THE YEARBOOK STAFF PRESENTS
FOREWORD

The past three years at W.H.S. are sealed in memory. Memories of cramming for exams, experimenting in the labs, and competing on the gridiron remain our most treasured possessions. In these critical times when world peace can be maintained only through unity, we at W.H.S. have learned to work in harmony, regardless of color, race, or creed. Striving together and achieving together, we, the graduates of '61 have emerged more mature students — UNITED FOR PROGRESS.

Now the final chord has sounded. The banquet is over; the Promenade is ended; we have made our exit. Although our paths may sever as we each seek our place in life, we will always remain united through this the 35th Edition of the Annual.

This year book is a presentation of only a part of the memories shared, but certainly it will have fulfilled its purpose if in the future it can keep alive the cherished moments at W.H.S.

America has long recognized that education is essential to democracy, which is, by definition, a government by enlightened people. This land of liberty has from colonial times been dotted with little red schoolhouses. The success of our democratic form of government is in direct proportion to the success of our vast system of education.

No thinking person doubts that we live today at a most decisive moment in human history. We are bewildered in a changing, groping and unstable world. Opposing ideologies struggle on a global battlefield for possession of the minds and souls of men. Education is now the answer to world peace.

To each of you I wish good fortune and Godspeed in your search for further education whether that search be in college, in business or in the complex art of living as upright and useful citizens, each of which qualifies as an institution of learning.

In grateful acknowledgement of your many years of service to Watertown High, we, the class of 1961, proudly dedicate this, our Annual, to you, Mr. Edward Craig. Your mastery of language and your enthusiasm has been an inspiration to us and will inspire students for many years to come.

Under your sponsorship, the members of the Chess Club learned the meaning of competition, fair play, and the true artistry involved in chess.

Now as our final hours at WHS rapidly slip by, we realize even more how much you have meant to us. The class of 1961 wishes you years of success and happiness and says, "Au revoir, Monsieur Craig."

Class of 1962

As Juniors, we look back at the happy memories of our sophomore year and we look with anticipation to our long-awaited senior year. It seems like only yesterday that we walked down the long corridors at Watertown High. We felt then that we would never adjust ourselves to this place of learning. However, with the help of the faculty and our upperclassmen, we adapted ourselves to our new environment. After acquiring many new friendships, we elected to office John Airasian, President; Steve Everett, Vice President; Elenne Kechechian, Secretary; Arthur Avakian, Treasurer; Roland Capone, Pete Doherty, Jackie Giansanto, Karen Madden, and Joanne Rufo, Executive Committee. The officers and the capable assistance of Miss Jacobs made our first year most successful.

Returning in September, we became sophisticated and confident Juniors. After renewing old friendships, we conducted the junior elections. The new slate included John Airasian, President; Bob Sheehan, Vice President; Connie Volante, Secretary; Arthur Avakian, Treasurer; Joan Andrews, Roland Capone, Jackie Giansanto, Joanne Rufo, Executive Committee. One of our biggest decisions was the selection of the class ring. The date most important on our social calendar was April 7, the night of our Junior Prom, which marked the end of a wonderful and satisfying year.
In mid-September, 355 eager but apprehensive sophomores entered this newly renovated high school. These bewildered faces belonged to us—The Class of 63. After several weeks of familiarizing ourselves with schedules, we contributed less to the confusion in the classrooms and corridors. Soon we learned that our days at WHS weren’t all work, for our considerate upperclassmen invited us to participate in numerous clubs and other school activities.

Our first notable accomplishment was electing to office Alan Malatesta, President; Fred Elacqua, Vice President; Bette Brooks, Secretary; Donna Wyshak, Treasurer; Executive Committee: Paul Tomassetti, Denny Williams, Judy Landry, Robert Fantasia, Kenny Vaughn.

Our sophomore year was most enjoyable and successful thanks to the able supervision of Miss Jacobs.

The Class Will----Class Of 1961

The graduating class of 1961 who, we hope will soon be escaping from these huge ivy-covered walls of Watertown High to the bigger and better things in life (?) hereby bestow upon all underclassmen certain inalienable rights. Among these are the right to flunk exams, skip classes, and have excuses for not doing homework. To insure these rights we caution you to beware of the accusing eyes of our beloved (?) faculty. We hereby leave to you suffering peasants all of our unused blue-slips which spell out that dreaded eight letter word—SESSIONS—. Along with all our failures, hopes, and dreams we leave to the following members of the faculty tokens of our deepest appreciation (for what, we do not know):

1. To Miss Appel, who drowned the hopes of Seniors’ getting into college, we leave students above (C) level.

2. To Miss Parker, who has discouraged us about entering a higher institution of learning, we leave a RCA-Victor Stereophonic record entitled “You’ll never get into college”.

