playing in public for the first time, as well as the newly organized Glee Club, were also featured at this affair and both did an excellent piece of work. The year's efforts were climaxed at the New England Music Festival at Lawrence, Massachusetts. The band also played at Watertown's Industrial Fair held in March, and completed the year's activities by providing music for the graduation exercises.

The band is particularly indebted to Mr. Chick whose efforts and willing co-operation are reflected in the innumerable successful performances. A vote of thanks is also due to the Watertown Legion Band for gladly offering its assistance each year for the combined Legion-High School band concert. The Band, itself, deserves much commendation for its many splendid services to the school.

Mr. John F. Craig has always assumed the trials and tribulations of publishing Watertown High's bi-weekly publication, "The Bulletin." This year he welcomed as a co-advisor to share his troubles, Miss Elizabeth Desmond formerly of Abington High School.

Many improvements were added to the "Bulletin," chiefly through the efforts of its lively staff. Several new features were introduced, ("Personality Previews," "Platter Patter," "For Men Only," etc.) and other annual features were given a new coat of paint, so to speak, to make them even more enjoyable.

In January, five members of the staff were sent to the second annual Eastern Massachusetts Scholastic Press Conference at Northeastern University. Watertown High was honored in having two members of its staff elected to the executive board, Mr. Craig as faculty treasurer, and Harlan Haag's student treasurer. This is conference similar to the National Conference held at Columbia University in March. The "Bulletin" delegates to this convention for the year 1939-1940 were: Helen Field, Rosamond Gethro, the co-editors, and Sally Strandberg and Nancy Jordan, writers of that newswrap gossip column, "Here and There."

In February the "Bulletin" sponsored a novel affair, "The Plaid Prance," which was highly successful.

The "Bulletin" staff is to be congratulated for consistently publishing a fine bi-weekly of which the school may well be proud.
For many years the Camera Club under the sponsorship of Miss Helen A. Thayer has been one of the most outstanding and useful clubs in the school.

The purpose of this club is to promote understanding of, and to develop skill in, the various phases of photography.

The activities of the club consist largely of developing and printing films, enlarging, copying, and color developing and printing. Each day certain members of the club spend many interesting hours in the Camera Club's "dark room" working on what they are most interested in.

Each year the club takes pictures of other clubs and societies in the school for The Bulletin and the Annual. This task is begun at the beginning of the year.

Several members of the club are especially interested in candid cameras and candid work. The candid pictures taken in school are usually used in the Bulletin.

The club enters each year an exhibition at Northeastern University where it competes with other High School Camera Clubs.
Under the able direction of Miss Madeline O’Brien, the Chemistry Club enjoyed a very successful year. Composed of students having at least a half year of chemistry, this club affords its members the opportunity of continuing laboratory experiments.

Perhaps one of the hardest experiments was the liquefying and sealing of ammonia, a process which was carried to a successful completion by Harry Zaratzian and Benedetto Fabrizi. These two boys also liquefied and sealed sulphur dioxide, and made an ammonia fountain. Another experiment watched with interest was the growing of begonias in chemical solution without soil by Helen Tripp and Jennie Argento. Raymond Langevin extracted oil of cloves by steam distillation and silvered glass, while Alanson Platt and Livingston Monroe worked on the analysis of dyes and made Wood’s metal. The distillation of water, manufacture of dry ice, and deoxidization of metal oxides were carried on by Kenneth Kazanjian and Arthur Ayvazian. Sheldon Ananian and Joseph Gayzagian determined the amount of silver in a dime, and made phosphine; Ophair Caras showed the replacement series of the halogen family. Rose’s metal was made by Stephen Lopez and William Lowney, while steam was reduced to hydrogen over hot iron by Shahan Balian and Harry Keshishian. Nitrous oxide was produced by John Richards, and glass bending was demonstrated by Richard Gregory.

The club enjoyed a trip to Lever Brothers, well-known soap manufacturers, where it was conducted through the plant, and was shown the process of making various kinds of soaps. A surprise in the form of a box of samples was presented to each member as he left.

