The Yearbook Staff
of
WATERTOWN HIGH SCHOOL

Presents

The ANNU
To You...

Mr. Alfred S. Adams, we dedicate this, the seventeenth edition of the Annual. We remember at this time your patience and extreme fairness in our interesting classes in mathematics. We wish to thank you for the hours of tedious work that you have spent in computing statistics for the school records.

May the last term in the arithmetical progression of your years of service in our school be far distant.
We, the staff of the 1943 Annual, have worked diligently to make our book interesting and different. While keeping the content basically the same, we have changed the form and appearance in an effort to make this edition individual and to instill new life in future publications. We wish to thank Miss Thayer, Miss Appel, Mr. McNealy, and Mr. Moody for their ideas and work in its supervision.

Many members of the Class of 1943 have gone to the far corners of the earth in the service of our nation. Many more will soon follow. We hope that this book, by bringing back memories of the hours of pleasure spent in study and play at Watertown High, will help to reunite us when peace brings them home again.

Our Headmaster...

HERBERT H. ARCHIBALD
To the Class of 1943...

Our Seniors right now are on the receiving end of a current radio program called, "All Hail to You." Do I hear the announcer wasting his time with expressions of pity extended to the present crop of high school seniors because of the drab aspects of the times, or the outlook ahead of them? No indeed, he knows the up-and-coming youngster of today as we have come to know you. He has evidently had some opportunity to observe the spirit of 1943 as demonstrated in our Class here at Watertown High School. Rather, he is offering his sincere congratulations, to go along with ours, for the magnificent way in which you have carried on under adverse conditions during your high school days; for the way in which you are accepting new and difficult duties and responsibilities, and for the way in which you confidently expect to arise to an unusual challenge.

The grim task of preserving our American democracy, so highly prized by us all, has started. The road is not short, nor is it easy. Many of you have already started down that road, giving your services that road's end may sooner be reached. The rest will shortly follow. We join the announcer, "All hail to our Seniors," a glorious band of young Americans possessed abundantly with courage and conviction, and with the firm resolution that they are going to give all they have toward the everlasting perpetuation of our cherished American traditions and ideals. This is your determination, one result of your high school education. God be with you all, and the best of luck.

HERBERT H. ARCHIBALD
Our Advisers...

JOHN E. McNEALY

MADELEINE F. O'BRIEN
MISS MADELEINE O'BRIEN

we set aside these pages in appreciation of your guidance and co-operation. The life of an adviser, with supervising class activities, guiding academic courses, and acting as liaison between faculty and students, added to regular teaching duties, is far from easy. Yet you, Miss O'Brien, have served us successfully for three consecutive years and you, Mr. McNealy, patiently managed the class activities during our busy Senior year. For this we thank you.

This section contains a record of the officers and activities of the Sophomore and Junior classes with whom we have spent so enjoyably the past year. We hope that they will keep up their fine school spirit and carry on the splendid traditions of our Alma Mater.
“June Mad”

Once more Mrs. Betty Boers-tler has helped a class to produce a successful play.

“June Mad” is a dramatic comedy vividly picturing the pains and troubles of growing up. The plot revolves around a 15-year-old girl, the boy next door, and a college smoothie. Such a combination produces quite a complicated situation but things finally turn out happily.

Behind the scenes were: Harry Manis, publicity; Theresa DuBois, tickets; Anesta Hayes, properties; Robert Smith, stage and curtain; Robert Wessick and Ernest Papa-zian, ushers; Virginia Oates, candy girls; Bernadette Martocchio, prompter; Dorothy Masterton, general manager.

HISTORY
Our second successful year in high school under the guidance of Miss Jacobs and Mr. Grimes has drawn to a close.

In our Sophomore year we made a fine start in the regular monthly meetings of the class, led by our officers and featuring various educational speakers. The highlight of this first year was a splendid movie dance which proved to be a great success. It had the support of every member of the class under the leadership of the homeroom representatives. During this year it was evident that the class was well endowed with talent.

With a few changes in officers, the class of '44 began a new year. Regular class meetings were held and everyone bought War Stamps with great enthusiasm. The amount purchased from this project totaled over $3500.

The highlight of this year was, of course, the Junior Play, "June Mad," a delightful comedy. The cast, directed by Mrs. Betty Boersler, as well as the committees and our advisers, worked wholeheartedly and they achieved most successful results.

We pay tribute to the boys of our class as well as those of other classes who have answered the call of our country; our thoughts and prayers are with them always.