3. To Mr. Peter Burke, who has saved many students from being late, we leave a loud speaker.

4. To Mr. Bernard Burke, as balm for his jangled nerves, one docile class.

5. To Mrs. Boy, her favorite French class leaves an infinite number of Junior-Mint boxes.

6. To Mr. Kaveney we leave two tinted eyeballs to replace his sunglasses.

7. To Mr. Costello the Senior Class bequeaths an acting career with Miss Abbot.

8. To Mr. Kelman we gratefully leave an electric door that locks automatically when the late-bell rings.

9. To Mr. Chevoor the Annual Editors leave a room in which the seats are bolted to the floor.

10. To Mr. Hannon, who has tremendous amount of patience and understanding, we leave soundproofing for the Publication’s Office.

11. To Mr. Gleason, for his judgment in American affairs, we leave a golden seat in the United States Senate.

12. To Mr. Alfred Adams, who has taught us to think for ourselves, we leave a carton of Viceroy's.

13. To Mrs. Sharnoff, who continually confused us with her big and little letters, we bequeath a larger alphabet.

14. To Miss Margaret McCarthy we leave a lock of Clifton Fadiman's hair.

15. To Mr. Winand we leave, for future reference, a good reputation.

16. To Mrs. Enstrom, the Senior boys leave their Love. To Mr. Hahn, the Senior girls leave their Love.

17. To fill the empty shelves in our school library, the Seniors leave their autobiographies.

18. To the Class of 62, we leave another winning Italian backfield.

19. To the incoming class we leave a newly renovated high school that we never had the benefit of using in its entirety.

20. To the rest of W.H.S.—we leave gladly. For the support of these great principles of liberty, we the Class of 1961, hereby fade out.

The Class History

September 9, 1958 . . . a memorable day in our hearts—the birthday of a new class the class of 1961. We, the baby sophomores, entered a new world made up of domineering seniors and sneering juniors. As neophytes in this strange new world, we soon learned to adjust ourselves to scholastic environment.

Our formula was spoon-fed to us at our first-day-of-school assembly by Doctor Kelley, our great grand-dad. Even though our rules and regulations had been given to us, those affectionate upperclassmen had their own rules that had to be followed if we were to emerge alive and in one piece at the end of our first year.

As we grew stronger day by day, we realized that we must find some way to combat such rules as: "No Sophomores at senior lunch tables," "No looking at that dreamy junior boy." To lead us in our campaign to victory we needed strong leaders, therefore we choose Al Verrochi, President; Robert Cappadona, Vice President; June Valenti, Secretary; Stacia Conaxis, Treasurer; Tony Fantasia, Dorothy Leone, Beverly Malatesta, Peter McCarthy, and Michael Arnold as Executive Committee.

With quiet whispers of encouragement and with stamina, we pulled through. Finally, we were able to put on our own shin-dig—the Sophomore Party. And just as this wonderful night had to end so did our sophomore year.

As we entered these portals for a second time, we looked back with amazement at our past and wondered what was in store for us. By now we were initiated into the swing of things, but still we were caught in the middle. We could look down on a new set of sophomores and laugh at their bewildered faces; yet we still looked up at the rulers, the lordly seniors.

Once again we were confronted with the task of electing a group of qualified people, who would lead us with distinction. After thoughtful consideration and campaigning, we decided on the following: Al Verrochi, President; Robert Cappadona, Vice President; June Valenti, Secretary; Jimmy Arone, Treasurer; Tony Fantasia, Anthony Mancini, Harvey Bazarian, Peter McCarthy, and Peppy Smith. Once again we made a wise decision for these experienced stars led us on to victory in the many decisions we were required to make.

We were proud of our successful Christmas Assembly which even had the seniors remarking that we had something in our seemingly empty heads after all. One of our biggest and most important jobs was the choosing of the class ring. With the help of a hand-picked group, the decision was made; soon we displayed with pride our insignia of identity. A moment of extreme pleasure was afforded to us when we exhibited our talent in the Junior-Senior Play so aptly named Best Foot Forward. We were justifiably proud, for we were beginning to feel a great pride in our school, Sophomores and all. To climax our half-way mark in this completely fantastic world, we made an outstanding success of the long-anticipated Junior Prom. It was surely the most, rushed, sentimental, and beautiful event of our Junior Year. The atmosphere was simply enchanting. The gymnasium was transformed into a lovely fairyland where cinderellas danced with their prince charming. As we attended the graduation of seniors, at the end of another year, we realized that for us the home-stretch was just ahead.

After a much-needed vacation, we returned to the halls of wisdom for the beginning of the end. Our last year . . . unbelievable! This was it. We were now the veteran leaders, and we had to act accordingly.