On Parents’ Night the club put on interesting displays to present a cross-section of the work accomplished by its members.
The purpose of the Debating Society is to prepare students to think clearly, reason cogently, speak forcefully, and learn to take part in public discussions and debates. This year marked the fourth successful year of the society under the able direction of Mr. Elisha B. Chrakian.

The official subject for discussion for high schools in the entire country was "Resolved: That the Federal Government should own and operate the railroads." Debates on this subject were held with such neighboring schools as Belmont, Cambridge, Newton, and Somerville. Discussions were also held among members during the club hour on Friday and also after school.

A large portion of the student body attended the lectures given by Mr. Chrakian on Parliamentary Procedure. These lectures were sponsored by the Debating Society along with the Student Council and were open, with some minor restriction, to all students. Medals were presented at the end of the year to a few members for outstanding achievement.

In February, Charles A. K. Griffith was the winner in the American Legion District Oratorical Contest but was later defeated in the county contest.

Beginning next year, the Debating Society will stress equally the importance of parliamentary rules of procedure, public speaking, and methods of discussion and debate.
CLASS PLAY

On Friday evening, February 2, 1940, the Senior Class presented "Bachelor Born," a three-act comedy by Ian Hay. The five weeks of hard work put into the production by the cast, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Hawthorne, resulted in a highly successful performance which provided a hilarious evening for a good-sized audience. The many mix-ups brought about when three beautiful girls invade a boy's private school in merry old England can better be imagined than described. The leading roles were taken by Helen Wood as the sophisticated Barbara Fane and Fred Christensen as the beloved house-master, Charles Donkin. Phyllis Baker, Ruth Norcross, and Constance Courtois supported them as the three fair intruders of this bachelors' sanctum. Not to be forgotten are Ruth Norcross and William Lalley as the Faringdon twins whose pranks brought many a good laugh to the audience during the course of the evening. The cast was as follows:

The Glee Club has to its credit another year of being one of the most talented and also most popular groups of the school. This year the Club was under the direction of Miss Jessie P. Drew who is also in charge of the Girls' Chorus. (This is a newly organized group made up entirely of Sophomore girls)

The club held two weekly rehearsals this year in order that more might be accomplished, and also made several public appearances at which the varied numbers demonstrated the versatility of the group. Their singing was featured at the annual combined concert of the American Legion and High School Bands and also at Parent-Teachers' Night. Its members formed a large percentage of those who took part in the All School Night production of "Red Mill." The chorus also, as has been the custom in the past, sang several selections at the graduation exercises.

Under Miss Drew's direction, the Glee Club's purpose of providing its members the opportunity to enjoy group singing, both in parts and unison, to learn to follow a leader, and to receive experience from public appearances, has been capably and successfully carried out.
HI-Y

RICHARD PAYNE  .       . President
FREDERICK CHRISTENSEN  . Vice-President
MYLES LAMSON         . Secretary
JOHN RICHARDSON      . World Brotherhood Secretary

The purpose of the Watertown Hi-Y is to "create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian living." This year, as in several previous years, the club sponsored the annual "Victory Dance," part of the proceeds of which were used in distributing baskets to needy Watertown families at Christmas time and also to aid the Community Fund.

The meetings are held each Wednesday evening at 7 P.M. in the Newton Y.M.C.A. The dues are ten cents per week. These meetings are planned beforehand so that speakers may be obtained without difficulty, and that these meetings may be spent to the best advantage of the club.

To apply for membership, the applicant fills out an application, which he has obtained from the vice-president and returns it to the vice-president. Each application must be approved by the principal of the high school before the applicant is considered by the club. The club then votes on the applicant and if he does not receive more than four negative votes, he becomes a member. The club tries to admit only those boys with sufficient high character to live up to the rules and regulations of the club.
HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Florence Richardson .............................................. President
Annette Torelli ........................................................ Secretary
Felicia Sallesa .......................................................... Treasurer

The Home Economics Club was organized for the purpose of giving practice in parliamentary procedure, of providing opportunity for experience in carrying responsibility, of stimulating interest in home activities and special hobbies, and of promoting pleasant, wholesome social affairs.