To the graduating class of 1943 — "The best of luck to a grand crowd of friends!"
Sophomore Notes

When school opened September 8, 1942, Watertown High found herself with many new students in the form of 465 Sophomores. After a few bewildering days, we acquired enough knowledge of our surroundings to find our classrooms without help from Juniors or Seniors.

Our first big event was the receiving of report cards. Shortly after this, elections for class officers were held. The voting was very close with Edward Francis coming out on top as president, Richard Boylan as vice president, Beverly Bickford as treasurer, and Elaine Thiesing as secretary. The executive committee of three members was made up of Edward Campbell, Francis McDonald, and Betty Lee White. Many officers' meetings and several class assemblies were planned and carried out under the direction of our councilors, Mr. Harold S. Kenney and Miss Sara Abbott.

Our class received a great blow when Mr. Kenney left us for the U. S. Army, but Lieutenant McGrath took over and brought the year to a successful conclusion.

The Honors section is devoted to the societies which especially encourage scholastic achievement, school spirit and service. The faculty elects to the National Honor Society those Juniors and Seniors who are outstanding in leadership, scholarship, character and service. Seniors in the college course may earn membership to Cum Laude by high scholastic achievement. Members of the Student Council, the student government body, are elected from all classes by the student body.

The Saltonstall Chapter of the National Honor Society, one of the 2300 chapters located throughout the country, was chartered here in 1937. At the beginning of the year, the members sponsored an assembly during National Education Week, with Dr. Leonard Goenther as speaker.

The society then divided into committees in order to function more easily between the monthly meetings. One committee constructed and erected a bulletin board on which the students posted interesting current newspaper articles on education. Other committees revised the National Honor Society Constitution and kept the school’s collection of college catalogues well arranged.

The Society closed the season by managing the election of new Junior and Senior members. The impressive induction ceremony took place in early May.

Congratulations, class of 1943, on the large number of seniors who this year won the outstanding honor of membership in the Watertown High Chapter of the National Cum Laude Society. Sixteen is the largest number who have achieved this standard of excellence since the class of 1938. This honor is awarded only to students of the College Preparatory course and is dependent solely on the scholastic record of the individual student regardless of class percentages.

The National Cum Laude Society was founded in 1906 to encourage and reward high attainment in scholarship and only a few public high schools are considered of sufficiently high standard to be granted a chapter. The Watertown High Chapter was chartered in 1921.

In the last 22 years, the Cum Laude Alumni of the Watertown High Chapter have been active in promoting and encouraging scholarship in the school. They presented the Cum Laude Trophy which is given each term to the class having the highest percentage of students on the honor roll, and they also award certificates of scholarship to any student who succeeds in making the honor roll all four terms of any year.
The Student Council, a little-publicized organization, solves a great many difficult problems during the course of a school year. Many requests of the student body are referred to the council and its sponsors for decision.

One problem considered by the Student Council was the traffic situation. The council set up a panel of five judges to hear cases of traffic violation.

The group's biggest contribution to school and community, was "The Red Feather Girl Contest," a unique and effective plan which encouraged competition between home-rooms in order to advance the interests of the United War Fund Drive.
In the Features section, certain of the class wits attempt to describe their classmates briefly and to glimpse into the future and foretell the paths of the illustrious. Others write a class poem, history, and will. Included is our Hall of Fame, a poll taken of the entire graduating class.

Can it really be three years since the class of 1943 wandered bewildered into the exalted halls of Watertown High School?

Our sophomore year was uneventful as far as class activities go, but we became acquainted with the school and with one another, and members of the class showed promise in scholarship, in school activities and in sports.

Soon after we had overcome the rivalry between the East and the West Junior Highs, elections for class officers were held. Top honors went to George Wickstrom who was voted president. Madelyn Dexter, was chosen vice-president; Dorothy Wright, secretary; Virginia Mumford, treasurer; while Ida Tyler, Barbara Allen, and Donald Leach made up our executive committee.

Time passed quickly, and as 1942 rolled around it found our class marching into the junior year full of hope and confidence. Our one grievance was that we still weren't seniors and were looked down upon by those upper classmen. Following our campaign for class elections Dave Bramhall, was chosen president; Madelyn Dexter, vice-president; Dorothy Wright, secretary; Virginia Mumford, treasurer; and the executive committee was composed of Ida Tyler, Barbara Allen, and Corinne Ellegood.