Again we were faced with the selection of a group of leaders to carry us through our final year. This time there was little hesitation in our minds about who would qualify for the job. We had worked and studied together for over two years, and we knew we wanted Al Verrochi, President; Robert Cappadona, Vice President; June Valenti, Secretary; Jimmy Arone, Treasurer; Anthony Mancini, Peter McCarthy, Bob Liuzzo, Anthony Fantasia, Peppy Smith, Executive Committee.

Our senior year started off with a bang when, at our first assembly, Doctor Kelley announced those long-awaited words, “Seniors, may leave first.” What a thrill to walk out of the newly refinished auditorium amid the stares of admiration and respect we had hoped for. We decided that something must be done that would record us forever in the history of Watertown. The plan was constructed, the decision made. On November 25, 1960 we cheerfully, proudly, and courageously defeated our traditional rival at the annual Thanksgiving football game. Before we knew it, the days were rushing by. We were swept on in the mad whirl of senior-year events . . . the Holly Hop . . . the Winter Carnival . . . College Boards . . . Mid-years. While job hunting we realized that carefree times were fast coming to an end.

For our last tribute to the dramatic world we chose for the Senior Play the delightful, airy comedy Harvey. Since we had abundant talent, we had no trouble in making this presentation a complete success.

Soon the warm sunshine-filled days of spring rushed into view, and we were caught in the rush of our final days at W.H.S. We had such unforgettable and wonderful memories of the Senior Banquet, when we were so festive in our dress-up wardrobe . . . Class Day, when we were so determined to outshine those inferior underclassmen. Of course we had our serious moments, too. Solemnly we sat through Baccalaureate thinking over past and present times. At last came the night which we had eagerly anticipated . . . the last dance . . . the Senior Prom; for the last time we glided across the floor of the completely transformed gym. We took our final bow as we promenaded in the Grand March. The moment was upon us. With mixed emotions we donned our caps and gowns for Graduation. As we marched for the final time around the Campus, our emotions were reflected by tears and smiles of people around us. The receiving of our diplomas marked the end of an unforgettable era for us. Yes, this was our life at W.H.S. . . . THE CLASS OF 1961.
The Whole Swell Prophecy

"Los Vegas!" yelled conductor, Tony Mancini, "All out for Las Vegas."

"No thank you; I don't want any; I'm on the wagon," remarked Harry Ernst, my seatmate. Harry is a hearing-aid salesman. I turned to him and yelled, "Harry, it's Las Vegas!" He turned and said, "I didn't know it was that late."

"Shut up and get off the train!" I yelled. As I stepped down, I waved to engineer third class, Lance Beloungie, who was munching on a candied banana.

Firstly, I rented a car at the Honest Joe Maldonis Rent-A-Car Agency and drove over to the Sleepy Hollow motel. Later that noon, I entered the Club El McMahon. Trying their luck at the slot machines were Beverly Ann Ohanian, Rose Ann Panciscia, and Charlotte Pass, and they were getting burnt. Across the room, at the dice table, operator Vincent Howley, was pulling in the money of Diane Riccio, Catherine Schmidt, Anita Silverio, and Diamond Dick Torvezian. Over at the roulette tables, gambling away their families' food money were Joan Whyte, Judith Tucker, and David Augusta. Happily helping them was operator: Raymond Small.

Later on, while driving in the desert, I saw Robert Albertazzi selling authentic 1rion Indian blankets, and Jack Callahan selling real Pyrex Indian pottery. Further on I spied Jeanette Cairo and Joe Defilice, dressed as a cowgirl and cowboy, respectively.

Boarding the train for Washington, I left Las Vegas. Looking out the window, I saw Bill McDermott tending hybrid tumbleweeds on his farm which oddly enough is called "McDermott's Hybrid Tumbleweed Farm." The train rolled in Cattalanotiville where we were greeted by major Tom Rayner, who escorted us to the dude ranch called Piantedosi-Ho! Out at the chuck-wagon, sour-dough Antoinette Rollka was serving thirst-quenching lighter fluid to bronco-busters Merri Pinson, Jane Ryan and Jean English. Out in the sage brush, Ann Ajemian could be seen shooting kangaroo rats, while stable-boy Ed O'Connor scooped 'em up. Maureen McGough and Carol McMullin were sitting on the fence watching Nancy Nazarian wrestling down a 3,000 pound Brahma Bull. As our train pulled out of the station, schoolmarm, Lois Caporiccio and her kindergarten class of little wranglers waved goodbye.

The next stop was Sun Valley. "Look, Boobie!" said to my companion who was with me. "There's June Byron, Kathleen Burke, and Pam Pinel skiing under the instruction of Ingemar Ehrenstrom who is perpetually trying to get that keg from the St. Bern­ard dog. Out skating on the ice were Rita Collela, Ruth Dickerson, Jo Ferraro, and Judy Sullivan were out skat­ing on the aforementioned ice which I mentioned be­fore, if you care to look back; if you don't that's okay, too! The ambulance pulled up at that moment to find customers, the three stoogi, Susan "Curly" Doherty, Carol "Lorry" Genovese, and Dolores "Moe" Esser and Paul Livoli too.