The club periods on Friday were spent doing handiwork which included the crocheting of various articles, and the making of babushkas.

The girls have established the custom of serving tea to the teachers at each marking period throughout the year and also that of preparing the annual banquet for the field hockey girls. The latter is a tremendous undertaking as food must be prepared for at least fifty girls. It is at this time especially that club members have shown that they are able to carry out one of the purposes of the club, to carry responsibility.

The Home Economics girls also made the tulips that were used in the All School Night production "Red Mill," gave a Christmas basket to a needy family, went to Mrs. Archibald's home for tea, and attended the Flower Show in Boston.

The sponsor of this active organization is Miss Freda J. Randall. Under her capable guidance the purposes of the club were successfully carried out, and a great many services rendered the school.
The purpose of this popular club sponsored by Mr. A. Robert Kelman is to assist in school activities and to promote interest in civic institutions.

The year 1939-1940 marked the tenth birthday of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and also the tenth year that the Chamber has been numbered among the outstanding clubs in the school. This anniversary was celebrated on April 18th by a banquet to which all officers of previous years were invited.

This year the meetings featured many outstanding speakers. Notable among these were: Miss Katharine Bacon, principal of the Woodward Institute for Girls, who read a fascinating description of South America “as she saw it;” Mr. E. P. Gates, world-traveller from Belmont, who told “what is right with the world;” Mr. Thomas Vahey, whose subject was “Professional Politicians;” Mrs. Ella Yatsevitch, who thrilled club members with an interesting description of her homeland, Russia; and Miss Katharine Lawrence, news-reporter and interviewer, who told about meeting and interviewing various celebrities.

The Chamber also contributed two complete baskets to two needy families in the town at Thanksgiving time. At Christmas a lively party was held in the school for all members.

Many of the boys and girls acted as ushers for Parent-Teachers’ night.

On trophy day the club gave a trophy to the Senior girl with the most outstanding personality, and one to the corresponding Senior boy.

In June the Senior members had their annual outing.
The purpose of this girls' club, under the direction of Miss Marion E. Sweet, is to promote an interest in knitting, to teach the fundamental principles, and to make useful wearing apparel.

The Knitting Club's popularity is illustrated by its doubled enrollment, from about forty girls last year to approximately eighty this year. This enlarged membership has made it necessary to occupy two rooms during the club period. Miss Sweet is in charge of one while her assistant, Mildred Goss, supervises the girls in the other. By popular vote Helen Saunders and Helen Pappas were made room chairmen.

During the year each member completed two sweaters or the equivalent. Some other garments popular among the girls are suits, dresses, hats, bed jackets, mittens, and scarfs. Sweaters were also made for the soldiers and sent to the Red Cross for distribution.

The growing interest in knitting in the high school is shown by the continual effort of girls to gain admission into this club. Miss Sweet, its enthusiastic sponsor, is to be credited for the numerous and successful activities and popularity of the Knitting Club.
LIBRARY CLUB

GEORGE YANKOWSKI ............................. President
VICTOR PALLADINO ............................. Vice-President
VIRGINIA OLSON ............................... Secretary
CARL BIGHAM ................................. Treasurer

For many years the Library Club under the guidance of the school librarian, Miss Johnson, has been one of the most active organizations in the school. The club sponsors many activities to raise money for the purchase of new books, it offers its members an insight into library work as a profession by allowing them to participate in the work of the library, and it aids them in developing an appreciation for good books and magazines.

The informal dance held by the club on December 15, 1939, was much enjoyed. During the football and basketball seasons, the club members sold candy at the games in an effort to increase their funds. At the Thanksgiving Day game, they sold programs, also. For the Friday meetings an outside speaker was often procured from the staff of the Watertown Public Library or from nearby towns. Club periods were also given over to doing technical library work. The club's social season was climaxed by a day's outing for the club members.