Our first social gathering was the Junior Prom held in the gym which was appropriately decorated with our class colors of red, white, and gold. Lou Williams and his orchestra furnished the music and the dance was a huge success.

It seemed about time that we were recognized as actors by the high and mighty seniors. Who will ever forget "I'm In the Army Now?" The acting of Walter Stuart, Nancy Eleftherion, Gertrude Puccia, Dorothy Wright, Win Snow, Katherine Casey, and Donald Leach outshone even the attempts of the Clark Gables and Greer Garsons of the senior class. The play sounded the finale for junior activities and we settled down to our studies looking forward with yearning to our senior year.

At last we were seniors. Maybe the outlook for the year wasn’t so bright as in other years, but the class looked ahead to the many senior activities. Our class was diminished, with many boys and girls leaving school for work and to join the armed forces.

Anxious to begin doing things immediately, we elected class officers—quite an upset too! In the junior year six girls and one boy served as officers, but the results of the 1943 balloting returned two girls and five boys. Ralph Brown, was elected president; Hugh McBride, vice-president; Dorothy Wright, secretary; John Grady, treasurer; and Ida Tyler, Hovey Eordekan and Armen Essayan as the executive committee.

The officers began work by appointing as Chairmen of the Class the following committees: Donald Leach, Annual; Edward Marderosian, Cap and Gown; Madelyn Dexter, Ring; John Ryan, Class-Color; Claire Haffey, Class gift; Virginia Mumford, Class Day; Helen Werkowski, Class Play.

“A Lucky Break”—this was the title of our senior play. The auditorium was filled to capacity. There was standing room only! Need I say more about its success? Many of our Junior thespians did a brilliant job, ably supported by John McKeon, Parker Hirtle and Helen Werkowski.

Our enthusiasm for leaving our “Alma Mater” grew less and less as our senior year drew to an end. In rapid succession came the banquet, the ever-to-be remembered Senior Prom; the Baccalaureate and most important of all, Graduation, when we received our diplomas, bid best wishes to all of our friends and a fond adieu to W.H.S.

Secretary,

DOROTHY WRIGHT
IVY DAY

We meet upon this festal day
To greet old friends, and then farewell
To happy scenes and faces dear
Of classmates, whom we love so well.

We bravely wait the test of time,
As each looks toward his future goal
With vision clear the heights to climb
With all the power of mind and soul.

We now resolve with purpose high
To fight our best in life's stern fray
For truth and right; to do or die,
The call of duty to obey.

And as we plant this ivy green
In tender earth on this glad day,
So may our hearts grow more serene
As down the years we wind our way.

And as the green leaves of this vine
Cling to this wall for all to see,
So may our fondest thoughts be thine,
O Class of Nineteen Forty-three!

Our paths in life must now divide,
Their course may lead o'er land or sea;
May truth and right our actions guide—
To God and Country faithful be.

—Margaret Anne O'Grady

As the "Silver Streak," with Maurice Tierney at the throttle, puffed its way into the secluded depot, I was shoved by the happy and enthusiastic crowd onto the platform. There I was greeted by Phyllis Levine, Betty Wright andARPine Zovickian, the welcoming committee of the hotel where our class reunion was being held. With eagerness we climbed on the two horse sleigh; the driver, David Bramhall, cracked his whip and we were on our way. While riding along the mountains, we came upon a restful sight. There, nestled down in a small valley, was the Sun Valley Hotel, world-renowned for its gay and charming air. Riding down the hill, I saw Catherine Vallery, MarieFarrell, ShirleyHogan, Mary Laughrea and Marie Leary christying left and right along the slopes and passed JoyceSkinner and Mary Grant, famous ice skating queens.

Coming to the "Bucket-of-Blood" Tavern at the roadside I dropped in to pass a few moments with Ernie Clair, Harold McDade, Melvin Prifti and Paul McKeon, a few of my rummy friends. There shaking a Cuba Libre, the famous cocktail invented by Alfred Pugliese, was that old faithful bartender, PaulMenton.

Arriving at the hotel, I was greeted by Ernest Hunter, the stately doorman, who directed me into the lobby, exquisitely designed by Parker Hurtle. At the registration desk I was cordially welcomed by the jovial hotel manager, Ralph Brown.

My baggage was immediately taken from me by William Wayda and Peter Simone, strikingly arrayed in bell hop uniforms. The elevator took me up to the third floor where I was shown to my rooms by MichaelChristopher, the chief clerk.