Having left Idaho, Nebraska came. On a farm Judy "Gloves" Hoben was milking either a cow or a pig; we couldn't tell whether it was one or the UDDER. Kathleen Galligan and Ed "Siugo" Marchant were collecting eggs. Churning butter was Carol "Moe" Sama. I noticed farm-hand John Petersohn chopping petrified wood with an equally frightened piece of card­board. Overseer Eddy "Simon Legree" Minasian was whipping Roy Vicklund, Faye True, and Beverly Coran as they worked picking Lima beans. Mary Shutt, Carol Tashjian, Janet Ford and Margaret Ohanian were gay­fully employed as Lima bean sorters.

At the Lorna DeLuco cookie factory, we saw three pretzel benders, Franny Donato who bends 'em left, and Beverly MacNeil who bends 'em right, and Tonya Elbg who bends 'em wrong. Phyllis Ianneli and Carol Dyer were assembling Oreo cream sandwiches by putting them together and handing them to testers Dale Harrington and Barbara Leonard. While watching this interesting sight I saw Douglas Carlson suddenly get caught between two halves of an Oreo. Barbara Harwood drove the ambulance to Bubonic Hospital where­in surgeons James Plunkett and Kevin Russo prepared to perform a cookie-dectomy under the observing eye of Nancy Smith.

At the local glue factory, Robert Von Dine was busy killing horses for money. Mary Floridia and Judy Gentile were fitting rubber applications on the glue bottles while Susan Hovanesian and Dotty Leone were busy sticking on labels. For a little relaxation, or maybe it was just to take it easy a little, I went to the local course for golf called the Local Golf Course. "Svenengal!" Nerpouni, fertilizer of the greens, was yelling at cad-Strangio, smelts. Quizmaster, companion and I first visited a T.V. station. The dies composed of six golfers . . . Ann Marie Yetman, Leslie Hansel, Donna Peterson, Loretta Rufo, and Ruth Ann Norton. Throwing her clubs away from herself was soreheaded Marjorie Palmer.

Finally we arrived at America's capital called Washington, D. C., named after my uncle, D. C. Jones. My companion and I first visited a T.V. station. The Quiz Show was named the Heidi Express, sponsored by the publishers of the world-famed Encyclopedia Brown & Foley. This particular show was sponsored by No One. The lion was played by Sesu Haya and the tin man, and lastly, a brilliant interpretation of the scarecrow was turned in by veteran actor Alfred Samuel. The second feature "From Here to There" starred "Rock" Trodella and Zso Zso Kozell. Fine supporting rolls were played by Sesu Haya Pazolt and "lotus blossom" Nethercote flying "his" and "hers" Kamikaze planes.

We decided to leave the show because it was over. Before retiring, we stopped in at a local nightclub, the Coraxxini Grove. We were greeted by hostess Carol Crandon. Head waiter Bill Cox showed us to our table. Stacia Conaxis who was selling cigarettes sold us cigarettes which we bought. Emcee Paul Carlson introduced one of the hottest comedy teams around, Robert Brett and Strati Righellis. The climax of the show came with the trio of Beverly Burns, Joy Vlachos, and Joann Scioscia playing Handel's Messiah on the bongos, castinetts, and bass fiddle. Looking around the room we saw Beverly Jacobson, Judy Henderson, Janet Kimball, and Jane McDonald sitting around whiling away the 36-hour performance by dismembering Santa Claus dolls. Our waiter Ralph Day brought us a bottle of Zakarian Brothers Wine to keep us awake. Every six hours during intermission, Ricky Coyne, James Days, and the Rockin' Demille Brothers provided 5 seconds of rock n' roll music adapted from old Egyptian Chain Gang songs.

After the performance, which was actually swell, my companion and I hailed a Whittier cab which we recognized was driven by Robert England. We arrived at the Hotel, The Mancuso Arms where doorman George Bedrosian opened up a couple of doors for us which I thought was nice. The female night clerk, Joyce Avedisian, handed me our key, and we entered the Zildjian Express Elevator which had two operators, one for up and one for down, who were Peter Collette and Gerda Kluge. We were knocked around by some real mean passengers who were Nancy White, Dorothy Ciccolo, Barbara Divico, and Catherine Comeau. As we left the elevator, we saw jokesters and Kikor Karmakian busy hanging a "Fire Escape" sign on the entrance of an empty elevator shaft. Ha! Ha!

As day follows night, thus follows the night, day. As maids Carol Slaney and Susan McKenny came in to do neatting up, we left our room for another day of sightseeing. Before we went for breakfast, I purchased a newspaper from newsboy David Lynch, by buying it. While devouring my toasted kitten, no jam please, I spied Big Businessman Lambert Bittinger reading the funnies in the newspaper whose headlines read, "Yerrochi chosen U.N. delegate". Over the radio we announced tonight's great tag team match composed of Crusher Corchia and Killer Mac Kay versus the underdogs John Cherkertzian and Bob Cappadona.