The money raised through the various activities was spent in purchasing new books for the school library. Lists of the new acquisitions were printed from time to time in the "Bulletin." In this manner the club members aided the growth of library while themselves, were receiving excellent training from the club program and much enjoyment from the social activities.
The Linoleum Block Club, from its first meeting, has been active in the work of cutting useful designs and scenes on linoleum blocks. Mr. Moody, the club's adviser, has been doing this work at the West Junior for a number of years, and he is well qualified to lead the club.

Mr. Moody not only wishes to teach the members how and what to cut, but he also wishes the members to leave at the end of the year with a working knowledge of the fascinating possibilities of linoleum cuts. He wants them to see the art in a cut and to have a genuine appreciation of good linoleum block work.

Six weeks previous to Christmas, you may have heard that anyone might buy Christmas cards from the club. Later, you may have seen the display in the library. The club did make and sell some well cut cards. The proceeds went to the District Nursing Association.

Besides this work the club made book plates, wall panels, and other cuts used in the "Bulletin" and on programs, placecards, etc. The club has plans to make book jackets, monograms, and letter heads.

With all this activity, the members of the club may rightfully say, "We have learned something this year, and we hope that our followers will carry on the work which we have thus far so nobly advanced."
MATHEMATICS CLUB

The mathematics club, under the guidance of Mr. Adams, divides its time between the lighter side of elementary mathematics, the historical development of the subject, and various topics not included in the usual secondary school work.

Paradoxes always attract considerable attention and since their discussion often involves the use of quadratics, complex quantities and geometrical methods of proof; the membership in the club is limited to pupils who have successfully completed one year of work in geometry and have have started Algebra II.

Each member of the club is responsible for at least one program during which he may discuss any mathematical topic in which he has an interest. The range of topics thus introduced into the club’s program extends from simple arithmetical puzzles and trick problems to the theory of relativity. Pupils who are reasonably skillful and interested in manual work combine this activity with club work to produce models and drawings in geometry and simple mensuration instruments for the use of the school.
MODEL YACHT CLUB

Arthur Nelson ............................ Commodore
Robert Erickson .......................... Vice-Commodore
Helen Field ............................... Secretary
Donald Sevigny ........................... Treasurer
Robert Morgan ............................. Measurer

The Model Yacht Club under the leadership of Mr. Black, meets during club periods in the wood shop where twenty-six members construct their own model yachts.

A new model is being built this year called the Cheerio III. A decided improvement over the Cheerio II, it is much faster and more seaworthy.

The club expects to hold eight weeks of racing, beginning April 30th at the Storrow Lagoon. Three cup winners from last year will compete, including Helen Field with her champion "Oriole."

Mr. Black arranged for the sale of three boats to a well known sportsman of Marblehead and Florida.

The club had a display of fifteen boats in the Sportsman's Show, the largest individual display of model boats in the show. The club received two cups from the committee in appreciation of its efforts. The Fairbanks-Campbell Trophy will be presented to the school on Trophy Day and also a smaller cup, which will be used as a trophy for the Spring races.

The officers of the Yacht club for the year of 1939 and 1940 wish Mr. Black and future members of the club success in the promotion of good sportsmanship, and in the designing, building, and sailing of model yachts in future years.
The High School Orchestra is under the experienced baton of Mr. Arnold Chick. The sixty musicians who make up its membership are from all classes, the only requirements for admission being the ability to play an instrument and having an interest in orchestral music. The orchestra was founded to give its members practice in ensemble playing, experience in public performances, and the opportunity to study classical and semi-classical music.

The orchestra usually met weekly on Wednesday afternoons but often different sections would meet for special rehearsals on Tuesday evenings.

The orchestra furnished music for both the Junior and Senior Class Plays and also for the June graduation exercises. It earned new laurels for its splendid performance at the All School Night production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Red Mill."