As I entered my suite, I heard shouts. Looking out the window to investigate, I saw debutantes, Irene Dauphinee, Brenda Farrenkopf, Joan Hawley, Connie Weldon, Greta Crocker, Jeanne LeBlanc and Barbara Allen engaged in a snowball fight.

While unpacking my bags, I tuned in the radio to hear Walter Demars andNorman Barrett, famous politicians, broadcasting from the XYZ Studio in New York. Picking up a magazine from the rack, I saw on the front cover a fascinating photograph of the glamorous Madelyn Dexter, now starring in Earl Carroll's Vanities. Glancing through the pages, I stopped a minute to read the feature article written by Sylvia Kurkjian andLucy Mgrichian, co-editors of Harper's Bazaar. On the opposite page was a beautiful sketch of "Sis" Cantwell, "Miss America of 1953," skilfully painted by that "whiz of artistry," Eve Sharrigan. Included was the prize-winning book review, "This Is My Day," written by Mary Gegerias. John Grady's sports column listed his All-American Football Selections, among whom were "Flash" Favuzza, "Bibbie"

After resting a while, I was awakened by the telephone. Who should be waiting for me in the restaurant downstairs but Dorothy Derry, winner of the Nobel Prize; Dorothy Wright, famous ping-pong champion; and the never-to-be-forgotten editorial team of Florence Fursey and Claire Haffey!

Entering the dining room, I noticed Queenie Hovnanian, old-time favorite of the theatre, now retired and managing “The Gay Follies” sitting at a nearby table with her guests, Katherine Konis, America’s No. 1 Housewife, and her hubby, James Manjourides.

Circulating among the guests were hostesses Ruth Days and Corinne Elegood. Just then, as the headwaiter, John Tewksbury, came out of the kitchen, I saw through the open door Leo Tsicoulias, owner of the Coney Island Restaurants, trying to persuade Pericles Polechronis, chef of the hotel, to accept a job with him.

Before I knew it, it was time for my daily exercise. As I neared the swimming pool, I saw Barbara Downman wearing an eye-catching Lissette bathing suit, and Evelyn Sullivan sporting a sarong designed by June Mcklary. Across the pool, I spied Shirley Holmes, whose dazzling smile had captured Broadway, posing on the diving board with Grace Leary, who followed Lana Turner’s footsteps to fame. Enjoying the cool, refreshing water with me were Paris Chebookjian and Virginia Mardirobian, successful vocalists with Armand Keshishian’s Orchestra. Featured with this orchestra also were Robert Sheffield, Aristotle Vlassakis, and Jacob Baboian.

Across the way I saw William Hewitt, happy warden of Alcatraz, engrossed in watching an exciting tennis match between Katherine Kelley and Grace Kearns, co-editors of Vogue.

After lunch I joined Walter Stuart and Robert Phipps, and their secretary lovely Eunice Johnson.

Passing the “Modern Plays Theater,” I noticed that my former classmates, Gertrude Puccia, Nancy Eleftherion, Winthrop Snow, Seda Toujian, Doris Nelson and John McKeon were again starring in a hilarious comedy “The Vanishing Heir,” or “What Happened to Him?” under the expert coaching of Helen Werkowski.

Later, I entered the cocktail lounge; a sudden flash awakened me to the realization that Kenneth Simendinger, Loretta Ventresca and Helen Yates, the trio of ace photographers, had just snapped my picture. As I was being shown to my table, Grace Ounjian, world’s highest paid typist, invited me to join her. At the same table were Esther Olsen and Phyllis Lindgren, journalists for the New York Times.

Following an excellent banquet, I relaxed as Dick Robbins, master of ceremonies, introduced as the first speaker Edward Mardirobian, leader of Tammany Hall. After giving his political views on the present world situation, he expressed his sorrow over the absence of Leo Linehan, director of “Information Please.” He then told us that John Rowen had graduated from Brown University after an extensive course; that Virginia Mann, Virginia Mumford and Marjorie McClay, vivacious models, were now with John Powers; and that Clara Murphy and Alice Coolidge were now artists for Esquire. The next few minutes were given to Gunan Chakamian and Gregory Mac-Kinnon, who entertained us with their wit.