As we were sightseeing, our cab was almost struck by a car driven by Beverly Malatesta, who was going up for her license for the 733rd time. On the left we saw the Teddy Nelson - Elayne Coyne Dance Studio, under which was located the Caruso - Volante Lithuanian Health Bar. Later on in the morning we attended a football game by going to it. Cheerleaders Carol Ann Gandolfo and Maureen Colyle were leading a bunch of cheers. Washington and Lee coach "Honey voice" Iannelli and Georgetown coach "Buffalo" Bob Norton were deciding who would throw the game this week. The conference was broken up by referees Leland Munroe, Harold Olson, and Al Porter who yelled, "Play ball if you feel like it." We bought hot dogs from vendors of same, referees and Bernie Ryan. Star players for Washington and Lee, Peppy Smith, Harvey Bazarian, Ron Migliaccio, Paul Christo, and John Donnelly were introduced, as they ran out on to the field, by "Leather Lungs" Lou Santoro. After the game ended, the contest was over,—then we left for our boat for a tour down the Potomac River. On the dock we tripped over Jim Hebb, Paul Cokkingham, and Dave Keefe, who were fishing for catfish with dead dogs for bait. Captain Richard Dinjion let us on board after he had finished keelhauling his Mate Gordon Janikian for not shaking up his orange juice. Passengers Sandra Bazarian, Madeline Bianco, Ann Bibbo, Kenny Martin, and Janet Manory were standing around looking around. On a nearby beach, lifeguards Al DeAngelis, Frank Diliberto, John San Soucie, and Fuzzy McCarthy were talking to Lorraine Credit, Janet Emery, and Rosemarie Esposito while 47 people were floating around drowning. Out on the mud flats, lone clamdigger Larry Kurkij was sitting out on the mud flats sharpening his digging rake. Skin divers Richard Cusolito and Rosalind Gordon were spear fishing, and they had already caught three spears.

On the following day of the year, I took a tour of Congress. Secret Service men Jim Arone, Russ Casella, and Carmen DeAngelis were asking a little boy if he had seen the President whom they had lost again. Being ejected from the House of Representatives for yodeling on the premises of it inside were yodelers Rose Ciccarelli and Connie Koronas. In the House of Representatives were Representatives Benny Carbone from Wales, John Sampson from Block Island, Richard Howley of Nantucket, Jack Hagenbuch of Hollywood, and Steve Garamedian of Manitoba.

With them were their secretaries Dolores DeAngelo, Eileen Pendle, Paula Dobler, Ann Doyle, and Ruth Doherty respectively. Traveling to the Senate we saw Gordon McCullough, Roy Papalia, and William Wall preparing a multi-paged document. Turning the pages were pageboys, Clayton White, Ed Sullivan, Robert Raine, and Joe Murray.

Up in the balcony, agitating for women's suffrage were Dorothy Bick and Kathleen Manos. Beating them with clubs so that they would suffer were Tony Fantasia and Tom Stanley. We were just in time to see a rackets committee investigation presided over by Judge Ronald Howard. Senators, Joe Bianco, John Gallagher, Jim Harrigan, and Bruce Kennedy were interrogating a quartet of labor racketeers in the persons of Kenny Doyle, Richard Messian, Ralph Perri, and John Lombert. Counsel for the defense was the entire law firm of Merlin, Lingley, Pond, French, and Wogan. We took advantage of the exit sign and left away from this crazy place.

In Fink Park we noticed a knock-down, drag-out rock fight between Margaret Galami and Jean Couture and Gerry McGuire and Joan Berejik. Out in the field with binoculars and pad and pencil in hand were Auduboners Valerie Ananian, June Davis, and Cindy Ebert. A little further on, we stopped in at the Botanical Gardens Robert Lindahl, curator, which in everyday talk in common speech, is the guy who runs the joint, showed us around the place. Spectators Karen Lane, Helen Lamacchia and Gloria Ledbetter were amazed by his vast knowledge of horticultural things.

To round out this exciting day, we went to the matinee of the circus. After getting autographs from John Murphy and Gilbert Ruggeri the elephant waters, we purchased a ticket from Ronnie Proodian, the ticket man, and bought a bag of peanuts from Vicki Read who was selling the bags and Thomas Wolfe who was selling the peanuts. Alfred "Toby Tyler" Sarno was ringmaster. Clowns "Bozo" Liuzzo, Jack McCarthy, and Dave LeBlanc were merrily cutting down the safety net while lion tamer, Mike Wood fed his head to one. At that point, the aerial act of George Chingris and Maureen O'Sullivan took to the wire. Kathy Paradiso, Vicky Thomas, and Nancy Walejka were playing "Simon Says" in the middle ring. Regina Daniels and Mary Doherty were dressed up as meesees scoring elephants. Unfortunately elephants resisted them by simultaneously stepping on both of them at the same time! That's what the fortune cookie crumbles. The side show charmer.