A large number of the most talented members were sent to represent Watertown at the Music Festival held in Provincetown, Massachusetts.
The cheerleading squad this year was composed of seven girls and four boys. The girls were Hope Wheeler, Betty Kinder, Jean Dexter, Helen Tripp, Phyllis Riehl, Vivian Vonner, and Vaughn Jensen; the boys were Fred Devenney, Carl Bigham, Ernest Bolduc, and Kenneth Bryant.

The girls introduced a new uniform consisting of maroon skirts and crew caps, and white cardigans and knee-socks. Several new cheers were introduced and delivered with much vigor by the squad. The old cheers were changed a bit in spots and set to new motions.

Many rallies were held in the auditorium to teach the school the new cheers and to develop loyalty to the football squad. The cheerleaders accompanied the football squad to all the games and did much in arousing the enthusiasm of the crowd.

The cheerleading squad also acted as ushers at the concert given by the combined Legion and School bands.
The Quid Nunc Club was under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Boyle, who took over the guidance of the club in the fall of 1938. The members, totaling forty, have had a very successful year under this popular teacher's supervision.

"The purpose of this club," as stated in Article VIII of its constitution, "shall be to serve loyally this school and community." Every member, upon joining, pledges herself to abide by the established rules of the school, to try to maintain a high standard of conduct, and to help other girls to do so. Carrying out these laws, the members have set up a worthwhile and interesting organization whereby each and every member has pledged herself to complete at least three projects for the Junior Red Cross.

Quid Nunc has had a very active year. Members enjoyed two roller skating parties at the Tech rink. Three well-filled baskets (the largest number ever given) were sent to three worthy families in town, at Thanksgiving time. At Christmas, besides the annual party for members, the club sent dolls, scrapbooks, and toy animals to the Junior Red Cross, a service for which a Certificate of Service was given. Each month two girls were sent to represent Quid Nunc at the Junior Red Cross meetings in the Red Cross building at 10 Gloucester Street. The club members also contributed to the Community Fund and the Infantile Paralysis Fund.

Thus has been spent an interesting and praiseworthy year for an upstanding girls' organization.
The Radio Club has been founded to foster one of the most popular hobbies among men today, amateur short-wave radio. The club members are fortunate in having their own private meeting place and workshop which is located over the Camera Club's darkroom. Here all the equipment is kept, and here also the work of the club is centered under the leadership of Mr. O'Toole.

At meetings some boys discuss recent radio innovations and improvements; others study the telegraphic code from an oscillator operated by one of the members; while others repair sets and work on a short-wave radio set and work on a short-wave radio receiving set that the club is building. The costs of all materials are paid for out of dues collected each week. The members also alternate in bringing their own sets to school for inspection and trial by other members.

The Radio Club prides itself on having developed an enthusiasm for this hobby which many members retain after graduation.
The Student Council began functioning in 1937. The National Honor Society took it as a project to form a constitution in 1938, and the form was submitted to the student body and was accepted by a majority vote. The constitution provides that the members must be of the upper third of their classes in scholastic rating. There are five courses in school, each course having two members elected to the Student Council. The presidents of each class and the editors of the Bulletin are regular members of the Council. Thus the council is made up of thirty-five members.

Election for the entering class is held in February, such members are to hold office for the following year and a half; election for the eleventh is held in June, so that those chosen may hold office the following year.

Last year the council sponsored three musical concerts and variously boosted every school activity. It also entertained the Eastern Association Councils of Watertown.

The Council this year has been reorganizing and debating, and has sold tickets for different events in school as well as boosted athletics. The activities are under Mr. Smith, who is interested in seeing that the Student Council is a success.

Maintenance

The purpose of the traffic squad in the school is, of course, to make filing simpler and easier for the students and to keep general law and order in the corridors.

This year the traffic squad began its duties under the supervision of Mr. Thomas F. O'Brien but was later taken over by Mr. T. Donald Robinson when Mr. O'Brien left for his new position.