Across the table I saw Representatives Phillip Molloy and Richard Hullihan talking to Senator Fokion Rallis. I exchanged salutations with playboys Joe Derian and Charles Hagopian. At another end of the table were seated Hank Barrett, Hovey Eordekian, and John Degnan of the Chicago Bears speaking to Lawrence Howe, treasurer of the Ajax Construction Company, sporting a new suit from the Six Little Tailors. Next to them Donald Leach, Wall Street broker, was trying to persuade Lorraine Berg and Louise Ostergren to invest in Amalgamated Copper with the money which they had received from their tennis exhibitions.

At the conclusion of Robert Burns' speech on Biological Research, the crowd began to leave for the ballroom. On my way there I stopped for a minute in the game room. In one corner I saw Peter Palashis and Harry Tragakis arguing over chess; at the poker table Mike Petrino had just cleaned up a pot with four aces, his victims being Malcolm Barsamian, drum teacher; Ted Puntonio, head of the Oleo Trucking business; and Edward Andrews, professor at M.I.T.

Dancing in the ballroom I bumped into Ada Ross, a vision of loveliness, with her famous husband of the R.C.A.F. At the end of the ballroom I spied George Tagarelis, owner of the Multi-Photo Studios.

Suddenly the ballroom was pierced by the shrill screams of Ida Tyler, Patricia Erskine, Celeste Boyce and Katherine Casey, social registers of the season, when William Robinson and George Moseley, famous terrorizing outlaws of the day, looking devilish in their “boy scout” uniforms, stood in the doorway shooting their toy guns in the air and in gruff voices ordered the women to drop their trinkets on the floor. The crowd nearly went wild when “Henry Aldrich” Huebner accomplished the colossal feat of lifting the two gangsters over his head with his finger-nails. He had difficulty getting them down. But with the aid of his accomplice “Homer Brown” Jellison, he managed it without spoiling his manicure.

In another corner of the ballroom was a group of officers of the WAVES. A few whom I recognized were Evangeline Zographos and Dorothy Boyle, with Ruth Mitchell of the SPARS.

As it was close to midnight and as I was quite exhausted from the day’s activities, I decided to get a little fresh air. Stepping out to the balcony, I was captivated by the beauty of the night. As my thoughts went back to the day’s events I realized how fortunate I was to have been able to share once again the companionship of so many of my former classmates.

"I'm in the Army Now"

As Juniors, the class of '43 presented an hilarious patriotic comedy.

The plot centered around the drafting of coddled Bronson (Don Leach), whose mother (Nancy Eleftherion), believed he was too ill to serve in the army. However, army life did things to Bronson and when he returned on leave, Bronson did things to his family.

Pa Robertson (Walter Stuart), had a difficult time taming Toby (Wayne Phillips), who was in love with Audrey Nayland (Florence Furfey).

Prentiss Roper (Win Snow), who thought he would be of more use to his country as head of his factory than in the army, couldn't choose between Deanna Robertson (Katherine Casey) and Letty Ashbrooke (Gertrude Puccia). Dorothy Wright played the role of a man-hungry girl.

The play afforded excellent opportunities for acting ability and Mrs. Boerstler saw to it that all was done well.
The action of the Senior Play, "A Lucky Break," took place in a small tourist hotel. The proprietress, Martha Mullet (Helen Werkowski), and her daughter Nora (Katherine Casey), were visited by wealthy John Bruce (Don Leach), who sought to buy property from Abner Ketchem (John McKeon). Bruce, aided by his manager, Charles Martin (John Tewksbury) and Abner's nephew, Benny (Win Snow), finally succeeded in getting the land.

Elmine (Dot Wright), a maid, along with three guests, Bella MacWatt, Alchiba, and Alphecca Spinster (Seda Touzjian, Evelyn Sullivan, and Carolyn Robbins), kept the audience in gales of laughter. Florence Furfey, Doris Nelson, and Parker Hirtle also had comedy roles.

Claudia Barrett (Gertrude Puccia), whose mother (Nancy Elef-
In this upside-down world it behooves us "The Class of 1943" to right ourselves, even if only for a short space of time, to direct the disposition of our Estate, an accumulation of the past three years in Watertown High School. In a spirit of loving and giving, and believing ourselves of sane mind, we do hereby and herewith set forth the following:

Article I: To our Headmaster, Mr. Herbert H. Archibald, whose understanding nature has made these past three years so pleasant, we bequeath an Easy Chair so that after graduation he can at last sit back and relax.

Article II: To Miss Madeleine F. O’Brien, our adviser, we bequeath a small white bungalow next door to Watertown High School so that she can have her cake and eat it, too.