Says" in the middle ring.

Maureen O'Sullivan was being pestered by mean tollman, "stilts" Doherty. Midget James Lenagan was being pestered by mean tallman, "stilts" Seferian. Last but least was tattooed man, "Roadmap Head" Andy Poulimenous and Vivian Cahaly the talented snake charmer.

At the 31st annual Atomic Physicists Convention later that evening, we saw many interesting people. Russia's representatives George Setzco, Bob Santorpio, and Sal Orrino were particularly there. "Raul" Codwallader from Cuba told of how he once fixed a traffic ticket for his gardner. Pete McCarhy of Lebanon described the new atom-powered motor that he made first than anyone else before, which has the power of 13 million healthy camels. The Mongolian team of Dave O'Keefe and Mike Pirroli gave their interpretation of the old Mongolian Kiddy's winter song "Frosty the Yeti." The meeting ended in wild fracas touched off when Lower Slobovia's representative Robert DeVincentis asked America's Danny Sapochetti if Einstein was really that smart or did he cheat a lot.

To complete our tour, we decided to finish it by bringing to an end our journey. The logical place to do it, was at the newly opened Mourousos Super Department store. Our guide, manager Robert MacFarland showed us first Jacqueline McKinnon and Irene Oteri busy selling wrist-sized grandfather clocks. In the sporting goods department, Shirley Miller was pointing out the advantages of a left-handed baseball bat to George Natale. Pat Miller, head of the toy department had just sold a Mattel-Bug Torturing Set to Paul Tavolieri. In the high fashion department we noticed Dee Donovan and Barbara Godbois enviously looking over the new clothes. Modeling this year's bathing suits, were June Valenti and Judy Johnson. Claire Hennebery modeled pink civil defense helmets. In the Beauty Department, where people who don't think they are go in and come out thinking they do, Head Beautician Diane Lane showed us her first team of pretty doers, one of whom was Mary Ann Kiely, who was giving Beth Kennedy a home permanent. Janet "Mudpie" Karchenes was employed in giving Mary Maxley a real Mud Pack. Downstairs, where is located the place below where we were, before we left for there, is the eating place. Not feeling especially hungry, we ordered some vegetable and beef soup, one in each bowl please. In no time flat the two waitresses, whom we called Janet Munroe and Jean O'hannessin for short, brought it—the stuff mentioned above. Over in a corner of the room, we recognized Suzanne Peterson eating her tomato soup with a pair of scissors. Before we left, we paid our bill to the cashier, in charge of money, Anita Pelletier. As we walked that last 6,471 feet to the train station, we were almost clipped again, only now by Marie Jacoppo's chauffeur driven Rambler. It was so close, that I turned to my companion and stammered, "That was close!"

It was just our luck to run into the Inaugural Parade wasn't it? King-elect, Ed "Moose" McCarthy was guest of honor. Leading cheers from the seven spectators were Anita Ciarfella, Evelyn Clancy, Janet Belluche, and Judy Devlin, who were cheerleaders. The entire Army Band marched by in a fancy way, all on one jeep driven by Jim McLaughlin. William Donovan and Don Fox were standouts for the band. The WACS proceeded by next, in the persons of Barbara Maloney, Rose Merlesena, Jean Sjostedt, and their sergeant was none other than Beverly Sargent who was no relation though it would seem so. Chief foreign dignitary, Rene Khachadourian had to be protected from those seven spectators whom I spoke of by rugged motorcycle policemen, Brian Pendleton and John Oates. Dazzling all onlookers at the Inaugural Ball were Barbara Abramson, Nancy Goldberg, Judy Warner, and Leslie Walsh. I found out the reason for the scarcity of spectators at the parade was that the planning fellows at Washington noticed that every January, the Inaugural Parade caused hundred of thousands of people to throng in the streets in a big kind of crowd. Using their minds to their own advantage, these whizzes hit upon the idea of having the inauguration in the summer, and thus avoiding the crowds.

In closing, always remember in your memory, the words of Warren Harding after he had a fight with his wife: "Leaving high school to seek higher learning is but going to college.”