Some improvements were introduced to the force for the year 1939-1940. For instance, the basement floor was marshalled for the first time since the squad was organized four years ago, and also the officers on all three floors were on duty at the close of school. Two new posts were also created: that of Sergeant and that of Maintenance Officer. The Sergeants are to fill any vacant posts which may occur because of the absence of a marshal, and also to assist in keeping general law and order in the filing by patrolling the corridors. The Maintenance Officer is just what the title suggests.

It was necessary to make a few changes on the squad at different intervals throughout the school year but on the whole the officers have done a grand piece of work and are to be highly commended for it.
The Tri-Hi, whose purpose is to create, extend, and maintain high standards of Christian character throughout the school and community, was this year placed under the able direction of Mrs. Doris Erskine and Mr. Clyde Hess.

The year 1939-1940 was an exceptionally active year for the Tri-Hi members. First of the year's activities was a sports' dance held in Whitehill Hall on November eighteenth. Then in December came the Christmas Party which is held each year for some of the underprivileged children in the town. This was closely followed by the annual Christmas dance, a strictly formal affair which was held at the Woodland Country Club in Newton. In March the girls "went Chinese" for a night while exploring Chinatown, scouring its shops, and enjoying its food.

Despite this rather heavy program, the girls found time to have a Mother's Tea, assist in forming a new Tri-Hi group in Arlington, and attend the Tri-Hi convention.

The club holds its meetings every other week at the Newton Y.M.C.A. and once a month has a supper meeting. All this is helpful in strengthening the character of the girls who are members.
Under the leadership of Miss Taylor, the Type Club provides its members with the opportunity of employing their artistic skill in the making of typed designs, and with the chance of improving their speed.

Although the activities of the Club somewhat resemble classroom work, they differ in that the emphasis is placed on speed rather than accuracy. The introduction of speed contests has helped to stimulate new interest for its members, as the winners receive gold and silver pins.

In the past few years, the forming of pictures by repeating a type letter over an outlined design has been most successful. As a result many excellent projects have been made for exhibition with appropriate poems attached.

Due to these activities and the interest of the members, the popularity of the club has increased tremendously.
ALL SCHOOL NIGHT PRODUCTION

Every year it is the custom of the school to give an All School Night Production. "The Red Mill," the 1940 choice, was not only generally conceded to be the best operetta ever given in the high school but also was acclaimed by critics to be the outstanding amateur performance produced in Greater Boston this year. The accomplishment was achieved through the combined efforts of various departments. The art department in co-operation with the woodworking shop supplied the colorful and appropriate scenery; the orchestra and the chorus, ably directed through the final performance by Mr. Archibald, furnished the musical accompaniment; the acting and dancing, perhaps the most outstanding parts of the entire performance, reflected the time and effort of the cast and coaches. The cast of characters was as follows:

CARL BIGHAM  RICHARD HELMS  JEAN CAMERON
FRED BUSBY  THEODORE MAGOUN  ELLEN LYNCH
ROBERT LA RHETTE  RACHEL REED  LILLIAN KRIKORIAN
ERNEST BOLDUC  EVELYN MOORE  SHIRLEY DEVENNEY
RAYMOND BALLANTINE  EILEEN BOONE  SALLY PRO ThEROE
FRED CHRISTENSEN  BEATRICE ALT EMAR  ESTHER KRIKORIAN

After a weak and unimpressive beginning, the 1939 Watertown High football team resurrected itself and came down the final stretch with the drive and power which distinguishes a good team. The final whistle of the Belmont game closed the season with as good a record as any that Watertown has had for a decade.

The team hit its peak in the Brighton game, and after dropping a heartbreaker to Winthrop, went into its last six games with grim determination. Out of those final games, Watertown won five, losing only to a powerful Melrose outfit which handed it the most decided setback of the year. On Thanksgiving Day, Watertown avenged the five consecutive defeats which it had suffered at the hands of Belmont in previous years, by overpowering the latter in a most decisive manner to the score of 25-6.

When Coach Craig issued his initial call for soccer candidates, he realized that it would be a difficult task to equal the record of his 1938 Greater Boston Interscholastic Champions.