Article III: To Miss Sarah D. Abbott, we bequeath a gallon of "Parfum" to help preserve her sweet personality.

Article IV: To Mr. John McNealy, our adviser, we bequeath boxes and boxes of Aspirin to dull the numerous headaches that he has had to bear.

Article V: To Miss May Boyle we bequeath a record which will repeat for use the familiar phrase, "good posture is conducive to good work."
Article VI: To Mr. George Grimes, we bequeath a megaphone so that he may be heard in the Junior Class Meetings.

Article VII: To Mr. John Craig, we bequeath one pair of stilts so that he may conserve rationed shoe leather.

Article VIII: To Mr. A. Robert Kelman, we bequeath, with our fondest memories, a corner in our hearts.

Article IX: To Miss Ethel Ricker, we bequeath a "detector gadget" which will disclose the whereabouts of all her missing students (???)

Article X: To Mr. Irving Keene, we bequeath a messenger boy who will carry all his requests.

Article XI: To the rest of the Faculty, we bequeath our deepest sympathies and apologies for the many heartaches we have caused because of our misdemeanors.

Article XII: To the Underclassmen, we bequeath the Heritage of all we have gained and much we may have missed.

In witness to the above testimony, I do hereby in the name of The Class of 1943, declare this to be a Salute to our Alma Mater.

Sole Testatrix,

SHIRLEY HOLMES
Most of the activities of our school are carried on by its many clubs. These organizations help to develop good citizenship and to encourage various hobbies and skills. All serve the school during the year. Some also help in complementing the social work of the community.

The Art Club gives its members an opportunity to develop their skill in art.

Many projects are accomplished during the meetings which are held after school. Each member has individual projects to work on, and sometimes one of the members poses while others sketch.

One of the club’s accomplishments was the selling of monogrammed pencils, the profit going toward the club’s expenses. Perhaps its chief achievement is the series of murals which portray art through the ages.

Band

Few students realize the great contribution to school spirit made by our band. This group of talented musicians, under the capable direction of its experienced leader, Arnold Chick, liven up rallies, sports contests, assemblies and shows.

The band missed its annual state and New England festivals this year, due to transportation restrictions. Their music was missed at out-of-town games also, but as usual it was welcomed at home football contests and basketball games.

The Annual Music Festival at Mid-year, with the combined bands of Post 99 American Legion, Watertown High, and the Junior High Schools, was a great success and a high point in school entertainment.

The Biology Club contributes to the education of not only the student body but also the entire community. The annual biological exhibit entertains and educates hundreds of townspeople annually.

An active group, members visited the biological laboratories at Harvard, made field trips to Lexington and Waverley Oaks, and visited the Massachusetts General Hospital. They constructed several items and stocked the laboratory to provide first-hand biological information for all interested students.

Guest speakers at meetings were Dr. James H. Welsh, Dr. Francis O. Schmitt, head of the department of Biology, M. I. T., and Dr. G. S. Bacon.
The Bulletin, under the supervision of Miss Laura Campbell, Mrs. Ruth Thulin, and Mr. John Craig, has had an unusually successful year.

The Bulletin is a four-page newspaper published bi-weekly by the students. Customary features are “Here and There,” “Personalities,” “Information Please,” “The Sportlite;” “Girls’ Sports,” Club Notes, Editorials, and general news of school activities.

In March, delegates representing the Bulletin attended the Annual Columbia Scholastic Press Association Conference at Columbia University. The Bulletin was also represented at the Eastern Massachusetts Scholastic Press Association Convention held at Northeastern University.

Five o’clock session
The Camera Club is one of the oldest and most active clubs in the school. Pictures of all clubs and activities, “candid,” and portraits, are taken for the Annual and the Bulletin.

The members are taught the fundamentals of photography: developing films, contact and projection printing, copying, and the chemistry of photography. The different phases of photographing interiors and outdoor scenes, composition, etc., are taken up, and members have an opportunity to do their own work in the well-equipped darkroom. Informal contests are held and each member has an opportunity to exhibit his work for criticism.
This informal group was daily performing amazing and timely experiments in the "chem" lab. Their research may well uncover heretofore obscure and hidden processes and elements. With Mr. Kelley keeping a sharp eye out for fatal combinations, two of the boys, Ed Andrews and Manlio Castrucci, were experimenting with synthetic rubber.

George Buffington, Howard Rich and Fred Pugliese were constructing an oven for plastics which on completion they intended to present to the school. Versatile Bill Huebner began working on a process for using reclaimed rubber on auto tires and completed the year experimenting in electro-chemistry.