ATHLETICS
Talent and experience was abundant as the eleven seniors, after existing as a unit for four years, began one of the best football seasons in W.H.S.’s history. Although everyone associated with the team performed well, extra credit must be given to the coaching staff, Head-coach Vic Palladino, always ready with the right play; line-coach Frank Cousineau, never to be forgotten for his “lovable” ways; backfield-coach Frank Solitio, the hardest worker on the field; and trainer Bob Dupuis, equally competent giving sound advice or tapping an ankle; the co-captains Bob Norton and Harvey Bazarian, continually keeping morale high; and, finally, fullback Bob Cappadona, the Massachusetts State Scoring Champion. The team unit, however, was the most important factor in the successful season. The line, consisting of ends Peppy Smith and Tom Stanley; tackles, Larry Caruso, Ed Volante and Tom Sansone; guards, Harvey Bazarian and John Ianniello; and center Bob Norton; executing the intricate blocks of Coach Palladino’s winged-ed T offense to perfection, opened the way for halfbacks Al Verrochi and Tony Mancini and for fullback Bob Cappadona. Behind his line, quarterback Ronnie Migliaccio calmly faked and passed the team to success.

After easily defeating their first five opponents, the Palladinomen beat Brookline in an exciting comeback game. At Beverly, the Red Raiders, after playing poorly in the first half, retaliated with two score-tying marches. Then an official interfered with a definite touchdown play on the four yard line ending Watertown’s title hopes. As a token of appreciation for the fine football displayed throughout the year, the citizens of Watertown sent the entire team to the Orange Bowl Classic in Miami.

COACH’S COMMENT: This was unquestionably the finest group of football players and gentlemen I have ever had the privilege of being associated with.

Thousands Cheer...

...As the Girls go by
Coach Malley once again formed an interested group of young men into a well-knit soccer team which boasted many veteran performers. Although the season’s record was a fine one, it still might have been better if it were not for an injury to Co-Captain Tony Pane. While playing the first game, Tony injured his knee and was not able to return for the remainder of the season.

The Malley men continued under Co-captain Mike Arnold and acting Co-captain Ralph Cadwallader. The forward line, consisting of Bob VanDine, Leon Gregorian, Jim Arone, and Jim McLaughlin, soon developed into a well-timed scoring machine. VanDine, a two year veteran, proved an excellent play maker, sending his linemates in for many good shots. Senior halfbacks Richard Mancuso, Pete Collete, and Andy Poulimenos thwarted the opponents rushes and provided offensive power as well. The team operated best with Mike Arnold and Ralph Cadwallader at fullback. Dave Keefe, who had two shutouts to his credit, performed well in the goal. Throughout the season Mr. Malley employed Seniors Richard Dijian, Bill O’Neil, and Juniors Joe Fanelli, and Artie Venezia to give his regulars needed rests. Unlike this year’s squad, which was dotted with experienced Seniors, next year’s Malleymen will not be as well manned with veteran soccermen.

COACH’S COMMENT: We had an extremely fine squad and I enjoyed coaching the boys, who represented W.H.S., very much.

Ralph Cadwallader
The cross country team, directed by Coach Gleason, began practice with an extremely small squad which, along with the lack of any superior individual performer, accounts for the mediocre reason. Despite these difficulties, the Harriers did manage to do well in several meets. The cross country season began hopefully with wins over Newton North and Newton South. Unfortunately, the remaining opponents were too large and were too well-manned for the Harriers to cope with.

Three seniors, Jack Watson, Dick Howley, and Joe Murray were constantly among the leaders. These three boys were the only veterans on the squad. Hope for next year is centered around juniors, John Sutherland, Joe D'Amico, Everett Baker and Aran Kalajian. Sutherland performed especially well as a junior and showed great promise for next year.

COACH'S COMMENT: Definite improvement was shown this year and with several veterans returning I look forward to finer things next year.

Girl's Basketball

The girl's basketball team, under the able leadership of Coach Ruth McCarthy, had, what they considered, a fairly successful season. Although there were only five seniors on the team, the girls showed their ability and perseverance during the game at Somerville where the final score was 28 to 25. The raid-erettes for the first time in many years swamped Newton by a score of 43 to 23. This win was led by captain Nancy Wolejko, high scorer for the game with 14 points. Because of the fine playing of Juniors and the number of interested sophomores, the Watertownites are sure to have an even better season in '62.

In the forecourt captain Nancy Wolejko displayed her fine rebounding ability. Beverly Jacobson showed her skill in dribbling and ball handling while captain-elect Beth Devlin often showed her accurate shooting. The backcourt was defended by Ruth Doherty, Lois Galgay and Karen Lane.

COACH'S COMMENT: This team displayed the best "school spirit" I have encountered for sometime; it was my privilege to coach them.
Basketball---Jumpshot

Basketball once again proved the nemesis of WHS's sports scene as the hoopsters experienced a winless season. Directed by newly appointed head coach Frank Cousineau, the team was involved in several close contests. Two games were decided by one-point margins and another lost by four points in overtime play. The first team composed of only two seniors and three inexperienced juniors did not have the necessary potential to be a winner. Despite the poor record, the undermanned squad displayed remarkable enthusiasm by attending practice sessions faithfully.