Even though they didn’t become champions two years running, the soccer boys played a stellar game throughout the season. The only real letdown of the season came when Watertown played Ludlow, state-champs, and lost 4-1. The team ended the season by drubbing St. Marks 5-0, and in this game was inserted a lineup possibly consisting of next year’s first team, and it did an admirable job.

Games Played, 6; Won, 1; Lost, 2; Tied, 3.

Outstanding Players: Anna Raczkowski, Helen Tripp, Marie Natoli, Lucy Romard, Elaine Porter

Outstanding Games: Winchester, Belmont

Although the team won only one game, it showed solid defensive playing and speedy offensive work. The team steadily improved with each game and showed a great deal more co-operation during the last games than was apparent during the first part of the season. In spite of the lack of wins, the team faced each new encounter with an indomitable spirit, and an attitude of good sportsmanship.

The second team played very capably, and should prove to be an outstanding varsity squad next year.

The Winchester game was quite an evenly matched one with both teams ultimately scoring one point.

At the hockey banquet held at the end of the season, Elaine Porter, right wing of the varsity team, was elected captain of next year’s varsity team, while Mary O’Brien, fast center forward of the second team, was chosen manager.

The record of the Watertown High School team does not speak very well for the boys, but this year's team, built around "Ace" Shannon, captain of the All-Bay State team, played very well and hustled all through the season. Many of the players competed for the first time in a game and therefore lacked the experience of the other teams. However, the team has good speed, ability, and played fast, close games.

Coach, Sally T. Biggane; Captain, Anna Raczkowski; Manager, Josephine Muccio
Games Played 6; Won 5; Lost 1
Outstanding Players: Anna Raczkowski, Helen Tripp, Josephine Muccio, Hope Wheeler
Outstanding Game: Winchester

The season was an extremely successful one with a total of five wins and one loss. High scorers for the year were Helen Tripp and Anna Raczkowski, veterans of last year's varsity team. Patula Treblas also played a fast game at forward position, while Josephine Muccio, Hope Wheeler, and Betty Kinder very ably defended the team's basket. Speedy and decisive plays were the keynote of this year's team, and all the wins were by large margins.

The only upset of the season came when Winchester beat the varsity by the slight edge of five points. However, the game was evenly balanced throughout.

By the half in the Millis game, Watertown was so far ahead that the game was awarded to her, and the other half was played with mixed teams.

Patula Treblas was chosen captain for next year's squad, and Margaret Couttes was elected manager. Pat is the only varsity squad player left for next year, but the crop of juniors and sophomores seems of sufficient caliber to ably carry on the high reputation of Watertown's basketball team.

OUTDOOR TRACK

Coach, Robert Gleason; Co-Captains, Paul Zappula and George Ruggerio

Outstanding Meet: Brookline

Outstanding Players: Paul Zappula, Raymond Everett, Richard Bramhall, Lucky Zissus

The outdoor track team started practice on Victory Field as soon as the snow first disappeared. Although they won none of their first meets, the boys did well considering the small team from which they had to pick. The events in which the team participated were the half-mile, the 440, the 220, and the 100 yard runs; the short put; the running broad jump; the high jump; and the four-man relay.

The prospects for next year look extremely good. Bramhall is a good bet to hold his own against anyone in the 440; MacArthur and Anderson are speedy runners in the 100 and 220; Zissus is fast becoming tops in the shot put; Jack Sheehan is strong in the one mile; and Wilbur Hannon is the first real hope in the high jump.

By using the basement floor of the school building, the indoor track team got in early practice. Considering the lack of equipment, the team showed up well against its opponents, tying with Andover, and coming in two points behind in the meet with Huntington Prep.

The events included the 50 yard dash, the 60 yard low hurdle, the 300 yard sprint, the 600 and the 1000 yard runs. The field events were the standing broad jump, the high jump, and the shot put.

The captain, Paul Zappula, starred in the state meet sponsored by Northeastern, by tying the record in the 1000 yard in the Boston Garden.