Treasurer Muriel Kilfoyle
Sponsor Miss Elizabeth R. Desmond

The Commercial Club, under the guidance of Miss Desmond has proved to be a success.

Each week, a committee, consisting of three girls, is chosen to prepare an interesting and enjoyable program for the following meeting. This gives each member an opportunity to participate in the planning of the weekly club periods. Quizzes, games, and spelling matches take place during these carefully arranged periods. The club also had many guest speakers, among whom was Mrs. D'Antonio, a beautician, who discussed hair styles.

As a form of entertainment, this club gave a delightful Christmas Party.
The Debating Society has had numerous interesting experiences within the past year. The present war provided many debatable questions which were discussed by the members.

"Each year this Society takes part in the American Legion Oratorical Contest and stages assembly debates, contests, and debates with other schools."

In commemoration of its fifth anniversary, the Society presented to the school library a $50 War Bond which is to be used upon maturity for the purchase of books on the arts of thinking, public speaking, and methods of discussion and argumentation. This bond was presented at the intra-school American Legion Oratorical Contest.

The long-recognized need for a school Glee Club was filled in the fall of 1942 with the appointment of Mr. Walter Mayo to organize and conduct such a group.

In its very first year over seventy students were accepted as members.

At Christmas time the club gave a splendid demonstration of their well-coached talent. One regret is the lack of male voices. If more interest were aroused among the boys, an even larger, more active group could be organized and activities more varied.

The Club hopes to participate in the annual State and New England Music Festivals.

We wish this group of talented singers a hearty 'bon voyage' in their future endeavors.
This large club of (75 members) has a program committee whose task is to arrange for movies and club dance socials.

The present gas restrictions prevented the members from participating in their usual play at various clubs, but during the spring the club room was opened each afternoon so that members might receive class instruction on golf technique from Mr. Malley.

Members staged a dance to obtain funds for a service flag to be presented to the school.

Under the direction of Mr. Samuel Johnson, the HI-Y Club meets at the Newton Y.M.C.A. with a definite purpose: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character." During the first meeting of every month, the indoor pool is available to the boys.

This year the group left a good, active record: they gave to the Red Cross and Community Funds; conducted monthly meetings of combined Newton and Watertown HI-Y's, with speakers and dancing, sponsored two private dances and a profitable Victory Dance and served as ushers on Biology Project Night.
The Junior Chamber of Commerce was organized to be to the school what a Chamber of Commerce is to a community.

The club operates in the following way: the officers choose monthly committees which invite speakers for the meetings. Speakers included Mr. Yager, who told of Germany in pre-Hitler days; Representative Partridge, who talked on legislative problems; and Mr. Farrell of the Perkins Institute, who told of opportunities open for the blind today.

One of the club’s most important events was a very successful Christmas outing. The group had dinner at the Hide-a-Way and saw Spring Again at the Plymouth Theater.

For many years the Library Club, under the guidance of the school librarian, Miss Johnson, has been a very active service club. There have been good library workers all through the year and members' assistance in the library has been an important contribution.

Members have co-operated very well in literary programs and the club has had notable outside speakers. The biggest project of the year, the Library Club—Quid Nunc dance was a great success.

At the end of the year the club plans a day's outing together.
The Linoleum Block Club was formed in 1939, for the purpose of promoting interest in art.

Members of the club are taught to make useful cuts and blocks with a bit of linoleum and a few tools. They must learn the principles of harmony and line in order to turn out cuts possessing a professional appearance.

Early in October, the club undertook the project of making Christmas cards. Later in the year, members devoted their time to the making of plaques, coasters, and hot-plate mats.

The Linoleum Block Club completed its year with a social get-together.

The Navigation Club, in its first year of existence, accomplished the following, in the words of its sponsor Mr. Adams: "The club’s first project was to sail the good ship ‘101’ round Salvage Island by dead reckoning. Having cleared Spring Shoals successfully, we took to the air and progressed from wind stars to star maps. We used our dues to buy Nautical and Air Almanacs and during the year we constructed a model sextant with which we shot the sun.”

We wish the club well in its future voyages.
Our school orchestra has undergone many changes during the past season. The first and greatest was the acquisition of Mr. Walter Mayo of Medford as director. Mr. Mayo established a precedent, that of conducting auditions for the selection of qualified talent.