The two outstanding performers of the year were co-captains Ralph Cadwallader and Tom Stanley. Cadwallader was consistently blocking shots and controlling both offensive and defensive boards. Stanley scoring with jump shots and driving layups was a year long offensive threat. Juniors Alex Francisco, Steve Everett and Eddie Rafferty completed the starting lineup.

The one encouraging spot on the WHS basketball scene is the experience gained by the starting juniors and by juniors Don Pouliot, Bob Sheehan and Nick Daniels who were often substituted by Coach Cousineau. Next year's team, besides being more experienced, will profit greatly by being acquainted with the new coach's style of play.

COACH'S COMMENT: We have sacrificed wins this year in order to build for next year.

from The Keyhole
Slap-Shot From The

Inspired by hustling co-captains Kevin Pond and Jack Callahan, our hockey team earned a 6-6-2 record in the Middlesex League. Coach Bob Dupuis once again provided the winning combinations for our team.

Individual heroes were numerous throughout the puckster’s fine season. Wings Jack Callahan and Joe Murray continually harassed opponents with their fine fore-checking. Helping to defend the goal were defensemen Pete McCarthy and George Setzco. McCarthy specialized in disconcerting opposing wings with brisk body checking, while Setzco’s back-checking added to their dismay. Goalie Ed “Moose” McCarthy often called upon to give final defense usually was the winner.

Two fine sophomore forwards, Dickie and Dennie Williams, as well as competent junior defenseman Bill McCarthy were often substituted to rest the skaters.

During the season the pucksters were engaged in close and exciting contests. The initial game with league champion, Wakefield, resulted in a tie. Our team was the only team in the league which was not defeated by Wakefield. A mid-season slump, the low spot of the season, crushed all title hopes, but the pucksters, rebounding from their slump, closed the year with an exciting win over Stoneham.

COACH’S COMMENT: Although the season was satisfactory with certain breaks, it might have been excellent.

The WHS indoor track team led by Coach Gleason and Captain Jack Watson suffered a poor season this year, having no wins in any of the dual meets. Although it had some fine performers, the team did not have sufficient depth to capture the vital second and third places necessary to win a dual meet.

Captain Jack Watson was a consistent winner in the 880 and 1000 yards events. Watson, with his fourth place in the 1000 yard run, was the only team member to place in the State Meet. Another senior Robert Montminy, repeatedly took second place in the high jump. Sprinters Dick Howley, Richard Dinjian, and Richard Aulenbach were the remaining veterans on the team, which was surprisingly short of Seniors.

The Juniors on the team showed themselves as good potential trackmen and raise hope for an improved season next year. John Sutherland, who made many fine runs this year, is certain to be one of the best milers in the state. Another junior Bill Flecca was beginning to develop winning shot-put form at the end of the season. Still another junior, Warren Todd, will develop into a fine sprinter next year. Other members of next year's squad will be juniors Eric Hughes, Ernie Johnson and Tony Flecca.

COACH'S COMMENT: We were hurt badly this year by a severe lack of depth.

In a solemn rewarding ceremony, three college course seniors were honored by the entire student body for outstanding school achievement during three years of high school. Each honor recipient was presented the "golden key to success" during the traditional induction assembly.

Founded in 1906 at Tome Institute in Maryland, Cum Laude is the highest honor that any college-bound student could hope to attain. Chartered in 1921, Watertown High School is one of the few public schools recognized with membership in Cum Laude.

Also this year for the first time, eight juniors were given Provisional Membership in the society with promise of permanent membership if their scholastic record be maintained. This Provisional Membership is not only an honor but also serves as an incentive for other students to become eligible for membership in Cum Laude.

Acknowledgements

THE YEARBOOK STAFF takes this opportunity to express its appreciation to everyone who assisted in any way with the publication of this—the 1961 ANNUAL. We especially acknowledge the invaluable aid given by:

OUR ADVISORS

Mr. Harold Moody, our most competent, willing, and experienced art advisor, who devoted many long hours in preparing layouts, supervising the art work, and helping us with our problems.

Mr. Thomas Roach, our faculty advisor, who guided us on the road to our goal, your ANNUAL.

Mr. Nicholas Papas, our business advisor, who directed the procurement of our advertisements.

OUR HEADMASTER

Dr. John J. Kelley, who most kindly gave us his assistance and encouragement in the arrangement of ANNUAL projects.

OUR FACULTY

for their unfailing patience despite many interruptions and inconveniences inevitable with yearbook production.

OUR PROFESSIONAL FRIENDS

Purdy Studios, and its staff members: Mr. Lauren St. Onge, Mr. Herb Castro, and Mr. Warren Hunkier and particularly Mr. James Bleiler and Mr. George Corregan for their constant co-operation and willing service.

Delmar Printing Company, and especially Mr. Douglas Dunn, who somehow retained his composure as we scurried about on “Deadline Day”.

... And now Salaam.