Outstanding Players: William Kearns, George Yankowski, "Lucky" Zissis

Outstanding Games: North Quincy, Woburn

For the first time in many years, the Watertown High School basketball team entered the Tech Tournament with an impressive record. Though losing in the first round of the tournament to a strong Somerville quintet, Watertown played a good game and would probably have won if it had had any capable reserves.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Coach, Sally T. Biggane; Captain, Hope Wheeler; Manager, Helen Saunders

The following games have been scheduled for the tennis season. Practice began during the middle of March in the gym in order to give the players a chance to brush up and to perfect their strokes before actually playing on the courts. The team seems to have great possibilities, although only three players from last year's team remain. Here's hoping for a very successful season.

BOYS' TENNIS

Coach, John E. McNealy; Captain, Livingston Munro

Outstanding Game: Winthrop

This year the boys' tennis was an unknown quantity since the only member retained from last year was the captain, Livingston Munro. The seniors on the team this year were Bud Platt, who was second singles man; Munro, the first singles man; and Dick Gregory. Other members of the team were Harry Bazarian, Rudy Antoni, Al Platt, Ralph Holmes, Charlie Boyle, Carl Silean, Randolph Perry, and Freddie Wright.

Two new schools, Waltham and Malden, were admitted to the Suburban Tennis League this year making a total of eight schools in the league. The whole league was held up by lack of courts, but the boys made up for lost time by haunting the courts.

Coach, Joseph Malley; Captain, William Quinn

Outstanding Match: Newton

Outstanding Players: William Quinn, John McDonald

The golf team was favored with four experienced players from last year's team and should have been in the fight all the way for the Greater Boston Golf League title. Though the team dropped its opening match to Arlington, it redeemed itself quite fully when it swamped Newton, last year's Greater Boston champs to the tune of 7-2. Some seniors who have performed well on the golf team are the aggressive Captain William Quinn, stylist John McDonald, nonchalant Joseph Barnes, and determined Edward Mann. Boys to be heard of in the future whose efforts have been contributory to the team's success are Timothy Oates, and Robert White.

Outstanding Players: George Yankowski, Mike Calden, William Kearns

From all early indications it looked like another banner year and the Fenway Tournament for the club. The infielders looked a little weak at the beginning, but with a few games under their belts the boys hit their stride, although they probably did not ever measure up to the standard set by last year's infield. However, the team as a whole was well balanced. More than anything else the All-Scholastic battery of Mike Calden and George Yankowski lived up to its reputation and was the deciding factor in a large number of games.

MEN WANTED

WANTED: for permanent employment in positions with a future . . .

(1.) Men of sound, dependable body who keep themselves both clean and neat without being conspicuous about it.

(2.) Men who have sufficient mental capacity and correct habits of alert thinking to be able to make original and worthwhile contributions to the conduct of our business; who try to see every problem as a whole not forgetting that it has a past and a future; who have habits of substantiating all conclusions before acting on them; who realize that there is no such thing as menial labor . . . there is only the menial spirit,—who do not belong to that army of small fry who try to guess what the big boss is going to want and who act accordingly.

(3.) Men who not only can work with others, but who actually make others want to work with them because of their good taste, integrity, emotional stability, self-restraint, sense of proportion, and especially because of their desire to develop "power with" the other men in our organization by the interweaving of the varying abilities, needs, and interests of all, instead of seeking that shallow "power over" others which is mere domination.

(4.) Men who take for granted things like honesty, loyalty and reliability, instead of considering them as virtues worthy of a director's chair in our organization. We feel that a man could not be even a good garbage collector without these qualities, so please do not fool yourself or waste our time using such indispensable virtues as arguments for employment or for advancement. But if you lack them, remember we do not want you in our organization . . . anywhere!

(5.) Men who have sufficient backbone and ambition to think out and to carry out a plan for worthwhile personal growth that has both distance and direction.

We sometimes employ other types of men . . . but not for longer than we can possibly help.