Once under way, players were obliged to hold rehearsals during homeroom periods due to the extracurricular activities and outside work of the students. As a result there was developed a fine orchestra which has proven itself at the Woman's Club production, the Class plays, and the Watertown Rotary Club.

Many undergraduates have expressed their appreciation of and shown a desire for many more appearances of this group.

"Saturday Night"
On December 21, the combined Library and Quid Nunc Clubs held a Christmas Dance. A nine piece orchestra, a grand march, and several novelty dances, made the dance very successful. During the year the club had for its speakers, Miss Catherine C. Perry, a former missionary to Japan, who spoke on "Life in Japan," and Mr. S. Manookian, who spoke on "The United War Service Organization."

Club members made scrapbooks, and surgical dressings, stuffed animals, dressed dolls and knitted afghans squares to fill twenty Red Cross Christmas boxes which were sent abroad, and gave four Thanksgiving baskets to needy families.
The Radio Club, consisting of fourteen members, was founded several years ago primarily to familiarize its members with the International Morse Code, and to teach radio operation and functions. The members of this club had classes on the theory of electrical radio operations.

Shortly after the formation of the pre-induction radio class, club and class were combined to get further instruction on the United States Signal Corps operation through the use of new records that were purchased for this purpose.

These films not only prove interesting but also teach the students the meaning of "good sportsmanship" and the importance of "playing fair." Much time is devoted to discussion of games in which our teams have participated.

The club also sponsors the Sports Movie which is given annually for the benefit of the football players.

The Traffic Squad was organized for the purpose of regulating traffic and preventing disorderly passing of the pupils.

This year the plan of selecting the traffic marshals has been quite different from the system used in previous years.

The Commissioner was elected by the Student Council and he in turn selected his own lieutenants and sergeants. The Traffic Marshals were chosen by the Commissioner and his assistants and their choice was based on certain eligibility rules which included discipline and scholarship as well as ability.

"Where's everyone, Frank?"
The purpose of the Tri-Hi is to create and maintain high standards of Christian character.

The Tri-Hi has achieved many desirable goals this year. Among this year's accomplishments of the Tri-Hi were the adoption of an English boy and the filling and sending of Thanksgiving baskets to needy families of Watertown.

The club had several social affairs. Among club activities were a sports dance, held at Whitehill Hall, and Alumni Dance, and an evening in Chinatown. The joint supper meeting of the Watertown Tri-Hi and the Newton Tri-Hi was a great success.
Our athletic teams, both boys' and girls', enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in recent years. Our traditional rivals naturally came out at the bottom with consistency. The promotion of good sportsmanship shared the spotlight with the development of physical fitness as part of the war program.

The cheerleaders were most active during the football season in the fall. They practised and developed new cheers during the homeroom periods every day. On Fridays they held rallies for all three classes to organize the cheering section for the Saturday games.

The cheerleaders took an active part in Sports Night which is run to help defray expenses of injured athletes.

This peppy group continued to lead the cheers throughout the basketball season. Although their official year was ended, the girls formed the nucleus of the supporters of the hockey and baseball teams.

OPTOMETRY AS A CAREER

Optometry is defined as the science and art devoted to the examination of the eyes, the analysis of ocular functions, and the employment of preventative or corrective methods and agents for the relief of visual anomalies and ocular abnormalities. Modern optometry is based on the realization that vision is a psychophysiological correlation.

Only persons with certain education and training are now permitted to analyze the visual system and correct disturbances through visual re-education by training or lens adaptation.

A few of the accredited schools of optometry are:

Columbia University, School of Optometry,
New York, N. Y.

Ohio State University, School of Optometry,
Columbia, Ohio

University of California, School of Optometry
Berkeley, Calif.

The study of optometry is open to women as well as men. Women do especially good work with children, and with them particularly there is great opportunity to do preventative work. More and more children are found with eye trouble; they are retarded in school and suffer both physically and mentally from the handicap of poor vision.

Attention, Graduates!

The backing provided by ready cash is a most valuable business asset.

Start your business career with the opening of a savings account and resolve to add to it each year.

America needs \textbf{WISE GUYS!}

Trained men and women . . . resourceful, clear-thinking, educated youth . . . the inventors, scientists, statesmen of tomorrow.

A small amount saved each month . . . systematically . . . is a good beginning for a successful career. Start now to save for your future education and for better service to your country.

Systematic savings is FAST, because your account grows every month. Systematic saving is EASY because payments are small and easily made.
